Message from the President of Swarthmore College

Dear Swarthmore College Community Members,

I urge you to read carefully this annual security report, which includes information on campus safety measures as well as statistics on crime at the College and in the larger Swarthmore community. This kind of information helps us understand our environment better so that we can be more vigilant in fulfilling the responsibility to care for and protect one another.

All of us who are part of this community — students, faculty, and staff — have different responsibilities associated with our respective roles here. But it is everyone's job to help ensure that our community is safe and secure.

A safe and secure community is one in which we all feel free to be who we are and to express what we think, feel, and believe. All of us must also do our part to keep others safe from the dangers of physical harm.

I know that we are united in our desire for our campus to be a safe place for people to visit, to teach, to learn, to work, and to live. Reading this report will help all of us make Swarthmore an even safer living and learning environment.

Sincerely,

Val Smith

President Val Smith

Message from the Director of Public Safety

In compliance with Pennsylvania's 1988 College and University Security Information Act, the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, the Campus Fire Safety Right to Know Act, and the 2013 Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act, Swarthmore College provides the following information for your use.

Before continuing on, it is important to point out that Swarthmore College is an open campus and we welcome visitors. Crimes exist in our society at large, and while the College has a variety of crime prevention programs and services, we count on every member of our community to be aware of their surroundings.

Safety is a shared responsibility that lies with each of us. Students, faculty, and staff working together can provide a formidable opposition to criminals and be a help to the members of our community. We strongly encourage everyone to promptly report all criminal activity and suspicious persons. We also recommend you avail yourself of the numerous existing programs and services intended to enhance your safety and awareness, here and abroad. We are here to serve our community and welcome your questions, comments, and suggestions.

Annual Security Report

About Swarthmore College

Swarthmore College is a coeducational institution founded in 1864 by members of the Religious Society of Friends. It occupies approximately 425 acres of privately owned land predominantly in the borough of Swarthmore in Delaware County, Pennsylvania. There were approximately 1,647 undergraduate students enrolled for the 2019–20 academic year with approximately 50% occupying College housing. There are 1,016 nonstudent personnel employed on campus in a full-time capacity.

Preparation of the Annual Security Report and Disclosure of Crime Statistics

The Department of Public Safety publishes this report based on information maintained in its records, as well as information collected from local law enforcement and various individuals and departments at the College, such as the Title IX Coordinator, Dean's Office, and designated Campus Security Authorities, as well as online reporting. Every effort is made to build a close working relationship with students, staff, and faculty to ensure they submit information about criminal activity. There is also an online form, located on the Department of Public Safety website, that individuals may use to report incidents. The data is then entered in the College's daily crime log and used in the annual statistical report. Each year, typically no later than Oct. 1, the Department of Public Safety provides to all enrolled students, faculty, and staff an email notification with the website address to access the annual report and campus crime statistics. Additionally, a postcard is placed in every student mail box and cards are provided to Admissions and Human Resources. Copies of the report may also be obtained from the Department of Public Safety office located on campus in the Benjamin West House, or by calling 610-328-8281. All prospective employees may obtain a copy from Human Resources, located at 101 S. Chester Road, first floor, or by calling 610-328-8397. The College Admissions Office will provide paper copies of these reports on request. The report's website address is also incorporated into the current employee application software program and the Admissions Office application process.

Reporting of Crimes and Other Emergencies

Swarthmore College encourages all campus community members and visitors to campus to report crimes and suspicious conditions in a timely manner by calling Public Safety at 610-328-8333 for emergencies and 610-328-8281 for non-emergencies. Community members may also contact the Swarthmore Borough Police Department to report criminal activity at 911 for emergencies and 610-543-0123 for non-emergencies. Telephone calls into Public Safety are recorded for documentation and investigative purposes. Communications officers are on duty at these phone numbers 24 hours a day every day of the year. The Department of Public Safety, located at the Benjamin West House, is also open 24/7 for reporting crimes or other concerns in person. Outside blue-light and courtesy telephones on campus connect immediately to Public Safety by pushing the "Emergency" button. Dialing #911 from any campus phone will summon emergency assistance from Swarthmore Borough fire or police departments. In response to a report, the Department of Public Safety will take the required action, dispatching an officer(s) to the scene and/or informing the caller of the methods to file a report.

Officers detail significant campus incidents in a report that is typically forwarded to the Vice President for Student Affairs, the Vice President for Finance and Administration, and the Associate Vice President for Sustainable Facilities Operation and Capital Planning. Other College entities, as well as local law enforcement and fire officials, may also be informed when it is deemed to be appropriate. Public Safety investigators, who work in concert with local and county law enforcement whenever circumstances warrant their involvement, are responsible for conducting follow-up investigations when needed. We highly encourage the prompt reporting of all criminal offenses to aid in the College's decision to issue emergency notifications or timely warnings, as required, and for the annual crime statistics compilation and disclosure.

It is the policy of Swarthmore College to encourage prompt and accurate reporting of crimes directly to Public Safety, to the Swarthmore Borough Police, or to one of the College deans. This reporting policy is incorporated into new student and new employee orientation presentations, annual Resident Assistant training, and various College publications, including the Student Handbook. The Department of Public Safety, through its various programs — including a Public Safety Advisory Committee, Swarthmore Working Activities Table Talk, and Open Houses — regularly delivers crime-reporting advocacy information to the community. The Resident Assistants, SwatTeam, and Student Academic Mentors are trained as Campus Security Authorities, and charged with providing students information regarding crime-reporting options.

While the College encourages all campus community members to promptly report crimes and other emergencies directly to Public Safety or law enforcement agencies, when the victim of a crime elects to, or is unable to make a report as a result of physical or mental incapacitation, the College also recognizes that some individuals may prefer to report to other individuals or College offices. The Clery Act recognizes certain College officials and offices as “Campus Security Authorities (CSA).” The Act defines these individuals as any “official of an institution who has significant responsibility for student and campus activities, including, but not limited to, student housing, student discipline, and campus judicial proceedings. An official is defined as any person who has the authority and the duty to take action or respond to particular issues on behalf of the institution.” A list of employees designated as Campus Security Authorities is available on the Department of Public Safety's website at swarthmore.edu/public-safety/2020-21-csas. Employee CSAs include members of the Athletics Department, Public Safety team, Dean's Office staff, Presidents Office staff, certain academic departments, and General Counsel staff.

Voluntary Confidential Reporting

If crimes are never reported, little can be done to prevent other members of the community from becoming victims. We encourage Swarthmore College community members to report crimes promptly, and to participate in and support crime-prevention efforts. The Swarthmore College community will be much safer when all members participate in safety and security initiatives.

If you are the victim of a crime, or want to report a crime you are aware of (but do not want to pursue action within Swarthmore College or criminal justice system), we ask that you consider filing a voluntary confidential report. Depending upon the circumstances, you may be able to file a report while maintaining your confidentiality. The purpose of a confidential report is to comply with your wish to keep your personally identifying information confidential, while taking steps to ensure your safety and the safety of others. Confidential reports allow Swarthmore College to compile more accurate records on the number and types of incidents occurring on campus. Reports filed in this manner are counted and disclosed in the Annual Fire Safety and Security Report. In some circumstances, the Department may not be able to assure confidentiality, and will inform you in those cases. Anyone may complete the following forms as indicated:

BEFORE YOU BEGIN to complete any online form, if this is an emergency that requires immediate attention, please contact Public Safety at 610-328-8333 or dial 911 prior to filling out the online form.

The College also partners with an external agency, Compliance Line Inc., to provide an opportunity for completely anonymous reporting of any matter on campus, including but not limited to, sexual assault/harassment at 866-292-7713. All reports of sexual misconduct go to the Title IX coordinator for review and appropriate action. The Title IX coordinator or their designee will respond to all reports submitted. Notifications shall be made for all other reports to appropriate entities and offices. Where there is sufficient information, the College will ensure any third-party reports are investigated and included for compliance with the Clery Act.

Voluntary Third-Party Reporting

The College does have anonymous resources available. To the extent possible, privacy and anonymity are considered and reasonably verified reports are included in the crime statistics. If you are the victim of a crime and do not want to pursue action within the College system or the criminal justice system, you may still want to consider making an anonymous report. The purpose of the anonymous report is to comply with your wish to keep the matter as private as possible, while taking steps to ensure the future safety of yourself and others. With such information, the College can keep more accurate records of the incidents involving students, faculty, staff and visitors; determine where there is a pattern of crime with regard to a particular location, method, or assailant; and alert the campus community of potential danger. Reports filed in this manner are counted and disclosed in the annual crime statistics for the institution.

Anonymous reports can be completed in two ways:

- By using the online reporting methods listed above, and by omitting one's name and contact information in the report.
- By downloading the mobile application LiveSafe. To use the app, register the device, and search for and select Swarthmore College. Anonymous reports for any type of situation can be submitted through the app and will be received by Public Safety. Of note, anonymous submission of any report can limit the effectiveness of investigation and adjudication.

The College encourages students, faculty and staff who have witnessed a crime or have been victimized to report the event to Public Safety or local law enforcement. In the event that a community member does not choose to meet with the aforementioned individuals, a report can be made anonymously, with the exception of individuals or groups who have been identified as Campus Security Authorities.

Anyone may make a report concerning an act of sexual misconduct. An individual may report the incident without disclosing or identifying parties involved. Depending on the level of information available about the incident or the individuals involved, third-party reporting may impact the College's ability to respond or take further action.

In cases involving sexual assault or violence, the Director of Public Safety or a designee of the Department of Public Safety will file a report on the details of the incident and only share your identity with the Title IX coordinator. Individuals may contact the Title IX or Deputy Title IX coordinators directly to report information.

Pastoral and Professional Counselors

In accordance with the Clergy Act, pastoral counselors who are associated with a religious order or denomination and are recognized by that religious order or denomination as someone who provides confidential counseling, and are functioning within the scope of that recognition as a pastoral counselor, are not considered Campus Security Authorities when they are acting in that role. This also applies to professional counselors whose official responsibilities include providing mental health counseling to members of the institution's community and who are functioning within the scope of his or her professional responsibility and who are appropriately credentialed. As a matter of policy, the College encourages pastoral and professional counselors to notify those they are counseling of the anonymous reporting options available to them. Notification is sent to pastoral and professional counselors on an annual basis to remind them of the policy.

About the Department of Public Safety Role, Training, Authority, and Jurisdiction

The Department of Public Safety is primarily responsible for the overall security of the campus. Its mission is to create an atmosphere where department members interact with other community members and organizations providing a prompt, professional presence. In doing so, we will remain aware of and responsive to the diverse community in which we serve, while justly enforcing the rules and regulations of the Swarthmore College community and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Department of Public Safety is composed of a Director, two Associate Directors, one Sergeant, five Corporals, and 10 full-time and five part-time patrol/communication officers. Patrol officers undergo a background check, psychological screening, and physical examination as part of PA Act 235 certification.

Public Safety officers ensure personal and organizational responsibility and accountability for violations of College policies and regulations. Current certification in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, obstructed airway skills, standard first aid, and automatic external defibrillators is minimally required of all patrol officers. Some officers have advanced medical certifications. Ongoing training is provided for all full-time officers. Public Safety officers are non-sworn and not authorized to make arrests. However, officers are authorized to detain individuals until local law enforcement arrives to make an arrest, if appropriate. Public Safety officers have received a variety of training and certifications, such as Verbal Judo, Cultural Diversity, NARCAN, Stop the Bleed, Nonviolent Crisis Intervention, Implicit Bias, ASIS Private Security Officer Course, PA Act 235, and PA Act 120.

The main campus is roughly bordered by Elm Avenue to the north, Chester Road to the east, Harvard Avenue to the south and Crum Creek to the west. The Cunningham Complex athletic fields to the east of Chester Road and a wooded area east of Crum Creek in Nether Providence Township are also part of campus. For additional jurisdiction and patrol areas, please see the map on page 132. When a Swarthmore College student is involved in an off-campus offense, Public Safety officers may assist with the investigation in cooperation with local, county, state, or federal law enforcement agencies. The College does not have any officially recognized student organizations that operate off-campus or that have off-campus housing facilities; however, some students, faculty, and staff live in nearby neighborhoods, most notably in Swarthmore Borough. While Swarthmore Borough police have primary jurisdiction in this area, College Public Safety officers may respond to student-related incidents that occur in close proximity to campus. Public Safety officers may assist in accordance with the Memorandum of Understanding that is maintained with the borough police, and document the incident to be shared with appropriate College officials if it includes a violation of College policy. The Public Safety Communications Center monitors local police, fire, and ambulance calls and has direct radio communications with them to facilitate a prompt response in emergency situations.

Swarthmore College is considered private property and trespassers may be escorted off campus or arrested by local police. Signs are posted on all College buildings restricting them to all but students, faculty, staff, and invited guests. These facilities are locked on a flexible schedule dictated by the College, and accessible via an electronic card access system.

The Department of Public Safety maintains a 24-hour communications center. Trained staff members perform a variety of tasks, including operating the College's telephone console and dispatching calls over the mobile radio system. Criminal incidents and other emergencies can be reported directly by dialing extension 8333 (610-328-8333) from any college telephone. Non-emergency matters should be reported on extension 8281 (610-328-8281). These numbers are prominently listed on the College website and included on printed department publications and correspondence. Public Safety officers are always dispatched first to any campus incident. Depending on the information gathered at the scene, or in some cases information received by the Department's Communication Officer, the senior patrol officer may request assistance from the Swarthmore Borough fire, ambulance, and/or police departments. Public Safety officers will also summon assistance from other Swarthmore College departments and/or local, county, state, or federal agencies if needed.

Working Relationship with Local, State, and Federal Law Enforcement Agencies

The Department of Public Safety and the Swarthmore Borough Police Department have an excellent working relationship. While Public Safety officers are non-sworn, when deemed appropriate the Department of Public Safety will jointly investigate misdemeanor and felony crimes occurring on campus with Borough police or other outside agencies. Swarthmore College Department of Public Safety and Swarthmore Borough Police have a formal memorandum of understanding (MOU) relating to this practice and general response protocols. In addition to the MOU, the Department of Public Safety, other College representatives, the Swarthmore Borough Police Department, and Borough officials meet regularly to discuss safety issues and work collaboratively. The MOU is reviewed on a biannual basis or as needed based on changes to personnel or as a result of lessons learned after an incident. Pennsylvania State Police and/or the Delaware County Criminal Investigation Unit may assist in serious campus investigations. The Department of Public Safety typically plays a supportive role in these instances.

Security of and Access to Campus Facilities

As a primarily residential college, Swarthmore recognizes the close association of students and instructors as an important element in education. Most students live in college residence halls. Single, double, and group rooms are available. There are no graduate or married housing accommodations. Many members of the faculty and staff live on or near the campus and are readily accessible to students.

Residence halls always remain locked 24/7. Automatic locks on outside residence hall doors are supplemented by posted warnings that these facilities are private property and access is restricted. Student room doors are individually keyed, and locks are changed in response to any significant security breach. Public Safety officers conduct regular interior and exterior patrols of all College property. Student Resident Assistants are selected and trained to serve in all residence halls, and have on-site responsibility for security, fire protection, and general safety.

Academic and administrative/support buildings have electronic systems in place to restrict access to College community members. Some buildings are open to the public on a limited basis, with officers patrolling and ensuring that visitors are out of the buildings when they close for the day. Academic/administrative/support buildings that do not have electronic access control are secured using a key system and are locked in accordance with building use.

Outside lighting assessments are conducted periodically and enhancements are made with input from Student Council representatives, Facilities Management, Public Safety, and other interested individuals. Similar attention is directed toward vegetation as it relates to security concerns. Public Safety works closely with Facilities Services and Information Technology to ensure functionality of all outside telephones that ring directly to Public Safety.

The Department of Public Safety immediately notifies the Vice President for Finance and Administration and the Vice President for Student Affairs (or their designee) in the event of any serious incident involving a student who in turn, may mobilize any number of support options for victims of a crime. The Worth Health Center (610-328-8058) and Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS, 610-328-8059) provide service 24 hours a day; the Title IX Office (610-690-3720), and Tier 1/Tier 2 On-call Dean, Residential Community Coordinators, and/or Resident Assistants are additional on-campus options. Delaware County Women Organized Against Rape maintains active chapters near Swarthmore, along with a 24-hour hotline (610-566-4342). An up-to-date listing of local therapists, including clinical psychologists, social workers, and psychiatrists in private practice, is available in the Health Center. College employees may utilize a free, confidential Employee Assistance Program, Carebridge, which provides professional counseling to cope with a variety of issues. Carebridge can be contacted 24 hours a day by calling 800-437-0911.

Significant criminal incidents and suspicious activity are reported to Swarthmore Borough Police during ongoing and monthly conversations, and at the Swarthmore Community Activity Meeting, which includes participants from Swarthmore College, the Swarthmore Police, and Borough Council. Similarly, criminal events occurring in Swarthmore Borough that could impact the College community are communicated to the Department of Public Safety. Campus crime statistics are reported monthly to the Pennsylvania State Police as mandated under the Pennsylvania Uniform Crime Reporting Program.

The College community is kept apprised of security matters in a number of ways. Serious incidents that are designated as Clery Crimes and pose an immediate or ongoing threat to the health and safety of the campus community may be distributed by text, email, voicemail, public address, and/or flyers, known as Timely Warnings Notices or Emergency Notifications. Incidents that do not pose an immediate or ongoing threat but would contribute to community members' situational awareness are distributed as Awareness Bulletins, and may be emailed or promptly posted prominently in residence halls, libraries, dining areas and other key locations throughout the campus for a minimum of three business days. Information is also sent via email to all faculty, staff, and students if warranted. The Office of Communications works closely with the local news media when any significant event affecting the larger community transpires. The Daily Crime Log, which is a summary of criminal incidents and events that take place on campus and within a reasonably contiguous geography to campus is also distributed to particular administrators and shared with the student media.

Timely Warning Notices

This policy comprises procedures that Swarthmore College will use to issue Timely Warnings in compliance with the Clery Act. The College will issue a Timely Warning Notice through the Department of Public Safety, in the event that it receives notice of an alleged Clery Crime (defined below) occurring on campus, on public property within or immediately adjacent to the campus, or in or on non-campus buildings or property controlled by the College, where the College determines, in its judgment, that the allegations present a serious or continuing threat to the College community.

For purposes of this policy, “timely” means as soon as reasonably practical after an incident has been reported to the Department of Public Safety or Campus Security Authorities identified by Swarthmore College, or after local police agencies that have concurrent jurisdiction have reported the information to the College.

The Director of the Department of Public Safety, or, in his absence or unavailability, his designee, is responsible for determining whether to issue a Timely Warning Notice. If the Director or designee is not available, a member of the College’s emergency-response contingent called the 24/7 Team will make the determination. (See “Emergency Response” policy, page 14.) Whether to issue a Timely Warning Notice is determined on a case-by-case basis for crimes covered by the Clery Act: homicide, sex offenses (rape, fondling, incest, and statutory rape), robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, motor vehicle theft, arson, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and hate crimes, as defined by the Clery Act. The Director of Public Safety and the 24/7 Team, or their designees, may also issue a Timely Warning Notice for other crimes as determined necessary.

In determining whether to issue a Timely Warning Notice, the College will consider any factors reflecting on whether the alleged crime represents a serious or continuing threat to the College community, including, but not limited to, (a) the nature of the incident; (b) when and where the incident took place. A hate crime is defined as: A crime reported to local police agencies or to a campus security authority that manifests evidence that the victim was intentionally selected because of the perpetrator’s bias against the victim. The categories of bias include the victim’s actual or perceived race, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, ethnicity, national origin, and disability; (c) when it was reported; (d) the continuing danger to the campus community; and (e) the amount of information known by the Department of Public Safety.

If there is insufficient information to determine whether the incident represents a serious or continuing threat to the College community, the College will issue a Timely Warning Notice unless, based on the information available, it appears unlikely that there is an ongoing threat to the community. It will be noted in a Timely Warning Determination form that the College does not have full information to evaluate the nature of the ongoing threat. The Director of Public Safety will make efforts to consult with the Vice President for Communications, or a designee, to develop the content of the Timely Warning Notice. Time permitting, additional input may be garnered from additional members of the 24/7 Team, including the Vice President for Finance and Administration, Vice President for Human Resources, Vice President for Student Affairs, and Associate Vice President for Facilities and Services. The College's Title IX Coordinator or others may also be consulted in appropriate situations. If the College does or does not issue a Timely Warning Notice for any reported Clery Crime, the reason will be documented on a Timely Warning Determination form and maintained by the Department of Public Safety for a minimum of seven years. A copy of the documentation will be attached to the written and electronic copies of the incident report.

The Timely Warning Notice will include, to the extent known, the date, time and nature of the offense, a brief overview of its particular circumstances, a physical description of the actor(s), law enforcement's immediate actions, a request and method for witnesses to contact law enforcement, and, where applicable and appropriate, cautionary advice that would promote safety.

In developing the content of the Timely Warning Notice, the College will make all reasonable efforts not to compromise ongoing law enforcement efforts. The College distributes Timely Warning Notices in various ways. The Department of Public Safety may use the LiveSafe program, which includes emails and text messages for all registered student phone numbers and for staff and faculty who have opted in. The College may also post it at swarthmore.edu/public-safety/public-timely-warning as well as on bulletin boards or doors throughout campus.

Anyone with information about a serious or suspected crime or incident should report the circumstances to the Department of Public Safety by phone at 610-328-8333 or in person at the Benjamin West House. If a report is made to other College administrators, those administrators should immediately notify the Department of Public Safety.

Emergency Response and Evacuation Procedures

Emergency Response Policy

In the event of a campus emergency, Swarthmore College follows guidelines set forth in its Crisis Communications Plan, which is an all-hazards approach that also aligns with the Incident Command System. The Department of Public Safety is typically the initial responder for emergencies on campus, with primary responsibility for assessing the nature, size, scope, and activation of the 24/7 Team. Individuals may use a variety of notification methods to alert public safety to an emergency, such as phone, email, or in person. The overarching thrust of this plan is to enable various College administrators to promptly and effectively alert and inform the community and the public without delay when there is a clear and credible danger to the College community. On an annual basis, the College notifies the Swarthmore Borough Police of their requirement to communicate any incident that takes place in the borough that may warrant an emergency response. The Crisis Communications Plan coincides with the College's other safety and emergency plans that deal specifically with the operational implications of a crisis.

Drills, Exercises, and Training

Evacuation procedures, and related emergency information, are detailed in the College's Emergency Response Guide, which can be found online at swarthmore.edu/public-safety/emergency-response-guide. A standing College committee meets regularly and, among a variety of related tasks, reviews emergency-response procedures and trains key staff in effective communications skills and protocols. This committee also assures that annual training exercises are conducted that both test and train community members in emergency-response and evacuation procedures. These exercises are often planned and executed with the assistance of an independent emergency-response and safety consultant. Drills are designed to be as realistic as possible and involve a variety of constituents from the College and outside emergency responders. Publication of the College's procedures associated with these exercises may be obtained by contacting the Director of Public Safety and will be issued in conjunction with advance notifications of drills and exercises. At least one unannounced fire-evacuation drill is held annually in academic buildings in addition to bi-annual drills in all residence halls. The test of the College emergency-response/evacuation procedures is announced ahead of time and documented (including a brief description of the exercise, date, and time), and an after-action report is made for each. Emergency-response drills are announced, while fire-evacuation drills are unannounced.

Emergency Notification

Confirming the Existence of a Significant Emergency or Dangerous Situation and Initiating the Emergency Notification System

The Department of Public Safety is responsible for responding to all significant incidents that may involve an immediate or ongoing threat to the health and/or safety of the greater College community. It is also tasked with promptly summoning the appropriate resources to mitigate and investigate such incidents. Once an incident is reported, either on its own or with input from external agencies (Swarthmore Police Department, Swarthmore Fire Department, Delaware County Emergency Services), the Department of Public Safety will determine if the situation does pose a threat to the community. Should that be the case, federal law requires that the College immediately notify the campus community or the appropriate segments of the community that may be affected by the situation. The College communicates and works closely with local police, regularly requesting their cooperation in informing the College about situations that may warrant an emergency response. Based on the information and facts available, the Director of Public Safety (or designee) will generate the notifications and, whenever possible, share with the 24/7 Team (comprising the Vice President for Finance and Administration, the Vice President for Facilities, the Vice President for Human Resources, the Vice President for Student Affairs, the Director of Public Safety, the Vice President for Communications, and the Executive Assistant for Facilities, or their designees). Members of the 24/7 Team take the initial lead in implementing the appropriate response plan, assessing the severity of the crisis, reviewing all available information, delegating responsibility where appropriate, and ensuring that the information needs of various constituencies are met.

Determining the Contents of the Emergency Notification

The Department of Public Safety, in the course of responding to an event, will gather and share with the community the necessary and pertinent information about incidents on campus that present an ongoing risk. The content of virtually every communication that notifies the College community of an emergency will include the specific nature and location of the event, actions being taken by the College, status of those involved (when known), actions to be taken to ensure one's own safety, and directions regarding where to find updates and additional information (as in "check email for further details" or "For more information: emergency.swarthmore.edu"). The Director of Public Safety (or designee) will use existing templates or draft notifications as necessary based upon the circumstances. Wherever possible and with time permitting, messages will be reviewed by the 24/7 Team or others as appropriate. The Executive Assistant to the Vice President for Facilities and the Department of Public Safety maintains a written record of actions and decisions for after-action assessment and archiving.

Determining the Appropriate Segment or Segments of the Campus Community to Receive an Emergency Notification

The Swarthmore College Department of Public Safety, the 24/7 Team, and/or local first responders on the scene of a critical incident or dangerous situation will assist those preparing the emergency notification with determining what segment or segments of the College community should receive the notification. Generally, campus community members in the immediate area of the dangerous situation (e.g., the building, adjacent buildings, or surrounding area) will receive the emergency notification first. The College may issue subsequent notifications to a wider group. In addition to the emergency notification that may be issued via the LiveSafe notification system, the College will also post applicable messages about the dangerous condition on the College website to ensure the rest of the campus is aware of the situation and the steps they should take to maintain personal and campus safety. If the emergency affects a significant portion of the entire campus, College officials will distribute the notification to the entire campus community.

Procedures Used to Notify the Campus Community

Swarthmore College is committed to providing a safe environment for everyone on campus. The GARNET Safety System ensures that students, faculty, staff, and visitors receive timely information in the event of an emergency on campus. When an emergency or community-safety threat is reported, whether in person or via phone or online report form, the Public Safety supervisor on duty will be advised and make an immediate notification to the community if there is an active threat, and/or initiate the 24/7 Team, who will then coordinate with the Operations or Emergency Management teams to determine appropriate steps and community notification. The GARNET (General Alert and Response Network) Safety System is a combination of notification tools, such as text, emails, and a public-address system. Additionally, the program includes other services, such as the Garnet shuttle, blue-light phones, and safety presentations. The GARNET Safety System also offers community members two smartphone apps as a resource: Transloc, which allows students to download an app that will provide the shuttle location; and LiveSafe, which provides a direct notification to Public Safety in the event of an emergency.

To assure that the larger campus community is promptly notified of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health and safety of students or staff, one or more of the following tools are used:

- LiveSafe: An externally hosted service that can be used to notify students, faculty, staff, and other groups en masse. Message-delivery formats include cell phones, text messaging, email, and text-telephone devices to contact those with hearing or speech disabilities. Messages are normally initiated through a web interface. This system is tested once every semester.
- Informacast: Used to send out verbal communications over telephones in over 300 classrooms and residence halls. The system is used in administrative and residential spaces and can be sent as a broad message or focused for a specific building.
- Email: This alert function should be considered no more than a supplement to all other alerting tools.
- Timely Warning Notices: Issued through the Department of Public Safety and the Communications Office, which, once aware of an immediate danger, decide when and how to notify proper authorities and initiate communication required to safeguard the campus, including the use of any of the available alert mechanisms.
- Word of Mouth: With nearly 90% of our student body living on campus and a manageable campus size, runners would be deployed door-to-door and/or to designated spaces on campus to post flyers and to spread the word directly.
- Fire Alarms: Alert people to an emergency and exist in every campus building. They work at all times of day, throughout the year, and can be building-specific.
- Emergency Hotline: Dialing the emergency hotline will provide a recorded message that will be updated during an event.

- Website: The College website is perhaps the best tool for keeping all of the College’s constituencies informed about a crisis in a detailed, ongoing, focused way. An emergency notice may be added to the top of the College’s homepage and/or every page on the swarthmore.edu domain.

Enrolling in the College’s Emergency Notification System

All members of the College community are reminded that for the emergency notification system to be effective, contact information in the College’s databases should be up to date. To update emergency-contact information, first log in to MySwarthmore at www.myswat.swarthmore.edu, then select the link “Update Crisis Communications (LiveSafe) Contact Information” from the “Personal Information Main Menu” item. You will be prompted to update your information at least twice a year, when you log on to MySwarthmore.

These communications tools are implemented with the understanding that they are best used in combination with each other. The type of emergency ultimately drives which tools are used. The College will, without delay and considering the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification and initiate the notification system, unless issuing a notification will, in the professional judgment of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate an emergency.

Procedures Used to Notify the Larger Campus Community

Swarthmore College is also committed to providing a safe environment for everyone in the larger campus community. In the event of an emergency or significant safety concern that would impact members of the larger Swarthmore community, information would be shared via email and the website to alumni and families. Swarthmore Borough Police would also be contacted and notification would be made via the Delaware County emergency notification system, EverBridge. Individuals may sign up through Delaware County. For more information, contact Swarthmore Borough Police Department.

Campus Security Policies, Crime Prevention, and Safety Awareness Programs

Swarthmore College is committed to providing a safe environment for everyone on campus, and to establishing and maintaining a community rich in equality and free from all forms of discrimination and harassment. The College seeks to create an environment in which the greatest holistic academic potential of students and professional potential of employees may be realized. To create and maintain such an inclusive climate, all who work and learn at the College are partners in the work of ensuring that the community is free from discrimination based on sex or gender, including sexual harassment, sexual assault, and other forms of sexual misconduct. These behaviors threaten our learning, living, and work environments and will not be tolerated. In general, sexual misconduct is the broad term used to refer to all of the prohibited behaviors under the Title IX and College Defined Sexual Misconduct policies. Some of these prohibited forms of conduct may also be crimes under Pennsylvania law. Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (“Title IX”) is a federal civil-rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs and activities. All public and private elementary and secondary schools, school districts, colleges, and universities receiving any federal funds must comply with Title IX. Under Title IX, discrimination on the basis of sex can include sexual harassment, gender-based harassment, sexual violence, sexual assault, and other forms of sexual misconduct, including stalking and intimate partner violence.

The Department of Public Safety operates under the philosophy that it is preferable to prevent crime from occurring than to react to it after the fact. The principal instrument for accomplishing this goal is the College’s Crime Prevention and Awareness programming. It is based upon the dual concepts of eliminating or minimizing criminal opportunities whenever possible and educating community members to be responsible for their own security and the security of others. The following are the Crime Prevention and Awareness programs and projects employed by Swarthmore College:

Crime Prevention and Awareness Programming

- Swarthmore LiveSafe: A free smartphone app that College community members can download. When activated, the device contacts the Department of Public Safety and provides audio, video and a GPS location of the incident.
- Swarthmore College Garnet Shuttle Bus: A radio-equipped van transports students free of charge in and around the main campus during the evening and early morning hours, approximately 5 p.m. to 2 a.m., during the academic year. This van is also equipped with Transloc, which allows students to download an app that will let them know the van’s location and estimated time of arrival at the next stop. Shuttle service was suspended in March 2020 through the remainder of the calendar year due to the coronavirus pandemic and limited population on campus.
- Tri-College Shuttle Bus: Free transportation is provided to students traveling among Haverford, Bryn Mawr, and Swarthmore colleges. This service is available from approximately 7 a.m. to 2 a.m. during the academic year. Tri-College bus service was suspended in March 2020 through the remainder of the calendar year due to the coronavirus pandemic and limited population on campus.
- Escort Service: Officers escort students, faculty, or staff after dark, upon request. These escorts increase the Department of Public Safety’s awareness of community concerns and may influence the level of patrols along key walkways on campus. All community members are encouraged to report suspicious strangers or incidents.

- SwatTeam: This team of trained students is responsible for safety monitoring and management of registered campus parties. SwatTeam members are trained in responsible alcohol service, bystander intervention, sexual assault prevention and event management. SwatTeam members collaborate with the party host, Public Safety, and the Office of Student Engagement to provide safe party spaces. Registered campus parties were suspended as of March 2020 for the remainder of the calendar year due to the coronavirus pandemic and social distancing requirements.
- Crime Prevention Publicity: Fire and Crime Prevention training is conducted with Resident Assistants during orientation and Fire Prevention Week, and is available to other student groups on request.
- Electronic Alarms: A proprietary electronic alarm system monitors a network of intrusion detection and duress alarm systems.
- Security Surveys: Comprehensive security surveys are available upon request.
- Operation Identification: This community venture into property identification is intended to deter thefts and assist in the recovery of stolen items and is available upon request. Any community member wishing to have electronic equipment, bicycles, or other valuable items registered and engraved/decided may contact the Department of Public Safety to set up an appointment.

Safety Awareness/Education Programming

It should be noted that due to the coronavirus pandemic, many of these programs were unable to be held or were conducted virtually.

- National Campus Safety Awareness Month (NCSAM): Swarthmore College supports and participates in NCSAM with a variety of programming. The programs topics include drug and alcohol abuse, domestic abuse, and healthy relationships.
- Public Safety Open House: Periodically, the Department of Public Safety organizes an open house and invites both on- and off-campus presenters to provide information and resources on topics such as sexual assault, stalking, and intimate-partner violence, which includes domestic violence and dating violence.
- New employees are offered safety education and informed of reporting requirements during their initial orientation to Swarthmore College. Ongoing education is offered annually both in live sessions and online. In 2019, Title IX and Clery training were offered during the annual Faculty/Staff Development Workshop Series. Every three years, employees are required to complete harassment education, offered online.
- Drug and Alcohol Awareness and Education: The Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor and Educator works collaboratively on campus to provide holistic education and supportive resources pertaining to substance use and its effects. Programs include introductory information at New Student Orientation, recovery meetings, confidential support, and training for student leader groups.
- RAD Training: The Rape Aggression Defense System is a program of realistic self-defense tactics and techniques. RAD is not a martial arts program but a comprehensive course for women and men that begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and avoidance, while progressing onto the basics of hands-on defense training. This course is open to all Swarthmore College students, staff, and faculty. Led by a certified RAD instructor, these courses are offered at least once a semester.
- Prevention and Education for Domestic and Dating Violence, Sexual Assault and Stalking.

Annual Prevention and Education for Domestic and Dating Violence, Sexual Assault, and Stalking

Sexual Misconduct Prevention Education (Including Prevention of Sexual Assault, Sexual Harassment, Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, and Stalking)

Swarthmore College takes a comprehensive and holistic approach to the prevention of sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, and other forms of sexual misconduct (as described in detail in the Prohibited Conduct section of the Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy) for all students, faculty, and staff. Prevention and education programs include an overview of the College's policies and procedures; relevant definitions, including prohibited conduct; discussion of the impact of alcohol and drug use; effective consent; safe and positive options for bystander intervention; red flags for unhealthy relationships; and information about risk reduction, resources, and reporting options. These prevention and education programs specifically include reference to the College's inclusion of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking as prohibited behavior under the Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy.

New Swarthmore students (first-year students and transfer students) take EverFi's Sexual Assault Prevention and Alcohol EDU online courses before arriving on campus. These courses, about substance abuse, sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, and other forms of sexual misconduct, introduce relevant campus policies, state laws, bystander intervention, risk reduction, consent definitions, and healthy relationships education. The course also includes College personnel's name and contact information for reporting incidents, including the Title IX Coordinator and Public Safety.

In addition to the online course, new Swarthmore students also participate in an interactive 2 1/2-hour sexual violence prevention/healthy relationships education program. The program is presented by Swarthmore's Title IX Coordinator and followed up with small-group conversations facilitated by peer leaders. The presentation includes information on campus policies, state laws, bystander intervention, consent, healthy relationships, the formal complaint process and related rights, and risk reduction. Another presentation by professional staff about alcohol and other drugs offers additional information on risk reduction.

All new faculty and staff take an online course on harassment prevention offered by United Educators EduRisk Learning Portal. This course explores various facets of workplace harassment prevention through multiple scenarios and clear explanations. Sexual assault, harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking are also covered in the course, which has been customized to include links to the College's Title IX and College-defined Sexual Misconduct Policy and the Non-Discrimination Policy. The course also includes College personnel's name and contact information for reporting incidents, including the Title IX Coordinator and Public Safety. In addition, the Title IX Coordinator provides in-person education to new staff and new faculty regarding their reporting obligation, relevant definitions of prohibited conduct, and techniques for receiving disclosures in a supportive manner.

Throughout the year, the Title IX Office sponsors culturally relevant education and awareness programs for students, faculty, and staff, including additional training for staff providing intervention, adjudication, or support for anyone impacted by sexual violence, inclusive of dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking. The events are provided by the Title IX House in collaboration with other campus partners and trained student volunteers, and has included panels with community leaders, group dialogue on intentional peer support, a trauma-informed writing workshop series, and a peer-education training certification with a national consent-education organization.

Programming Includes:

- Basic awareness events, to help the community understand the College's policies and procedures; relevant definitions, including prohibited conduct; and the dynamics of sexual assault, dating or domestic violence, stalking and other forms of sexual misconduct.
- Healthy relationships education, including effective consent training, comprehensive sexuality education, and communication and relationship skill-building.
- Bystander intervention, including safe and positive options such as the four D's of bystander intervention (direct, distract, delegate, and delay), as well as specific training on safe party hosting and group dialogues/community conversations offered through the Red Flag campaign.
- Risk reduction training, including training on safe drinking, alcohol awareness, Rape Aggression Defense courses, and general safety tips.
- Culture-change programs, including bystander-intervention campaigns and skill-building, and restorative/transformational justice initiatives.
- Support for all impacted by sexual violence, including support and referral resources for survivors of sexual assault, dating or domestic violence, stalking, and other forms of sexual misconduct, and other members of the community impacted, including friends and community members. The Title IX Office also offers ongoing training to all faculty and staff on campus policies, bystander intervention initiatives, and opportunities for faculty engagement in community conversations, risk reduction, reporting protocol for responsible employees, and resources available on and off campus. Additional events and programs are listed on the following charts.
- In FY 2020–21, there were several programs planned in a virtual manner and related to the pandemic, such as navigating unhealthy relationships at home and establishing safe space online.

Sexual Violence Prevention and Healthy Relationships Education

These educational activities are designed to promote safety and healthy relationships, and to educate the community about recognizing and preventing violence. Missing-Person Notification Policy and Procedures

It is the policy of the Swarthmore College Department of Public Safety to thoroughly investigate all reports of missing persons. Additionally, the College holds that every person reported missing will be considered at risk until significant information to the contrary is confirmed. All reports of missing persons must immediately be directed to the Department of Public Safety by calling ext. 8281 (off campus: 610-328-8281) or made in person at the Benjamin West House on campus. Reports of missing students received by other College departments are to be promptly forwarded to the Department of Public Safety and/or Swarthmore Police. It is the policy of this department to support and assist missing-person investigations originating outside our jurisdiction. It should also be noted that there is no required waiting period for reporting a missing person. A student living on campus may be declared “missing” when their whereabouts are unknown and unexplainable for a period of time, typically 24 hours or sooner, especially if it is regarded as highly unusual or suspicious in consideration of the subject’s behavior patterns, plans, or routines.

This policy establishes procedures to be followed if a missing-person complaint is made to the Department of Public Safety. Staff will follow the steps listed below:

- The person receiving the complaint will immediately dispatch a Public Safety officer to the location of the complaint, and notify the Vice President for Student Affairs (or their designee) and the Vice President for Finance and Administration.
- The responding officer will gather essential information about the person (description, clothes last worn, where and with whom the subject might be, vehicle description, etc.), and every effort will be made to make contact directly with the missing person or their designated confidential contact(s).
- A current photograph may also be obtained to aid in the search.
- The responding officer will also gather information about the physical and mental well-being of the individual.
- Appropriate campus staff will be notified to aid in the search for the individual. A quick but thorough search will be conducted in all campus buildings, grounds, and parking lots.
- Class schedules will be obtained and a search of appropriate classrooms will be conducted.
- The Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee) is responsible for communicating with the identified confidential contact and the family or relatives of the missing person.

If the above actions are unsuccessful in locating the person or it is apparent from the beginning that the person is actually missing (e.g., a call from parents, guardians), the investigation will be turned over to the appropriate local law enforcement agency. This will take place as soon as practical but never later than 24 hours after the initial report. At this time, local law enforcement becomes the authority in charge, while the Department of Public Safety will assist in any way necessary.

In accordance with the Higher Education Act of 2008, all students may register a confidential contact with the College. Access to this information is restricted to authorized campus officials and law enforcement officers actively involved in the missing-person investigation. The confidential contact does not have to be a parent of a student. This is the individual who will be contacted by the Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee), Public Safety, or another police department within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing. This individual will also be updated as to the progress of the investigation. If the missing person is under 18 years of age, and has not been legally emancipated, parents or guardians will also be contacted within 24 hours. Please note that the local police department will be notified even if a student has not registered a confidential contact. Students are encouraged to register an individual as a confidential contact and may do so by logging into MySwarthmore, on the College website: www.myswat.swarthmore.edu

Daily Crime and Fire Safety Log

The Department of Public Safety maintains a Daily Crime and Fire Safety Log in accordance with state and federal laws. The log is available for public inspection during normal business hours and, in the order received, includes the nature, date, time and general location of each crime, as well as fire-safety incidents reported to the Department of Public Safety. The disposition of the incident is included when and if reasonably available. The names of victims are excluded, and where the investigation of a crime or safety of an individual may be compromised, or when information might directly or indirectly identify a victim, the department may temporarily withhold information. Generally, all incidents are included in the log within two business days from when they are reported.

Disclosure to Victims of Crimes of Violence

The College will, upon written request, disclose to the alleged victim of a crime of violence (as that term is defined in Section 16 of Title 18, United States code), or a non-forcible sex offense, the report on the results of any disciplinary proceeding conducted by such institution against a student who is the alleged perpetrator of such crime or offense. If the alleged victim is deceased as a result of such crime or offense, the next of kin of such victim shall be treated as the alleged victim.

Proceeding means all activities related to a non-criminal resolution of an institutional disciplinary complaint, including, but not limited to, fact-finding investigations, formal or informal meetings, and hearings.

Proceeding does not include communications and meetings between officials and victims concerning accommodations or protective measures to be provided to a victim.

Results means any initial, interim, and final decision by any official or entity authorized to resolve disciplinary matters within the institution. The results must include any sanctions imposed by the institution.

Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act and Drug and Alcohol Abuse Prevention Program (DAAPP)

Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy

The unlawful possession, use, purchase, or distribution of alcohol on College property or as part of any College activity is prohibited and subject to College sanctions as well as local, state and federal penalties. The unlawful possession, use, purchase, or distribution of illicit drugs and related paraphernalia (including stimulants, depressants, narcotics, or hallucinogenic drugs) and the misuse of prescription drugs (including sharing, procuring, buying, or using in a manner different from the prescribed use, or by someone other than the person for whom it was prescribed) is prohibited on College property or as part of any College activity and subject to College sanctions as well as local, state and federal penalties.

Philosophy

The overarching priority of the College with respect to alcohol and other drugs is to help ensure the safety and well-being of Swarthmore students and comply with all applicable laws. The College is committed to providing guidance so that students can learn to develop a responsible approach to social challenges, including those relating to alcohol and other drug decision-making. In regards to alcohol specifically, the College is also committed to assisting the development of healthy substance-related decision-making, including whether to consume alcohol, how to do so in moderation, and how to comply with local, state, and federal laws governing alcohol consumption.

The College maintains an ongoing commitment to support the behavioral health of all community members. The College believes that everyone has the right to work and study in an environment free from the effects of substance misuse and that individuals who have a substance dependence may be a danger to themselves and others.

Objectives

The objectives of these policies reflect the College's desire to create an intentional community based on principles of respect for oneself and others.

The Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy has several objectives:

- To promote the safety and well-being of the Swarthmore community and its members.
- To maintain a safe campus, where students can enjoy their social lives amid a comfortable and coercion-free atmosphere.
- To provide information about alcohol and other drugs so that students can make responsible, healthy choices.
- To provide confidential support for community members seeking treatment for alcohol- and/or drug-related problems.
- To ensure compliance with federal statutes, Pennsylvania laws, and borough ordinances that regulate the consumption of alcohol.

Available Assistance

Alcohol and other drugs can interfere with academics, friendships, jobs, family, and, most importantly, health, as well as create legal problems that may include warnings, citations, arrest, and jail time.

A variety of resources exist for alcohol and other drug counseling, treatment, or rehabilitation. For detailed information concerning these College and/or community resources, staff and faculty should contact the offices listed below or contact their supervisor.

training to educate students and employees about the ramifications of drug and alcohol use and to help students and employees identify substance-related problems in themselves and others.

Students needing help with alcohol and other drug problems are encouraged to speak with the Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor and Educator and/or other Student Health and Wellness Center personnel, Counseling and Psychological Services counselors, Dean's Division staff, and/or Residential Community Coordinators. These professionals can help review the situation and make referrals to outside agencies or campus resources when appropriate.

Drug and alcohol problems are treatable. Most often, an individual responds to tailored treatments that assist in cessation and relapse prevention. Treatments should acknowledge the medical, psychological, interpersonal, and societal aspects of an individual and their families. Accordingly, evidenced-based treatments have been established since the 1970s and have been incorporated into the following treatment settings:

- Outpatient Counseling: Typically, 1-2 hours of support per week through a licensed mental health clinician.
- Intensive Outpatient Counseling: Typically, 9 hours of support per week over 3 or more days.
- Inpatient Care: Typically, residential treatment offering biomedical, psychiatric, and clinical care along with psycho-educational components.
- Detox Services: Medication-based support for physiological dependence (e.g., benzodiazepines and alcohol withdrawal) that typically requires inpatient admission for 4 days.
- Medication-Assisted Treatment: May require daily program attendance for medication, or may allow for one medication checkup per month. Typically used for detox or maintenance for physiological dependence (e.g., opioid dependence).
- Peer Support: Typically group meetings; may provide daily or weekly offerings based on location (e.g., 12-step meetings, SMART recovery).

Health Risks

All drugs, including alcohol, can cause marked changes in behavior and have side effects. Their influences can affect the safety and well-being of the users as well as those around them.

Alcohol, or more specifically ethyl alcohol (ethanol), is a central nervous system depressant that is absorbed into the bloodstream and transmitted to all parts of the body. Even low doses can significantly impair the judgment and coordination required to drive a car safely, increasing the likelihood that a driver will be involved in an accident. Low to moderate doses reduce physical coordination and mental alertness, while increasing the incidence of aggressive behavior. Moderate to high doses of alcohol drastically impair an individual's ability to function, sometimes rendering them unconscious. Long-term drinking of large quantities of alcohol can increase the risk of developing liver and heart disease, circulatory and stomach problems, and various forms of cancer, and may cause irreversible brain damage.

Illicit drugs can interfere with important brain activities, including coordination, memory, and learning. They increase the risk of certain types of cancer, destroy liver cells, weaken the immune system, and may initiate changes in body weight. Users may also experience abdominal pain, nausea, vomiting, rapid heartbeat, and irregular breathing. Convulsions, coma, and death are also possible. Combining drugs can be fatal (e.g., two central nervous systems depressants; alcohol and benzodiazepines; alcohol and opioids).

Components of Comprehensive Drug Addiction Treatment

The best treatment programs provide a combination of therapies and other services to meet the needs of the individual patient.

Regulation of Alcohol at Swarthmore College

The presence of alcoholic beverages on campus is limited in two ways. First, it is limited by federal, state, and borough laws, including those summarized below. Second, College rules specify the circumstances under which alcohol may legitimately be served on campus.

Alcohol and Other Drug Amnesty (AOD Amnesty)

Swarthmore College seeks to remove any barriers to reporting incidents of sexual assault and/or harassment and for providing assistance to students in need of medical attention. The College will generally offer any student, whether the complainant or a third party, who reports sexual assault or harassment limited immunity from being charged for policy violations related to the personal ingestion of alcohol or other drugs, provided that any such violations did not and do not place the health and safety of any person at risk. The College may choose, however, to pursue educational or therapeutic remedies for those individuals.

Additionally, the College recognizes that there may be situations in which students would be in need of swift medical assistance for themselves or others as a result of alcohol and/or drug use. The College expects each student to share responsibility for the safety and well-being of their fellow students and to seek out assistance from College officials (Public Safety, Resident Assistants, Dean's Office) and/or emergency medical services through 911, without fear of College disciplinary action.

Under the College's Alcohol and Other Drug Amnesty policy, neither the student in need nor the student or student organization requesting assistance will ordinarily be subject to disciplinary action as a result of a violation of the Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy.

Though a student or student organization participating in the College's AOD Amnesty policy will not normally be subject to disciplinary action, they will be required to meet with a College official to discuss the incident and/or participate in a College educational program. To avoid a disciplinary consequence, the student(s) invoking the AOD Amnesty policy will need to meet with the College's Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor and Educator and comply with any suggested recommendations. Information discussed in any session with the Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor and Educator is considered confidential. Failure to meet with the College's Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor and Educator and comply with any recommendations will result in the reinstatement of the College disciplinary process for this incident and/or further sanctions from the College.

Although students involved in the AOD Amnesty program may not have to submit to disciplinary action from the College for an incident, they should be aware that an AOD Amnesty incident could be taken into consideration should they be found responsible for other student conduct incidents in the future.

The AOD Amnesty policy only applies to violations of the College's Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy and does not apply to other violations of the Student Code of Conduct. In incidents involving other violations of the Student Code of Conduct (e.g., assault, hazing, harassment, vandalism), the decision to seek help for an individual in need of medical attention may be considered a mitigating factor in any disciplinary process; similarly, failure to request medical assistance for someone in need may be considered an aggravating factor.

Students who invoke the College's AOD Amnesty policy are not immune from legal or other law enforcement actions that may result from any given incident.

College Disciplinary Sanctions Regarding Violations of the Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy

The College will impose disciplinary sanctions on students (consistent with the local, state, and federal laws described below) for violations of the Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy. Disciplinary action, including, but not limited to, warnings, reprimands, fines, probation, suspension, expulsion, or referral for prosecution, may result from any of the following violations:

- The possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages by anyone under 21 on property owned, leased, or controlled by Swarthmore College.
- The furnishing of alcoholic beverages to individuals under the age of 21.
- The consumption, possession, or furnishing of hard alcohol at registered campus events.
- The use of common sources of hard alcohol, especially punches and party bowls.
- Engaging in or coercing others into activities, games, and/or other behaviors designed for the purpose of rapid ingestion or abusive use of alcohol (e.g., use of paraphernalia such as funnels, keg stands, “around-the-world” parties, flip cup, quarters, beer pong, Beirut, power hour, and other alcohol consumption based on speed and/or volume).
- The sale, possession, production, purchase, distribution, or use of any controlled substance or illegal drug on College premises or at College-sponsored activities.
- Abuse or illegal distribution of prescription medication.
- Violent acts against persons or property.
- Drunkenness and/or disorderly conduct.
- Driving under the influence.
- The manufacturing (including malt beverages/beer) and/or use of grain alcohol.
- The violation of rules governing the permitted use of alcohol at College events.

Note: Sanctions may be assessed against individuals and organizations, as well as guests and their host.

Violations of the Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy regarding both individual behavior and party guidelines will be referred to the student conduct process for review, adjudication, and referral when appropriate. If a student presents at Student Health and Wellness at the Worth Health Center due to intoxication or drug use, she/he will be referred to the Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor. Organizations may also be found to be in violation of these policies.

When addressing violations of the College’s Alcohol and Other Drugs policy, the health and safety of the College community is the central consideration of this process. The student conduct response to a violation of this policy considers many factors including the nature of the violation, an individual or organization’s conduct history and/or time between previous AOD violation(s), and/or aggravating or mitigating factors (e.g., other misconduct, deception, completion of AOD treatment program). Typically, a first violation related to an incident with alcohol or marijuana will result in a warning and referral to the Alcohol and Other Drug Counselor (minimum penalty). A second violation usually results in probation and/or a requirement to attend an alcohol-education program. Subsequent and/or severe violations will typically result in suspension or expulsion.

Student organizations may also be restricted from hosting registered social events/parties for a period of time; restricted from recruitment of new members, access of College funds, and/or use of facilities; suspended; and/or derecognized by the College.

In all situations, a student or organization may also be subject to penalties and/or fines imposed by outside authorities. College fines may be imposed to cover expenses related to repair or replacement of damaged items or for cleanup. Sanctions increase in severity with repeated offenses and/or major misconduct (e.g., production and/or distribution of a controlled substance, driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs).

Local, State, and Federal Legal Sanctions

A student who violates the College's Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy is subject both to the College's sanctions and to criminal sanctions under federal, state, and local law. Department of Public Safety officers will exercise their powers as agents of the institution to enforce all applicable laws and College policies through documentation of incidents, referrals to the Dean's Division for student conduct violations, and in some instances, contacting local law enforcement to assist in the enforcement of applicable laws through arrests.

Alcohol

Under Pennsylvania law, a person less than 21 years of age may not purchase, consume, possess, or transport alcohol. Any person convicted of violating this law will have her/his driver's license suspended for ninety (90) days. A second offense will result in a one-year suspension of driving privileges and a fine up to $500. Additionally, any person who intentionally provides alcohol to a person less than 21 years of age is guilty of a misdemeanor of the third degree, which carries a fine of at least $1,000 for the first offense.

Pennsylvania law allows a driver to be considered intoxicated and charged with driving under the influence if she/he has symptoms of intoxication and a blood alcohol content greater than 0.08%. This can be obtained by consuming a little less than one drink per hour.

Additionally, Pennsylvania penalizes public drunkenness, defining it as: "A person is guilty of a summary offense if he/she appears in any public place manifestly under the influence of alcohol to the degree he/she may endanger himself/herself or other persons or property, or annoy persons in his/her vicinity." It is also a violation of Swarthmore Borough Ordinance 759 to be found in a drunken or intoxicated condition under circumstances tending to disturb the neighborhood or to cause a breach of the public peace. Swarthmore Borough police will enforce these laws on and off campus.

Drugs

Both federal and state laws impose sanctions for the possession, use, and distribution of illegal drugs. The sanctions for any given offense depend on the type and quantity of the drug involved and whether the offense is possession, use, or distribution.

Under federal law, simple possession of a controlled substance carries a penalty of imprisonment for up to one (1) year, plus a minimum fine of $1,000. If the controlled substance contains a cocaine base and the amount exceeds five (5) grams, the first-time offender will be imprisoned for not less than five (5) years and not more than twenty (20) years and fined. Also, under federal law, any person 18 or more years old who distributes drugs to anyone under age 21 will be imprisoned or fined, or both, up to twice what is otherwise provided by law, with a minimum prison sentence of one (1) year. This same penalty applies to any person who distributes or possesses with intent to distribute drugs to anyone within 1,000 feet of a college campus.

Pennsylvania law imposes similarly strict sanctions on the unlawful use, possession, and distribution of drugs. In addition to imposing fines and imprisonment for violation of its drug laws, Pennsylvania may seize all of the violator's property that was used in committing the crime.

Note for International Students: Additional penalties and sanctions may apply for international students who are in the United States on a visa. Pursuant to the Foreign Affairs Manual of the U.S. Department of State (9 FAM 403.11-3(A)), a visa can be revoked when the international student "is subject to a Watchlist Promote Hit for an arrest or conviction of driving under the influence, driving while intoxicated, or similar arrests/convictions (DUI) that occurred within the previous five years, pursuant to 9 FAM 403.11-5\(B\)\(c\)."

State and Federal Sanctions

The following is a summary of the legal sanctions under state and federal law for the unlawful possession or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol.

➤ Drugs — State penalties and sanctions for illegal possession, sale, or delivery of a controlled substance:

a. In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, The Controlled Substance, Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act, 35 P.S. § 780-101 et seq. sets up five schedules of controlled substances based on potential for abuse, dangerousness, and medical uses. The act prohibits, among other things, the manufacture, distribution, sale, or acquisition by misrepresentation or forgery of controlled substances except in accordance with the act, as well as the knowing possession of controlled substances unlawfully acquired. Penalties for first-time violators of the act range from thirty (30) days' imprisonment, a $500 fine, or both, for possession or distribution of a small amount of marijuana or hashish, but which was not for sale, to fifteen (15) years' imprisonment, a $250,000 fine, or both, for the manufacture or delivery of a schedule I or II narcotic.

Note: Fines and terms of imprisonment may be doubled under certain circumstances, including the distribution of a controlled substance to a person under 18 years of age or a conviction for a second or subsequent offense.

b. 18 Pa. C.S. §§ 6314, 6317. A person over 18 years of age who is convicted for violating the Controlled Substance, Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act shall be sentenced to a minimum of at least one (1) year total confinement if the delivery or possession with intent to deliver of the controlled substance was to a minor. If the offense is committed within 1,000 feet of the real property on which is located a public, private, or parochial school or a college or university or within 250 feet of the real property on which is located a recreation center or playground or on a school bus ("drug free school zones"), the person shall be sentenced to an additional minimum sentence of at least two (2) years' total confinement. Such offenses not involving minors in drug-free school zones are subject to a mandatory minimum of two (2) years of total confinement.

c. The Pharmacy Act of 1961, 63 P.S. § 390-8 prohibits, among other things, procuring or attempting to procure drugs by fraud, deceit, misrepresentation, or subterfuge or by forgery or alteration of a prescription. The first offense is a misdemeanor, with a maximum penalty of one (1) year of imprisonment, a $5,000 fine, or both. For each subsequent offense, the maximum penalty is three (3) years of imprisonment, a $15,000 fine, or both.

d. The Vehicle Code, 75 Pa. C.S. § 3802 et seq. prohibits driving, operating, or being in actual physical control of the movement of a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or a controlled substance, or both, if the driver is thereby rendered incapable of safely driving, operating, or being in actual physical control of the movement of the vehicle or if the alcohol concentration in the individual's blood or breath exceeds the stated limits. Penalties for first-time violators of the act range from a mandatory term of six (6) months' probation, a $300 fine, or both, to a maximum of seventy-two (72) hours' imprisonment, a $5,000 fine, or both. Penalties for subsequent violations increase to a maximum of not less than one (1) year of imprisonment, a $10,000 fine, or both. In addition to the above penalties, the court has discretion to order any or all of the following: highway safety training, drug or alcohol treatment, community service, attendance at a victim-impact panel, use of an ignition interlock device, and/or suspension of operating privileges.

➤ Drugs — Federal penalties and sanctions for illegal possession or trafficking of a controlled substance:

a. 21 U.S.C.S. § 844(a). For the first conviction: up to one (1) year of imprisonment and fine of at least $1,000, or both. After one (1) prior drug conviction: at least fifteen (15) days' imprisonment, not to exceed two (2) years, and fine of at least $2,500. After two (2) or more prior drug convictions: At least ninety (90) days' imprisonment, not to exceed three (3) years, and fine of at least $5,000.

The special sentencing provisions for possession of flunitrazepam (the “date rape” drug) include imprisonment not to exceed three (3) years and fine of at least $1,000.

Note: In addition to the above penalties, the court has discretion, upon conviction, to order a fine in the amount of the reasonable costs of the investigation and prosecution of the offense.

b. 21 U.S.C.S. §§ 853(a) and 881(a). This statute allows for the forfeiture of personal and real property used, or intended to be used, to possess or to facilitate possession of a controlled substance if that offense is punishable by more than one (1) year of imprisonment.

Additionally, this allows for the forfeiture of money, controlled substances, drug paraphernalia, firearms, books and records, vehicles, boats, and aircraft or any other conveyance used, or intended to be used, to transport or facilitate the transportation, sale, receipt, possession, or concealment of a controlled substance or any raw materials, products, or equipment of any kind which are used, or intended for use, in manufacturing, compounding, processing, delivering, importing, or exporting any controlled substance.

c. 20 U.S.C.S. § 1091(r). A student who has been convicted of any offense under any federal or state law involving the possession or sale of a controlled substance for conduct that occurred during a period of enrollment for which the student was receiving any grant, loan, or work assistance under federal law, shall not be eligible to receive any grant, loan, or work assistance during the period beginning on the date of such conviction and ending after the interval specified as follows. If convicted of an offense involving the possession of a controlled substance: first (1st) offense, the student is ineligible for one (1) year; second (2nd), offense, the student is ineligible for two (2) years; third (3rd) offense, the student is ineligible indefinitely. If convicted of an offense involving the sale of a controlled substance, the penalty for the first (1st) offense is an ineligibility period of two (2) years; the penalty for a second (2nd) offense is ineligibility for an indefinite period.

A student whose eligibility has been suspended under the above paragraph may resume eligibility before the end of the ineligibility period if (a) the student satisfactorily completes a drug-rehabilitation program that (i) complies with such criteria as prescribed by regulations and (ii) includes two (2) unannounced drug tests; (b) the student successfully passes two (2) unannounced drug tests conducted by a drug-rehabilitation program that complies with such criteria as prescribed by regulations; or (c) the conviction is reversed, set aside, or otherwise rendered not valid.

d. 21 U.S.C.S. § 862. The following penalties are for possession of a controlled substance. Penalties are increased for trafficking. Denial of federal benefits, such as grants, contracts, loans, and professional and commercial licenses, up to one (1) year for the first (1st) offense and up to five (5) years for the second (2nd) and subsequent offenses

e. 18 U.S.C.S. § 922(g). Under this statute, one who is an unlawful user of, or addicted to, controlled substances is ineligible to own or possess firearms or ammunition.

f. Miscellaneous statutes. Revocation of certain federal licenses and benefits, e.g., pilot licenses, public-housing tenancy, etc., are vested within the authorities of individual federal agencies.

g. See the chart describing Federal Trafficking Penalties for additional information.

The Pennsylvania Liquor Code, 47 P.S. § 1-101 et seq., controls the possession and sale of alcoholic beverages within the Commonwealth. The code (in conjunction with portions of the Pennsylvania statutes pertaining to crimes and offenses involving minors, 18 Pa. C.S.A. § 6307 et seq.) provides as follows:

a. It is a summary offense for a person under the age of 21 to attempt to purchase, consume, possess, or knowingly and intentionally transport any liquor or malt or brewed beverages. The penalty for a first (1st) offense is suspension of driving privileges for ninety (90) days, a fine up to $500, and imprisonment for up to ninety (90) days; for a second (2nd) offense, suspension of driving privileges for one (1) year, a fine up to $1000, and imprisonment for up to ninety (90) days; and for a subsequent offense, suspension of driving privileges for two (2) years, a fine up to $1000, and imprisonment for up to ninety (90) days. Multiple sentences involving suspension of driving privileges must be served consecutively.

b. It is a crime intentionally and knowingly to sell or intentionally and knowingly to furnish or to purchase with the intent to sell or furnish, any liquor or malt or brewed beverages to any minor (under the age of 21). “Furnish” means to supply, give, or provide to, or allow a minor to possess on premises or property owned or controlled by the person charged. The minimum fine for a first (1st) violation is $1,000; $2,500 for each subsequent violation; and imprisonment for up to one (1) year for any violation.

c. It is a crime for any person under 21 years of age to possess an identification card falsely identifying that person as being 21 years of age or older, or to obtain or attempt to obtain liquor or malt or brewed beverages by using a false identification card. The penalty for a first (1st) offense is suspension of driving privileges for ninety (90) days, a fine up to $500, and imprisonment for up to ninety (90) days; for a second (2nd) offense, suspension of driving privileges for one (1) year, a fine up to $500, and imprisonment for up to one (1) year; and for a subsequent offense, suspension of driving privileges for two (2) years, a fine up to $500, and imprisonment for up to one (1) year.

d. It is a crime intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly to manufacture, make, alter, sell, or attempt to sell an identification card falsely representing the identity, birth date, or age of another. The fine is a minimum of $1,000 for the first (1st) violation; for subsequent violations, the fine is a minimum of $2,500; and imprisonment for up to two (2) years for any violation.

e. It is a crime knowingly to misrepresent one’s age to obtain liquor. Penalties are as stated in (c).

f. It is a crime for any person to appear in any public place manifestly under the influence of alcohol to the degree that she/he may endanger herself/ himself or other persons or property, or annoy persons in her/his vicinity. The fine is up to $500 for the first (1st) violation; for subsequent violations, the fine is up to $1,000 and imprisonment for up to ninety (90) days for any violation.

j. It is unlawful to possess or transport liquor or alcohol within the Commonwealth unless it has been purchased from a Pennsylvania State Liquor Store or in accordance with Liquor Control Board regulations.

Events and Parties

The College defines an event as an academic, intellectual, cultural, and/or social gathering, which is open to all or a registered group of current Swarthmore students, in a designated campus space in which alcohol may/may not be present for the entirety of the event. Funds and approval for College events can be obtained through the Student Budget Committee (SBC) or other funding sources and approved through the Office of Student Engagement at least two weeks in advance of the event.

The College defines a party as a social function where alcohol may be served, regulated by an Alcohol Permit, in a designated campus party space, and with more than 10 students present.

A College party may be held on or off campus and may only be sponsored by Swarthmore students. All parties held on campus are automatically subject to this policy. If an individual and/or organization holds a party off campus, they may be subject to the student code of conduct and/or Pennsylvania state law.

If held off campus, a party becomes subject to this policy if either of the following conditions are met:

1. College funds or funds from the Social Affairs Committee (SAC) of Student Council or the SBC, or from any approved student organization, are used in whole or in part to sponsor the event. This includes expenses that are reimbursed at a later time.
2. The social function is broadly advertised on campus in such a way as to invite student attendance. This includes verbal, written, or electronic personal invitations to individual students.

Social functions (with alcoholic beverages) are divided into the following two types:

- All-College Events/Parties: Individual students or student organizations may apply to the SBC and/or Office of Student Engagement to obtain funds to assist in sponsoring an All-College event. The SBC and the Office of Student Engagement meet weekly to review event proposals and allocate funding. There may not be a charge for All-College events/parties, and they must be open to all members of the student body. All Swarthmore students are permitted to host one guest (including Tri-Co), but that is at the discretion of the hosts. All guests are required to provide either a Tri-Co or state-issued ID. Under no circumstances may any College funding be used to purchase alcoholic beverages.
- Fundraisers: Students holding an event to raise funds for a nonprofit or humanitarian cause may advertise that donations are encouraged, but they must not serve as an entry fee to the event. Advertisements for the event may mention that it is a fundraiser. No amounts of the donations may be used to purchase alcohol.

Authorized Campus Locations and Timing

Students over age 21 are permitted to possess and consume alcohol in their own residence hall rooms without special approval, provided fewer than 10 people are present, beer is not served from a keg, and there is no disorder. Designated campus event/party locations are authorized by a member of the Office of Student Engagement and/or Dean's Staff.

Alcoholic beverages are specifically excluded at all athletic contests or related events. Alcoholic beverages may not be served at parties or other events that take place during orientation periods, the first week of the Fall academic semester, vacation periods, reading days, final examination periods, or large-scale Admissions events (e.g., SWATstruck). The first available date to register an event/party with an Alcohol Permit is the first Saturday after classes begin each semester.

Duration

Social functions are expected to begin and end at a reasonable, specified time. In general, functions may not exceed four hours and should end no later than midnight Sunday through Wednesday and by 2 a.m. for Thursday through Saturday night events. Thursday parties lasting beyond midnight must be in non-residential party spaces. Undue noise or unwanted guests may nullify previous agreements.

Alcohol Permits

After reserving space for a social function, students or organizations may register the function by obtaining and submitting an Alcohol Permit from the Office of Student Engagement. An Alcohol Permit is required if: a) 10 people or more people will attend; b) there is a keg; or c) the party will be held in a registered event/party location. This permit must indicate the name of two responsible hosts, one of whom must be at least 21 years of age. Both hosts must have attended the College's Event/Party Host Training. Additionally, both hosts of the registered event/party must meet with the Office of Student Engagement and Public Safety to review and sign the Alcohol Permit by no later than noon on the Thursday of the week of the requested event/party.

Alcohol that is present at the party and not included on the Alcohol Permit will be removed and will result in a referral to the student conduct process. No Alcohol Permits will be issued during New Student Orientation, the first week of the Fall academic semester, vacation periods, reading days, final examination periods, or large-scale Admission Office events (e.g., SWATstruck). The first available date to register an event/party with an Alcohol Permit is the first Saturday after classes begin each semester.

SwatTeam

A registered event/party where alcohol is present will be staffed by SwatTeam members to help check IDs, provide crowd control, and serve as a liaison to Public Safety if safety issues arise. SwatTeam will be delegated to parties and assigned specific duties by the Office of Student Engagement and SwatTeam managers, based on the size and scale of the party.

SwatTeam members are required to be present and on the scene for a party to be held. Though SwatTeam is present, the hosts maintain responsibility for what occurs during their event. If event/party protocol is not being followed and/or an emergency arises, SwatTeam members will be in contact with Public Safety to address the safety issues/concerns.

SwatTeam members will be selected by the Office of Student Engagement and SwatTeam managers and trained by members of the Dean's Division and Public Safety. SwatTeam managers will also attend and be a part of the Event/Party Host Training sessions.

SwatTeam duties include (and typically are completed in tandem with event/party host organization members):

1. Door/ID-checking, wrist-banding, and crowd control.
2. Refusing entry to visibly intoxicated persons.
3. Ensuring that party guidelines (event/party permits and required food and drink) are followed.
4. Support hosts in enforcing no-smoking policies.
5. Regulating alcohol that is brought into or taken out of the party (when allowed).
6. Enforcing the end time for parties.
7. Alerting hosts to visibly intoxicated students.
8. Providing a safe walk for guests to their residences, at a student's request.
9. Contacting Public Safety if they require assistance or in any emergency situations.

All SwatTeam members must follow these four guidelines:

- Never make physical contact with a student.
- Always provide a safe walk home through a well-lit area.
- Wear SwatTeam T-shirt while working.
- May not consume alcohol before or during the event/party.

Event/Party Host Responsibilities

By signing the Alcohol Permit, the hosts agree to be responsible for compliance with party guidelines and local, state and federal law before, during, and following the event. Event/party hosts must not consume alcohol for the duration of their hosting responsibilities for the event/party. Nor can they consume alcoholic beverages prior to the beginning of the event. Organizations are able to have more than two hosts for an event and work in shifts during an event/party. Failure to obtain an Alcohol Permit and display it at the event will result in the event/party being closed down. Party hosts must meet with SwatTeam and Public Safety representatives before the event/party can begin. In addition, the event/party hosts may be held accountable for any violations of the student code of conduct.

Publicizing

Private parties may not be advertised on campus. These events are by invitation only. However, all Student Activities-funded events are required to be publicized on campus and must be open to all students. Generally, advertising is permitted for any party that is open to all students and is free of charge. Advertising (posters, flyers, chalking, table tents, email, written, and verbal invitations) for All-College social functions must NOT refer to availability of alcoholic beverages, either graphically or in words. If there is any question as to whether or not some form of advertising meets this criterion, it should be cleared in advance with a dean, the Alcohol and Other Drugs Counselor, or the Student Activities Office. Illegal advertising or inappropriate signs will be removed and the individual and/or organization will be restricted from hosting an event/party until meeting with the Office of Student Engagement.

During the Party

While the social function is in progress and when alcoholic beverages are available (whichever is longer), the event/party hosts and SwatTeam must be in attendance at all times. It is the responsibility of the hosts to regulate the serving of alcoholic beverages and to observe all laws and College guidelines regarding social events. Hosting the event/party without the approved presence of SwatTeam members will result in the function being shut down.

During the event/party, the hosts' responsibilities are:

- Control the serving of alcoholic beverages.
- Refrain from serving alcoholic beverages to underage guests.
- Prohibit non-Tri-College persons, except authorized guests, from entering the party.
- Prohibit visibly intoxicated persons from obtaining alcoholic beverages at the event/party.

It is also the responsibility of the event/party hosts to ensure that the following regulations are adhered to:

1. The Alcohol Permit must be displayed clearly for the duration of the event/party, and hosts must indicate what type/how much alcohol is being served on the permit. If the permit is not displayed, the party cannot begin.
2. SwatTeam and host ID checkers must be stationed at the doors to regulate entry into the event/party and to ensure that alcoholic beverages are not carried out. Only guests over age 21 will be provided a wristband indicating they are of the legal drinking age. The sharing of wristbands is strictly prohibited and will result in referral to the student conduct process.
3. Students are generally permitted to bring one non-College guest to a party. (This includes Tri-Co students.) For private parties, the hosts must generate a guest list to be provided to the Office of Student Engagement and the SwatTeam before the party begins. Failure to produce a list will result in guests not being allowed into the space. Each guest, accompanied by the student host, must sign in at the door.
4. Signs must be posted in clear view at the entrance and where alcohol is being served at all times during an event/party at which alcoholic beverages are available stating, "You must be 21 years of age to consume alcoholic beverages in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."
5. At any social function where alcoholic beverages are served, alternative non-alcoholic beverages must be served at the same location with equal prominence. These alternative beverages may include drinks such as cider, sparkling grape juice, soda, or water that are appealing to a wide variety of tastes.
6. At any social function where alcoholic beverages are served, substantial food, such as fruits, vegetables, and/or pretzels, must also be served.
7. If non-alcoholic beverages or food run out during the course of the party, alcoholic beverages may no longer be served.
8. There is no smoking at any event/party.

If the hosts are unable to uphold the guidelines and keep the party under control, they are required to call the Office of Public Safety at 610-328-8333 or ext. 8333. Public Safety officers may enter registered and unregistered parties at any time.

Any violations of these responsibilities will be referred to the Director of Student Conduct and/or Office of Student Engagement for appropriate follow-up and possible adjudication through the Student Conduct Process.

After the Party

Cleanup is the responsibility of the hosts and/or sponsoring organization and must be done immediately following the event. The College will impose a monetary fine, ranging from a minimum of $50 to several thousand dollars (depending on the scope of the damage) for failure to comply with agreements regarding space cleanup and/or damage to College property (including Swaudio). In addition, hosts and/or sponsoring student organizations will be held responsible for any damage to the facility or equipment in that space.

Substance-Free Activities and Education

Swarthmore is committed to providing prevention, treatment, advocacy, and support for all students. Matriculating students begin their AOD awareness through an online program (AlcoholEdu) that provides education as an early prevention effort. Additionally, a full-time AOD Counselor and Educator provides individual counseling and campus programs, which include residence-based offerings. Each year, the AOD Counselor and Educator offers the AOD Program Series, which covers key areas of prevention on campus. These are related to diversity considerations, athletic performance, and biopsychosocial influences.

Swarthmore's campus also supports substance-free options, as evidenced by the development and expansion of our substance-free floor and counter-programming during registered alcohol events. Substance-free programming has been integrated into our large-scale events (e.g., Halloween, Worthstock). Substance-free self-care has also been a focal topic of our AOD Counselor and Educator's programming.

Note that due to the coronavirus pandemic, no parties occurred on campus after March 6, 2020. For the Fall 2020 semester, the campus was completely "dry" with no alcohol permitted on campus at all.**

The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act

In 1988 and in 1989, the federal government adopted the Drug-Free Workplace Act and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act, respectively. As a condition of receiving federal grants, the College must certify that it is in compliance with this law. This means that illegal drug use and underage drinking are not only violations of state law, but also a violation of College policy and will result in disciplinary action, up to and including expulsion. The consumption of alcohol in quantities to the extent that an employee is unable to perform the duties of the job in a safe and productive manner is also a violation of College policy and will result in disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Violations of the Drug-Free Workplace Policy and Employment

Violations of this policy will result in disciplinary action in accordance with College policies and procedures covering the conduct of faculty and staff, up to and including dismissal, consistent with the local, state, and federal laws described below. As a condition of employment, all employees must abide by the terms of this policy.

Student violations of the Alcohol and Other Drugs Policy of the College will be handled in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct Rules and Regulations.

Alcohol

Under Pennsylvania law, a person less than 21 years of age may not purchase, consume, possess, or transport alcohol. Any person convicted of violating this law will have her/his driver's license suspended for ninety (90) days. A second offense will result in a one-year suspension of driving privileges and a fine up to $500. Additionally, any person who intentionally provides alcohol to a person less than 21 years of age is guilty of a misdemeanor of the third degree, which carries a fine of at least $1,000 for the first (1st) offense.

Pennsylvania law allows a driver to be considered intoxicated and charged with driving under the influence (DUI) if she/he has symptoms of intoxication and a blood alcohol content (BAC) greater than 0.08%. A BAC of 0.08% can be obtained by consuming a little less than one (1) drink per hour.

Additionally, Pennsylvania law penalizes public drunkenness, defining it as: "A person is guilty of a summary offense if he/she appears in any public place manifestly under the influence of alcohol to the degree he/she may endanger himself/herself or other persons or property, or annoy persons in his/her vicinity." It is also a violation of Swarthmore Borough Ordinance 759 to be found in a drunken or intoxicated condition under circumstances tending to disturb the neighborhood or to cause a breach of the public peace. Swarthmore Borough police will enforce these laws on and off campus.

Drugs

Both federal and state laws impose sanctions for the possession, use, and distribution of illegal drugs. The sanctions for any given offense depend on the type and quantity of the drug involved and whether the offense is possession, use, or distribution.

Under federal law, simple possession of a controlled substance carries a penalty of imprisonment for up to one (1) year, plus a minimum fine of $1,000. If the controlled substance contains a cocaine base and the amount exceeds five (5) grams, the first-time offender will be imprisoned for not less than five (5) years and not more than twenty (20) years and fined. Also, under federal law, any person 18 or more years old who distributes drugs to anyone under age 21 will be imprisoned or fined, or both, up to twice what is otherwise provided by law, with a minimum prison sentence of one (1) year. This same penalty applies to any person who distributes or possesses with intent to distribute drugs to anyone within 1,000 feet of a college campus. Pennsylvania law imposes similarly strict sanctions on the unlawful use, possession, and distribution of drugs. In addition to imposing fines and imprisonment for violation of its drug laws, Pennsylvania will seize all of the violator's property that was used in committing the crime.

Students and DPS officers compete in the annual Crum Regatta held on the Crum Creek.

Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy

Note: These policies and procedures are implemented on an interim basis through the 2021-2022 academic year. Swarthmore College reserves the right to modify these policies and procedures in accordance with business necessity and applicable legal and regulatory guidance and requirements. The most up-to-date version of these policies is available online at swarthmore.edu/title-ix

Statement of Intent

Swarthmore College is committed to establishing and maintaining a community rich in equality and free from all forms of discrimination and harassment. The College seeks to create an environment in which the greatest holistic academic potential of students and professional potential of employees may be realized. To create and maintain such an inclusive climate, all who work and learn at the College are partners in ensuring that the community is free from discrimination based on sex or gender, including sexual harassment, sexual assault, and other forms of sexual misconduct. These behaviors threaten our learning, living, and work environments and will not be tolerated.

Prohibited conduct under this policy may also be a crime under Pennsylvania law. Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 is a federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs and activities. All public and private elementary and secondary schools, school districts, colleges, and universities receiving any federal funds must comply with Title IX. Under Title IX, discrimination on the basis of sex can include sexual harassment, gender-based harassment, sexual violence, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. Title IX says that “no person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving federal financial assistance.”

Further, the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (Clery Act) is federal legislation that requires educational institutions that participate in federal student-aid programs to maintain and disclose non-identifying information about crimes that occur on or near campus, including allegations of sexual misconduct — specifically sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. In compliance with the Clery Act, the College will publish non-identifying information about Clery criminal offenses and submit the College’s Annual Fire Safety and Security Report (AFSSR) to the U.S. Department of Education yearly. For more information about Clery Act compliance or to obtain a copy of the AFSSR, contact the Department of Public Safety. The College, or an officer, employee, or agent of the College, may not retaliate, intimidate, threaten, coerce, or otherwise discriminate against any individual for exercising their rights or responsibilities in this policy as required under the Violence Against Women Act.

In compliance with Title IX, the College will address reported sexual harassment violations covered under Title IX. The College is also committed to addressing acts that violate our community standards that are not covered under Title IX but fall within the definitions of College-defined sexual misconduct.

Swarthmore College strives to achieve its mission as a liberal arts college by encouraging the free, open, and civil exchange of ideas. Ideas, creativity, and free expression thrive and can only exist for the entire community in an atmosphere free of sex- and gender-based discrimination and harassment.

Reason for Differentiation between Title IX Conduct and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct

On May 19, 2020, the U.S. Department of Education issued regulations under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 that:

- Define “sexual harassment” (including forms of sex-based violence) under Title IX.
- Address how institutions must respond to reports of conduct falling within that definition of sexual harassment.
- Mandate procedures that institutions must follow to comply with the law in these specific covered cases before issuing a disciplinary sanction against a person accused of sexual harassment.

The definition of sexual harassment under Title IX does not cover all of the conduct the College addressed under our previous Sexual Assault and Harassment Policy. Swarthmore College remains committed to addressing conduct we have traditionally viewed as violating our community standards, that now does not fall within the definition of “sexual harassment” under Title IX, by providing procedures for College-defined sexual misconduct.

To be clear, the College has not narrowed the range of behavior that can be addressed under this revised Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy. In recent years, “Title IX” has become a short-hand for any campus disciplinary process involving sex discrimination, including those arising from sexual harassment and sexual assault. But under the new Title IX regulations, the College must narrow both the geographic scope of its authority to act under Title IX and the types of sexual harassment that it must subject to Title IX investigation and adjudication. Only incidents falling within the Title IX definition of sexual harassment must be adjudicated through a live hearing compliant with the procedures required under Title IX. However, to the extent that the alleged misconduct falls outside the scope of Title IX, the College retains authority to investigate and adjudicate the allegations under the policies and procedures for College-defined sexual misconduct.

Finally, our existing Title IX office and reporting structure remains in place. What has changed is which procedures apply to different types of reports arising from sexual misconduct, but not the support and resources available to our community members. We remain here to help.

Scope of Policy

Swarthmore College’s Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy applies to all Swarthmore College community members, including students, employees (including administration, faculty, and staff), volunteers, independent contractors, visitors, and any individuals regularly or temporarily employed, studying, living, visiting, conducting business, or having any official capacity at the College. Alleged misconduct subject to this policy (“prohibited conduct”) includes both Title IX sexual harassment (which is defined by law) and College-defined sexual misconduct (which includes allegations that do not meet the definitions under Title IX, but nonetheless violate Swarthmore College's community standards), as discussed further in the sections below.

All community members have a responsibility to adhere to College policies and local, state, and federal law. This policy applies to conduct occurring on Swarthmore College property, at College-sanctioned events or programs that take place off campus, including study abroad and internship programs. This policy also applies to off-campus conduct that is likely to have a substantial adverse effect on any member of the Swarthmore College community or Swarthmore College.

Swarthmore, Haverford, and Bryn Mawr colleges make up the Tri-College Consortium. Swarthmore students may also cross-register for the study at the University of Pennsylvania. Swarthmore students, when studying or visiting on the campuses of Haverford, Bryn Mawr, or the University of Pennsylvania, or when attending a College-related event for any of these four institutions, are subject to this policy. Students from Haverford, Bryn Mawr, or the University of Pennsylvania who are enrolled in Swarthmore College classes are also protected by and subject to standards of this policy and any potential violations may be addressed under this policy.

The College's Policy on Prohibited Relationships prohibits romantic or sexual relationships between College employees and students. Violations of the Policy on Prohibited Relationships will be addressed by that policy, unless the prohibited conduct also violates the Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy, in which case it may be addressed in whole or in part by that Policy. Please refer to the Provost Office or Human Resources for more information.

Notice of Non-Discrimination

The College expressly prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment on the basis of any College-recognized protected classification, including sex, race, color, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, marital status, medical condition, veteran status, or disability, in any decision regarding admissions, employment, or involvement in a College program or activity in accordance with the letter and spirit of federal, state, and local non-discrimination and equal-opportunity laws, such as Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act and ADA Amendments Act, the Equal Pay Act, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act, and the Borough of Swarthmore Ordinance on Non-Discrimination.

Swarthmore College will promptly and equitably respond to all reports of sexual misconduct in order to eliminate the misconduct, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects on any individual or the community. Please see below for discussion of how to make a report of prohibited conduct or to file a complaint.

Privacy and Confidentiality

Swarthmore College respects the privacy of individuals involved in any report of alleged prohibited conduct, meaning the Title IX coordinator and others responsible for carrying out this policy will disclose information only as required to implement this policy or by law. If a reporting party requests that a report of prohibited conduct remain confidential (i.e., with the reporting party's identity not being disclosed to the respondent and an investigation not being commenced), the Title IX coordinator will evaluate that request in the context of the College's responsibility to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all members of its community. The College may question an employee-respondent about alleged prohibited conduct without disclosing the identity of the reporting party, provided that it does not take disciplinary action against that respondent without implementing the formal complaint processes in Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Faculty/ Staff or Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints Against Faculty/ Staff.

The reporting party is not required to file a formal complaint to receive supportive measures, but there may be instances when disclosing the reporting party's identity is necessary to provide certain supportive measures (e.g., where the responding party would need to know the identity of the reporting party in order to comply with a contact restriction). Swarthmore College will maintain as private any supportive measures provided to the parties, to the extent that maintaining such privacy would not impair the College's ability to provide the supportive measures.

Privacy and confidentiality have distinct meanings under this policy:

- Privacy generally means that information related to a report of misconduct will only be shared with a limited circle of individuals. The use of this information is limited to College employees who "need to know" to assist in the active review, investigation, or resolution of the report. While not bound by confidentiality, these individuals will be discreet and respect the privacy of all individuals involved in the process.
- Confidentiality means that information shared by an individual with designated confidential campus or community professionals cannot be revealed to any other individual without express permission of the disclosing individual. Those confidential professionals include the medical and mental-health providers, religious/pastoral counselors, and the violence-prevention advocate, all of whom have legally protected confidentiality. These individuals are prohibited from breaking confidentiality unless there is an imminent threat of harm to self or others or the disclosure is otherwise legally permitted or required. Non-identifying aggregate data may be shared for statistical purposes consistent with the Clery Act.

Limitations to Confidentiality. College employees designated as "responsible employees" are required to share a report of prohibited conduct with the Title IX coordinator or deputy Title IX coordinator. (See below for full discussion of reporting requirements.)

The Title IX coordinator, in consultation with the Title IX assessment team as necessary, will conduct an initial assessment of the conduct, the reporting party's desired course of action, and the necessity for any supportive measures or services to protect the safety of the reporting party and/or the community. The goal is to eliminate any hostile environment.

If a report of misconduct discloses a serious or immediate threat to the campus community, the College will issue a timely warning notice to the community to protect the health or safety of the community. The timely notification will not include any identifying information about the reporting party. The College may also share non-identifying information in aggregate form about reports received, including data about outcomes and sanctions. At no time will the College release the name of the reporting party to the general public without the express consent of the reporting party or as otherwise permitted or required by law.

All College proceedings are conducted in compliance with the requirements of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), the Clery Act, Title IX, the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), state and local law, and College policy. No information shall be released from such proceedings except as required or permitted by law and College policy.

Definitions of Sexual Harassment

Below are two definitions of sexual harassment. The first definition is the provided definition pursuant to the federal regulations implementing Title IX. Alleged violations of Title IX sexual harassment will be resolved through Title IX procedures. The second definition describes behavior that violates Swarthmore community standards. Alleged violations of College-defined sexual harassment will be resolved by College-Defined Sexual Misconduct procedures.

A. Title IX sexual harassment means:

1. Conduct on the basis of sex that involves an employee of Swarthmore College conditioning the provision of an aid, benefit, or service of the College on an individual's participation in unwelcome sexual conduct; or
2. An individual engaging in unwelcome conduct determined by a reasonable person to be so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the College's education program or activity.
3. In order to constitute Title IX sexual harassment, the alleged misconduct must have occurred:
 - i. In the United States;
 - ii. In Swarthmore College's education program or activity, which is defined as locations, events or circumstances over which the College exercised substantial control over both the respondent and the context in which the misconduct occurred, or any building owned or controlled by a student organization officially recognized by the College; and
 - iii. The complainant must be participating in or attempting to participate in the College's education program or activity at the time a formal complaint is filed.

B. College-defined sexual harassment (CDSH) is any unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature or based on sex or gender when at least one of the following conditions are present and Section A.3.i-iii (above) are not applicable:

1. Quid Pro Quo: Submission to or rejection of such conduct is an explicit or implicit condition of, or the basis of an individual's employment, evaluation of academic work, or any aspect of a College program or activity.
2. Hostile Environment: Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or academic performance, i.e. it is sufficiently serious, pervasive, or persistent as to create an intimidating, hostile, humiliating, demeaning, or sexually offensive working, academic, residential, or social environment under both an objective and subjective standard.

CDSH also includes harassment based on gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression, which may include acts of verbal, nonverbal, or physical aggression, intimidation, or hostility based on sex/gender or sex/gender-stereotyping, even if the acts do not involve conduct of a sexual nature.

A single isolated incident of CDSH may create a hostile environment if the incident is sufficiently severe. The more severe the conduct, the less need there is to show a repetitive series of incidents to create a hostile environment, particularly if the harassment is physical.

Both the Title IX and the College-defined definitions of sexual harassment can take many forms and may:

- Include, but are not limited to, sexual advances or requests for sexual favors, inappropriate comments, jokes or gestures, or other unwanted verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.
- Be blatant and intentional and involve an overt action and/or, a threat of reprisal, or may be subtle and indirect, with a coercive aspect that is unstated.
- Not include intent to harm, be directed at a specific target, or involve repeated incidents.
- Be committed by anyone, regardless of gender, age, position, or authority. While there is often a power differential between two persons, perhaps due to differences in age or, social, educational, or employment relationships, harassment can occur in any context.
- Be committed by a stranger, an acquaintance, or someone with whom the complainant has an intimate or sexual relationship.
- Be committed by or against an individual or may be a result of the actions of an organization or group.
- Occur by or against an individual of any sex, gender identity, gender expression, or sexual orientation.
- Occur in the classroom, in the workplace, in residential settings, over electronic media (including the internet, telephone, and text), or in any other setting.
- Be a one-time event or part of a pattern of behavior.
- Be committed in the presence of others or when the parties are alone.
- Affect the complainant and/or third parties who witness or observe the harassment.

Note: Applied definitions of alleged violations of sexual harassment will depend upon the applicability of conditions described above. Key determining factors are that the behavior is unwelcome, is sex- or gender-based, and is reasonably perceived as offensive and objectionable under both a subjective and objective assessment of the conduct.

Definitions of Additional Prohibited Conduct

The following conduct constitutes additional prohibited conduct under the policy:

- A. Sexual Assault: Penetration or attempted penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration or attempted penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the alleged victim.
- B. Non-Consensual Sexual Touching: The touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification without the consent of the alleged victim, including intentional contact with the intimate parts of another, causing another to touch one's intimate parts, or disrobing or exposure of another without that person's consent. Intimate parts may include the breasts, genitals, buttocks, groin, mouth, or any other part of the body that is touched in a sexual manner.
- C. Dating Violence: Violence, including sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse, committed by a person who:
 1. Is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the alleged victim; and
 2. Where the existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on a consideration of the following factors:
 - i. The length of the relationship,
 - ii. The type of relationship, and
 - iii. The frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship.
- D. Domestic Violence: Felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the alleged victim, by a person with whom the alleged victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the alleged victim as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the alleged victim under the domestic or family violence laws of Pennsylvania, or by any other person against an adult or youth alleged victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family-violence laws of Pennsylvania.
- E. Stalking: Engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for their safety or the safety of others, or suffer substantial emotional distress. For the purposes of this definition:
 1. A course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the alleged stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person's property.
 2. A reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.

3. Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

Note: Stalking includes the concept of cyberstalking, a particular form of stalking in which electronic media, such as the internet, social networks, blogs, cellphones, texts, or other similar devices or forms of contact, are used to pursue, harass, or make unwelcome contact with another person in an unsolicited fashion.

Examples of stalking include:

- Unwelcome and repeated visual or physical proximity to a person.
- Repeated oral or written threats.
- Extortion of money or valuables.
- Unwelcome/unsolicited written communication, including letters, cards, emails, instant messages, and messages on online bulletin boards.
- Unwelcome/unsolicited communications about a person, their family, friends, or co-workers.
- Sending/posting unwelcome/unsolicited messages with an assumed identity.
- Implicitly threatening physical contact.
- Any combination of these behaviors directed toward an individual.

- F. Sexual Exploitation: An act or acts committed through non-consensual abuse or exploitation of another person's sexuality for the purpose of sexual gratification, financial gain, personal benefit or advantage, or any other non-legitimate purpose. The act or acts of College-defined sexual exploitation are prohibited even though the behavior does not constitute one of the other sexual-misconduct offenses.

Examples of sexual exploitation include:

- Observing another individual's nudity or sexual activity or allowing another to observe consensual sexual activity without the knowledge and consent of all parties involved.
- Non-consensual streaming of images, photography, video, or audio of sexual activity or nudity, or distribution of such without the knowledge and consent of all parties involved;
- Prostituting another individual.
- Exposing another's genitals in non-consensual circumstances.
- Knowingly exposing another individual to a sexually transmitted disease or virus without that individual's knowledge.
- Inducing incapacitation for the purpose of making another person vulnerable to non-consensual sexual activity.

- G. Indecent Exposure: A person commits an act of indecent exposure if that person exposes their genitals in any public place or in any place where there are other persons present under circumstances in which one knows or should know that this conduct is likely to offend, affront, or alarm.

H. Bullying and Intimidation: Bullying includes any intentional electronic, written, verbal, or physical act or a series of acts of physical, social, or emotional domination that cause physical or emotional harm that is sex- or gender-based to another student or group of students. Bullying conduct may not only have a negative effect on individuals targeted but also on others who observe the conduct. Bullying conduct is severe, persistent, or pervasive and has the effect of doing any of the following:

1. Substantially interfering with a community member's education, employment, or full enjoyment of the College.
2. Creating a threatening or intimidating environment.
3. Substantially disrupting the orderly operation of the College.

Note: Bullying is prohibited, and participating in such acts will result in disciplinary action. Intimidation is any verbal, written, or electronic threat of violence or other threatening behavior directed toward another person or group that reasonably leads the person or the group to fear for their physical well-being. Intimidation is prohibited and participating in such acts will result in disciplinary action.

Note: Anyone who attempts to use bullying or intimidation to retaliate against someone who reports an incident, brings a complaint, or participates in an investigation in an attempt to influence the student conduct process will be in violation of retaliation as described in this policy and will be subject to disciplinary action.

When acts of bullying and intimidation occur in the context of intimate-partner violence or when the behavior is perpetrated on the basis of sex or gender, the student conduct will be resolved under either Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Students or Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints against Students; employee conduct will be resolved under either Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Staff and Faculty or Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints Against Staff and Faculty.

- I. Physical Assault: Any purposeful action meant to hurt another person. Examples include, but are not limited to, kicking, punching, hitting with or throwing an object, or biting. When these acts occur in the context of dating or domestic violence or when the behavior is perpetrated on the basis of sex or gender, the student conduct will be resolved under either Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Students or Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints against Students; employee conduct will be resolved under either Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Staff and Faculty or Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints Against Staff and Faculty.

Procedural Options

If the alleged conduct meets all of the following conditions, Title IX procedures will apply. If the alleged conduct does not meet all of the following conditions, then the College-Defined Sexual Misconduct procedures will apply. The conditions are as follows:

- A. The alleged conduct must have occurred in the United States.
- B. The alleged conduct must have occurred in Swarthmore College's education program or activity, which is defined as locations, events or circumstances over which the College exercised substantial control over both the respondent(s) and the context in which the misconduct occurred, or any building owned or controlled by a student organization officially recognized by the College.
- C. The complainant must be participating in or attempting to participate in the College's education program or a College activity at the time a formal complaint is filed.

Related Definitions

- A. Coercion: The use of pressure to compel another individual to initiate or continue sexual activity against an individual's will. Coercion can include a wide range of behaviors, including intimidation, manipulation, threats, and blackmail. A person's words or conduct are sufficient to constitute coercion if they wrongfully impair another individual's freedom of will and ability to choose whether or not to engage in sexual activity.

Examples of coercion:

- Threatening to "out" someone based on sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.
 - Threatening to harm oneself if the other party does not engage in the sexual activity.
- B. Complainant: Any member of the College community seeking a formal disciplinary process in response to prohibited conduct.
 - C. Consent: Consent to engage in sexual activity must be knowing and voluntary; it must exist from the beginning to the end of each instance of sexual activity and for each form of sexual contact. Consent should not be assumed. Consent is demonstrated through mutually understandable words and/or actions that clearly indicate a willingness to engage freely in sexual activity. Either party may withdraw consent at any time. Withdrawal of consent should be outwardly demonstrated by words or actions that clearly indicate a desire to end sexual activity. Once withdrawal of consent has been expressed, sexual activity must cease immediately.

Guidance for assessing consent:

- Prior to initiating any sexual activity, the person(s) initiating and/or continuing the sexual activity is expected to obtain consent. If at any time during the sexual activity, any confusion or ambiguity arises, individuals should pause and seek clarification regarding consent. Consent to one form of sexual activity does not constitute consent to engage in all forms of sexual activity.
- Consent consists of an outward demonstration indicating that an individual has freely chosen to engage in sexual activity. Relying on nonverbal communication can lead to misunderstandings. Consent should not be inferred solely from silence, passivity, lack of resistance, or lack of an active response. A person who does not physically resist or verbally refuse sexual activity is not necessarily giving consent.

- Consent to previous sexual activity and/or in the context of an intimate relationship does not presume consent is given in any subsequent sexual encounter.
- Consent is not effective if it results from the use or threat of physical force, intimidation, or coercion, or any other factor that would eliminate an individual's ability to exercise their own free will.
- Consent cannot be obtained from an individual who is incapacitated. A full discussion of incapacitation follows below.
- In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the age of majority is 18. Under state law, consent cannot be given by minors under the age of 13 and can only be given by a minor under the age of 16 if the other party is less than four (4) years older than the minor.
- Consent cannot be given for sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

D. Force: Force is the use or threat of physical violence or intimidation to overcome an individual's freedom of will to choose whether or not to participate in sexual activity. There is no requirement that a party resists the sexual advance or request, but resistance will be viewed as a clear demonstration of non-consent.

E. Formal Complaint: A document submitted by a complainant and bearing the complainant's physical or digital signature, or otherwise indicating that the complainant is the one filing the formal complaint, requesting that the College investigate the allegations of prohibited conduct. The Title IX coordinator also may sign a formal complaint, as discussed below, but does not become the complainant by doing so. In order to file a formal complaint, a complainant must be participating in or attempting to participate in Swarthmore College's education program or College activity at the time a formal complaint is filed.

F. Incapacitation: Incapacitation describes an individual who lacks the ability to make informed, rational judgments and cannot consent to sexual activity. Incapacitation is defined as the inability, temporarily or permanently, to give consent because the individual is mentally and/or physically helpless, asleep, unconscious, or unaware that sexual activity is occurring. Incapacitation may result from the use of alcohol and/or drugs. Incapacitation is a state beyond drunkenness or intoxication. The impact of alcohol and other drugs varies from person to person.

Warning signs that a person may be approaching incapacitation may include:

- Slurred speech
- Vomiting
- Unsteady gait
- Odor of alcohol
- Combativeness
- Emotional volatility

Guidance for evaluating incapacitation requires an assessment of how the consumption of alcohol and/or drugs affects an individual with respect to:

- Decision-making ability
- Awareness of consequences
- Ability to make informed judgments
- Capacity to appreciate the nature and the quality of the act

Evaluating incapacitation also requires an assessment of whether a responding party should have been aware of the complainant's incapacitation based on objectively and reasonably apparent indications of impairment when viewed from the perspective of a sober, reasonable person in the responding party's position.

In general, the College considers sexual contact while under the influence of alcohol or other drugs to be risky behavior. Alcohol and drugs impair a person's decision-making capacity, awareness of consequences, and ability to make informed judgments. It is especially important, therefore, that anyone engaging in sexual activity be aware of the other person's level of intoxication. If there is any doubt as to the level or extent of the other individual's intoxication or impairment, the prudent course of action is to forgo or cease any sexual contact or activity.

- G. Intentional: Intentional is defined as knowingly and/or recklessly engaging in sexual contact without an individual's consent and does not include accidental contact. Being intoxicated or impaired by drugs or alcohol is never an excuse for sexual misconduct in any form and does not negate one's intent nor diminish one's responsibility to obtain informed and freely given consent.
- H. Prohibited Conduct: Prohibited conduct includes Title IX-covered misconduct and College-defined sexual misconduct.
- I. Reporting Person: Any person who makes a report to the Title IX coordinator or deputy Title IX coordinator about prohibited conduct and is seeking resources or support in response to sexual misconduct.
- J. Responding Person: Any person alleged, through a report to the Title IX coordinator, to have engaged in prohibited conduct.
- K. Respondent: Any member of the College community who has been alleged to have violated the policy.

Retaliation

Retaliation against an individual for participating in any way in a report, investigation, hearing, or other proceeding under this policy is strictly prohibited. No one may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured under this policy, or because the individual made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or hearing under this policy. Retaliation can take many forms, including continued abuse or violence, threats, and intimidation. Any individual or group of individuals, not just a complainant or respondent, can engage in retaliation.

The coordinator also coordinates the College's compliance with Title IX. The Title IX Coordinator can be contacted by telephone, email, or in person during regular office hours.

Supportive Measures

Overview

The College is committed to treating all members of the community with dignity, care, and respect. Any community member affected by sexual misconduct, whether as a reporting party, complainant, responding party, respondent, or third party, will have equal access to support and counseling services through the College. The College recognizes that deciding whether to make a report and choosing how to proceed can be difficult. The College encourages anyone who has questions or concerns to seek the support of professional campus and community resources. These professionals can provide information about available resources and procedural options, and assistance to any party in the event that a report and/or resolution under this policy are pursued. Individuals are encouraged to use all available resources, regardless of when or where the incident occurred and whether it is reported to the College or law enforcement.

Supportive measures are non-disciplinary, non-punitive individualized services that may be provided on request when deemed by the Title IX coordinator to be appropriate and reasonably available. Supportive measures may also be imposed at the initiative and in the sole discretion of the Title IX coordinator. Supportive measures are available beginning at any time after the submission of a report of prohibited conduct. Supportive measures are highly subjective based on the needs of the individuals involved and the circumstances presented, so for the best understanding of available options, community members are strongly encouraged to contact the Title IX office.

A reporting party may seek and be provided supportive measures prior to or without ever filing a formal complaint.

Supportive measures are designed to restore or preserve equal access to the College's educational programs and activities without unreasonably burdening the other party. Supportive measures may be of any duration and may be modified at the discretion of the Title IX coordinator. Supportive measures will be kept confidential to the extent that doing so does not impair the College's ability to provide them.

Supportive measures may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Access to counseling services.
- Extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments (with agreement of the faculty of the course).
- Modification of work or class schedules.
- Mutual restrictions on contact between the parties (i.e., contact restrictions).
- Changes in work or housing locations.
- Leaves of absence.
- Providing for transportation needs.
- Increased security and monitoring of certain areas.
- Any other measures deemed appropriate by the Title IX coordinator to preserve equal access to the College's programs and activities.

Note: A student or employee's failure to abide by the terms of any supportive measure may result in discipline and, depending on the circumstances, could be deemed to constitute retaliation.

In general, all supportive measures that require action by the College are implemented through the Title IX coordinator. The violence-prevention advocate can also assist with referrals to medical assistance, counseling and campus resources, and provide detailed information about other supportive measures available. All resources and supportive measures are outlined in writing in a survivors brochure that is provided to any community member making a report.

Education and Prevention Programs

Swarthmore College as a community is committed to the prevention of sexual misconduct through education and awareness programs. Throughout the year, programs designed to promote awareness are presented by a variety of inclusive campus resources. Swarthmore College's Title IX coordinator works with the violence-prevention advocate and other campus partners to tailor programming to meet campus needs and climate. Prevention and education programs include an overview of the College's policies and procedures; relevant definitions, including prohibited conduct; discussion of the impact of alcohol and illegal drug use; effective consent; safe and positive options for bystander intervention; and information about risk reduction, resources, and reporting options.

Incoming first-year students and new employees will receive primary prevention and awareness programming as part of their orientation. Returning students and employees will receive ongoing training on a periodic basis.

Emergency Support Services for Prohibited Conduct

The College encourages all individuals to seek assistance from a medical provider and/or law enforcement as soon as possible after an incident of sexual misconduct. This option can provide for physical safety, emotional support, and medical care to the victim/survivor. It is the best option to ensure appropriate medical care, if necessary, and may assist in an investigation by preserving potential evidence. The College will offer to escort any Swarthmore community member to a safe place, provide transportation to the hospital, assist in coordination with law enforcement, and provide information about the College's resources and complaint processes.

Assistance is available from the College and local law enforcement 24 hours a day, year-round, by calling the Department of Public Safety and/or the Swarthmore Borough Police Department. Any individual can request that a member of the Department of Public Safety and/or Swarthmore Borough Police respond and take a report. The College can assist individuals in obtaining a Protection from Abuse (PFA) order, Sexual Violence Protection order, or Protection from Intimidation order (for minors) from Pennsylvania authorities. The College can also assist with obtaining orders outside of Pennsylvania. We request that all College community members who obtain a protection order notify Public Safety to enable the College to provide appropriate assistance. The College will comply with and implement applicable restrictions described in any court-issued protection order. An individual can also contact a Worth Health Center nurse or nurse practitioner (during the academic year) and/or a local medical provider 24 hours a day.

Off-Campus Resources

Community Medical Providers

Medical providers, such as Riddle Memorial Hospital, Crozer-Chester Medical Center, or Springfield Hospital, can provide emergency and/or follow-up medical services and provide a forum to discuss any health care concerns related to the incident in a confidential medical setting. These local hospitals identify as having Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners trained to collect evidence in a manner consistent with evidence-collecting requirements in Pennsylvania.

If an incident involves sexual misconduct that happened within 72 to 96 hours, the victim/survivor has the option and is encouraged to have evidence collected and preserved by a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner at a local hospital. Preserving the evidence is important if the victim/survivor chooses to seek resolution through the campus complaint process or take criminal action. If the victim/survivor chooses to have evidence collected, they can be escorted to the nearest hospital by the Department of Public Safety or transported by taxi (voucher provided by Student Health and Wellness or Public Safety) to the medical provider of the victim/survivor's choice. The victim/survivor can later return to Student Health and Wellness for follow-up medical care.

Under Pennsylvania law, a medical provider may be required to notify law enforcement of a sexual assault under certain circumstances. The medical provider, however, will share limited information with law enforcement, and a complainant may decline to speak with law enforcement or participate in a criminal prosecution. The medical provider will typically also notify the local rape crisis-counseling center, Delaware County Women Against Rape.

Reporting

Overview

The College encourages all community members to report prohibited conduct to obtain assistance and maintain a safe campus environment. As outlined in this policy, the College encourages all individuals to immediately seek assistance from law enforcement, Public Safety, a medical provider, and/or a violence-prevention advocate. All Swarthmore community members, even those who are not obligated by this policy, are strongly encouraged to report any incident of prohibited conduct to the Title IX coordinator. To the best of its ability, the College will respond to every report. Anonymous or third-party reports may limit the response the College can provide.

The Title IX coordinator is charged with responding to allegations of sexual misconduct to stop the behavior, prevent its recurrence, and remedy its effects. Specifically, the Title IX coordinator, or their designee, will coordinate the initial assessment, offer resources and support, and initiate an investigation when appropriate and/or requested.

How to Report

Any person may report conduct constituting possible prohibited conduct to the Title IX coordinator in person, by mail, by telephone, by email or via the online reporting form. The Title IX coordinator will contact the reporting party promptly to discuss the availability of supportive measures and to explain the process for filing a formal complaint if applicable. Reporting parties are not required to proceed with a formal complaint to get access to supportive measures.

Anonymous reporting is permitted via the online reporting form. Depending on the information provided, the College's ability to take action in response to an anonymous report may be limited.

If the reporting party desires to proceed with a formal complaint, the Title IX coordinator or designee will initiate the applicable procedures. If the reporting party decides not to submit a formal complaint, the Title IX coordinator may sign a formal complaint when they deem an investigation is necessary to address the prohibited conduct, including in order to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all members of Swarthmore's community. If the reporting party elects not to sign a complaint, the Title IX coordinator may, but is not required to, consider factors such as whether the conduct alleged included threats, violence, serial predation, or weapons. A complainant is not required to submit a formal complaint to receive supportive measures. A written guide to resources is provided to all reporting parties.

Reports to Authorized and Responsible Employees

There may be instances when a student or employee reports alleged prohibited conduct to an employee of Swarthmore College. Whether that disclosure constitutes actual notice to the College, triggering its response obligations under this policy, depends on the role of the employee to whom the disclosure is made, as follows:

➤ Authorized Employees

A disclosure or report of prohibited conduct made to an authorized employee (regardless of whether the disclosure is made by the complainant or a third party) constitutes a report to the College (i.e., actual knowledge), triggering a response under this policy. All authorized employees are required to promptly report disclosures of prohibited conduct to the Title IX coordinator, including all information that has been disclosed to the authorized employee, such as the names of those involved, the location of the incident, and/or the alleged prohibited conduct. The following individuals are authorized employees:

- Title IX coordinator
- Provost

- President
- Vice President for Human Resources
- Vice President for Student Affairs

➤ Responsible Employees

With the exception of employees who are recognized as having confidentiality, all faculty and staff of the College are designated as responsible employees. Student-employees who serve as resident assistants, student academic mentors, and SwatTeam members are also designated as responsible employees because of the unique functions of their student employment roles. All responsible employees are required to share with the Title IX coordinator a report of prohibited conduct of which they become aware. These employees must promptly share all details of the reports they receive.

Note: All students and employees, even if not authorized or responsible employees, are encouraged to report instances of possible prohibited conduct to the Title IX coordinator.

The College will generally not investigate information and statements provided in classroom writing assignments or discussions, research projects, or community public-awareness events related to issues of sexual misconduct, unless the reporting party clearly indicates that they wish a report to be made. During such situations and if appropriate, the Title IX coordinator or designee will provide the person making the statement with campus and community resources.

Those employees with reporting obligations do not need to report when incidents of sexual misconduct are communicated during a classroom discussion, in a writing assignment for a class, or as part of a research project.

Making a Report vs. Filing a Formal Complaint

A report is defined as notification about an incident of prohibited conduct to the Title IX coordinator by any responsible employee or reporting person. A report may be accompanied by a request for resources, no further action, adaptable remedies, and/or initiation of a formal complaint process. Filing a formal complaint is the request to initiate the College's disciplinary process.

At the time a report is made, a reporting person does not have to decide whether to file a formal complaint. The College recognizes that not every individual will be prepared to file a complaint with the College or law enforcement, and individuals are not expected or required to pursue a specific course of action. Choosing to make a report and deciding how to proceed after making the report can be a process that unfolds over time. To the extent possible, the College will respect an individual's autonomy in making these important decisions and provide support that will assist each person in making that determination. A report may become a formal complaint, either initiated by the reporting party or the Title IX coordinator.

To file a complaint, please contact the Title IX office at 504 Fieldhouse Lane, 610-690-3720, or the Title IX Coordinator, Bindu K. Jayne hjayne1@swarthmore.edu.

Emergency Removal

If at any point following the receipt of a report of prohibited conduct, the College determines that the responding party poses an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of the reporting party or any other person(s), including the responding party, the College may immediately and temporarily remove the responding party from any or all of College programs or activities. Emergency removal does not suggest a finding of responsibility for any prohibited conduct.

Before imposing an emergency removal of a student, the emergency-removal team will undertake an individualized safety and risk analysis concerning the responding party at the request of the Title IX coordinator. The emergency removal team is composed of the Student Conduct Administrator and the Director of Public Safety. An emergency removal will be imposed only if the emergency-removal team concludes that the threat to physical health or safety arises from the allegations of prohibited conduct and warrants the removal.

An emergency removal may involve the denial of access to some or all campus facilities, academic program, or other programs or activities. While the College may provide alternative academic or employment opportunities during an emergency removal, it is not required to do so. Non-punitive actions taken as supportive measures (e.g., changes in housing) do not constitute emergency removals.

The Title IX coordinator will notify the responding party of the terms imposed in connection with an emergency removal. The responding party has the opportunity to challenge the emergency removal upon receipt of that notice. To challenge the emergency removal, the responding party shall submit an appeal via email to the dean of students for students and Vice President for Human Resources for employees, within three (3) calendar days of the date of the notice of emergency removal, explaining why emergency removal is not appropriate. In evaluating the appeal, the Dean of Students or Vice President for Human Resources, may seek additional information from the responding party or any other individual. The emergency removal will remain in place while the appeal is pending. The Dean of Students or Vice President for Human Resources shall issue a decision as soon as possible under the circumstances. The decision is final and not subject to further appeal.

Separate from the emergency-removal process, the Title IX coordinator may request that an employee-respondent be placed on administrative leave, with or without pay.

Reporting to Law Enforcement

In addition to seeking a College response, the College also encourages reporting parties to pursue criminal action for incidents of prohibited conduct that may also be crimes under Pennsylvania criminal statutes or the applicable criminal statute of the jurisdiction. The College will assist a reporting party, at their request, in contacting local law enforcement and will cooperate with law-enforcement agencies if a reporting party decides to pursue the criminal process to the extent permitted by law. Except where the reporting party is younger than 18 years old, the College will generally respect a reporting party's choice to report an incident to local law enforcement, unless the College determines that there is an overriding issue with respect to the safety or welfare of the College community. Where a report involves suspected abuse of a minor younger than 18, the College is required by state law to notify the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare Division of Child Welfare Services and in some circumstance, must also notify law enforcement.

The College's policy, definitions, and burden of proof may differ from Pennsylvania criminal law. A reporting party may seek resolution through the College's complaint process, may pursue criminal action, may choose one but not the other, or may choose both. Neither law enforcement's determination to prosecute a responding party nor the outcome of any criminal prosecution is determinative of whether prohibited conduct has occurred under this policy. Proceedings under the policy may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with, or following civil or criminal proceedings and such timing will be determined by the Title IX coordinator in consultation with campus partners.

Third-Party Reporting

Any individual may make a report concerning an act of prohibited conduct. An individual who is not a responsible employee may report the incident without disclosing or identifying parties involved. Depending on the level of information available about the incident or the individuals involved, the College may be limited in its ability to respond.

The College has created an online Title IX reporting form, which can be found on the Title IX office website. All reports of prohibited conduct will go to the Title IX coordinator for review and appropriate response and action. The Title IX coordinator or designee will respond to all reports submitted. The College will ensure that third-party reports are reviewed and considered for compliance with the Clery Act.

Reporting Considerations

Timeliness of Report, Location of Incident

Reporting parties and third-party witnesses are encouraged to report prohibited conduct as soon as possible to maximize the College's ability to respond promptly and effectively. The College does not, however, limit the time frame for reporting. If the responding party is no longer a student or employee, the College may not be able to take disciplinary action against the responding party, but it will still seek to meet its Title IX obligation by taking steps to end the behavior, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects. An incident does not have to occur on campus to be reported to the College. Off-campus conduct is covered under this policy.

Amnesty for Personal Use of Alcohol or Other Drugs

The College seeks to remove any barriers to reporting. The College will generally offer any student, reporting party, third party, and/or witness who reports prohibited conduct limited immunity from being charged for violations related to the College's Alcohol or Other Drugs Policy, provided that any such violations did not and do not place the health and safety of any person at risk. The College may choose, however, to recommend educational and/or therapeutic remedies.

Statement Against Retaliation

As stated above, retaliation is a violation of College policy. The College recognizes that retaliation can take many forms, may be committed by or against an individual or a group, and that all parties to a complaint, including the complainant and respondent, as well as third parties such as witnesses, may be the subject of retaliation by another individual. All such forms of retaliation are prohibited, and should a complainant, respondent, or third-party suspect retaliation, they are encouraged to report the behavior to the Title IX Coordinator. An individual reporting prohibited conduct is entitled to protection from any form of retaliation following a report made in good faith, even if the report is not later substantiated.

False Reporting

Allegations of sexual misconduct may have severe consequences and therefore the College takes very seriously the validity of reported information. An individual who makes a report that is later found to have been intentionally false or made maliciously without regard for the truth may be subject to disciplinary action. This provision does not apply to reports made in good faith, even if the facts alleged in the report are not substantiated by an investigation. Similarly, a party or witness who is later proven to have intentionally given false information during the course of an investigation or resolution may be subject to disciplinary action.

Reports Involving Minors

Any Swarthmore College employee who has reasonable cause to suspect abuse of a child (an individual under the age of 18) that the employee has come into contact with during the course of employment must make a report to the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare Division of Child Welfare Services. This requirement applies to an employee's suspicion of past or present abuse of a person who is a child at the time of the reported incident. This is a mandatory reporting obligation. All other members of the Swarthmore College community (students, visitors, guests, etc.) are strongly encouraged to report whenever child abuse is suspected.

In the interest of protecting the safety and welfare of a child, any uncertainty about whether reporting is required or whether abuse has actually occurred should always be resolved in favor of making a report. Do not investigate, attempt to obtain proof, or try to solicit information from the child. This responsibility lies with the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services. If the child is in immediate danger, please call 911 immediately.

Follow these steps to make an immediate and direct report of suspected child abuse to the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services and to the College:

1. Report to ChildLine

- Immediately: Call Pennsylvania's ChildLine at 800-932-0313.
- Within 48 Hours: Submit an online report to the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services at <https://www.compass.state.pa.us/cwis/public/home>

AND,

2. Report to Public Safety

- After contacting Pennsylvania's ChildLine, notify Swarthmore College Director of Public Safety Michael Hill (610-328-8281, mhill1@swarthmore.edu) and complete the Public Safety Online Incident Report form at cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?SwarthmoreCollege&layout_id=1.

- Internal reports will be handled with discretion and in cooperation with the state's Department of Public Welfare or local authorities.

Reporting to External Agencies

Inquiries or complaints about the College's response to a discrimination complaint or its application of Title IX may be directed to one of the following external agencies:

- U.S. Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights, 215-656-8541, OCR.Philadelphia@ed.gov
- U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 800-669-4000
- PA Human Relations Commission, 215-560-2496

Time Frames for Resolution

The College seeks to resolve all complaints of prohibited conduct in a thorough, impartial, and unbiased manner. The duration of the investigation is strongly influenced by the availability and/or responsiveness of the involved parties, the complexity of the circumstances of the complaint, and the College's academic calendar. Best efforts will be made to complete the process in a timely manner by balancing thoroughness and impartiality with promptness.

At the request of law enforcement, the College may agree to defer its fact-gathering until after the initial stages of a criminal investigation. The College will nevertheless communicate with the reporting party regarding Title IX rights, procedural options, and the implementation of supportive measures to ensure safety and well-being. The College will promptly resume its fact-gathering as soon as law enforcement has completed its initial investigation.

Resolution Procedures

The College has jurisdiction over prohibited conduct and may take disciplinary action against a responding party who is a current student or employee. Disciplinary action against a responding party may only be taken through one of the College's resolution procedures. Because the relationship of students, staff, and faculty to the College differs, the procedures that apply when seeking disciplinary action necessarily differ as well. Each of the procedures, however, is guided by the same principles of impartiality and respect for all parties, requiring notice, an equitable opportunity to be heard, and an equitable opportunity to respond to a report under this policy. The College will ensure a prompt, unbiased, and impartial process from the initial assessment to the final outcome.

All staff involved with the resolution processes, including investigators, deputies, case managers, and adjudicators, receive inclusive annual training on issues related to dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, sexual harassment, and stalking, as well as how to conduct an investigation and adjudication process that protects the safety of victims and promotes accountability.

The procedure followed will be determined by the relationship of the respondent to the College and whether or not the alleged conduct is covered under Title IX:

- Complaints against a student will be resolved by the Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Students or the Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Against Students.
- Complaints against a staff member and/or instructional staff member, including faculty, will be resolved by the Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Faculty/Staff or the Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Against Faculty/Staff.
- Even if the offending individual is not a student or employee, the College will promptly and equitably respond to all reports of prohibited conduct in order to eliminate the misconduct, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects on any individual or the community.

Procedures for Resolution of Complaints

Note: These policies and procedures are implemented on an interim basis through the 2021-2022 academic year. Swarthmore College reserves the right to modify these policies and procedures in accordance with business necessity and applicable legal and regulatory guidance and requirements. The most up-to-date version of these policies is available online at swarthmore.edu/title-ix.

Scope

The Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy applies to all members of the College community, including students, employees, volunteers, independent contractors, visitors, or any individuals regularly or temporarily employed, studying, living, visiting, conducting business or having any official capacity at the College. The College has jurisdiction over complaints of allegations involving Title IX-covered conduct or College-defined sexual misconduct and may take disciplinary action against a respondent who is a current student or employee. The policy's full scope is described in the Title IX and College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Policy (the "Policy"). For a full description of policy intent, privacy/confidentiality issues, definitions of prohibited conduct, and related definitions (i.e., consent), supportive measures, reporting options, the roles of the Title IX coordinator and Title IX deputies, and retaliation, please see the Policy.

The following procedures are published and made available on the Swarthmore College Title IX Office website: swarthmore.edu/title-ix

Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Students

Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints Against Students

Procedures for Resolution of Title IX Complaints Against Staff and Instructional Staff, Including Faculty

Procedures for Resolution of College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Complaints Against Staff and Instructional Staff, Including Faculty

Any reference to a College administrator throughout these procedures refers to the named College administrator or their designee.

There are four separate documents that address the procedures that apply for allegations involving each of the following: Title IX complaints against a student, College-defined sexual misconduct complaints against a student, Title IX complaints against faculty and staff, and College-defined sexual misconduct against faculty and staff. Below is a summary of these procedures, highlighting support for student and employee victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking (DVSAS) as it pertains to both student respondents and employee respondents. Please refer to the policy for a full description of each procedure.

Procedures for Resolution of Complaints Against Students

Student victims reporting prohibited conduct, including domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking, are encouraged to follow the reporting procedures included in full in this report under the section "How to Report." Procedures for reporting are the same for student victims of prohibited conduct, whether Title IX-covered conduct or College-defined sexual misconduct. To reiterate, the College encourages all individuals to immediately seek assistance from law enforcement, public safety, a medical provider, and/or a violence prevention advocate. All Swarthmore community members, even those who are not obligated by this Policy, are strongly encouraged to report information regarding any incident of prohibited conduct to the Title IX coordinator. To the best of its ability, the College will respond to every report it receives. Anonymous or third-party reports may limit the response the College can provide.

Reports are received by the Title IX office through a variety of sources. Typical sources of reports include faculty and staff members designated as "responsible employees," resident assistants, friends of the reporting party, or the reporting party directly. Individuals who wish to make a report of prohibited conduct are encouraged to make a report directly to the Title IX coordinator. Although a report may come in through a variety of sources, the College is committed to ensuring that all reports of prohibited conduct are referred to the Title IX coordinator, which ensures consistent application of the Policy to all individuals and allows the College to respond promptly and equitably to eliminate harassment, prevent its recurrence, and reduce its effects.

Upon receipt of a report, the Title IX coordinator or designee will provide resources and support information by contacting the potential complainant (hereafter referred to as the “reporting party”) and offering an initial meeting between the reporting party and the Title IX coordinator or designee (often a deputy Title IX coordinator). The initial meeting is optional and the reporting party may decline. The purpose of the initial meeting is for the Title IX coordinator to gain a basic understanding of the nature and circumstances of the report and assess the need for any supportive measures; it is not a full investigative interview. At this meeting, the reporting party will be provided with information about resources, supportive measures, and resolution options. This information will also be provided in writing for the reporting party.

During the initial meeting, the reporting party is able to bring a support person and is free to share as much or as little information about the underlying incident as they would prefer. The Title IX coordinator or designee(s) will discuss and provide the reporting party with a written explanation of their rights and options, whether the incident occurred on or off campus, including (as applicable):

- The right to report or decline to report the incident to law enforcement if the conduct is potentially criminal in nature. The College is available to assist in this process.
- The right to obtain a Protection from Abuse (PFA) Order from local authorities or request contact restrictions from the College.
- The right and importance of seeking medical treatment to address physical health and to preserve evidence.
- The right to file a complaint through the applicable College resolution procedure.
- The right to request supportive measures, including options for changes in living, academic, transportation, working situations.
- Provide the reporting party with information about on- and off-campus resources, including support options and counseling.
- Explain the College’s policies for confidentiality and prohibiting retaliation, as described in the policy.
- Explain the difference between confidential and non-confidential resources.
- Obtain the reporting party’s expressed preference for the manner of resolution and assess any barriers to proceeding.
- Provide the reporting party with an explanation of the limitations on the College’s response should the reporting party choose to remain anonymous.
- Provide information about a case manager and information about an adviser of their choice.
- The right to receive an explanation of the formal complaint resolution process and the preponderance of the evidence standard of proof used to resolve the complaint (“more likely than not”).
- The right to be provided a prompt, unbiased, and impartial investigation and resolution.
- The right to receive an explanation of adaptable remedies and informal resolutions.

The “Campus Sexual Assault Victims’ Bill of Rights” exists as a part of the campus security reporting requirements, commonly known as the Clery Act. These rights are published on the Swarthmore College Title IX Office website.

Institutional Disciplinary Action in Cases of Student Respondents

After a report assessment, the formal complaint process can be initiated by the College. Please note that once a formal complaint process is initiated the terms “complainant” and “respondent” are used to refer to the “reporting party” and “responding party,” respectively.

At any point following the receipt of a formal complaint and before an adjudication, the parties may request consideration of an informal resolution to the complaint. An informal resolution presents the opportunity for the complainant and respondent to reach a resolution without an investigation or hearing. Participation in an informal resolution in lieu of the formal complaint process is purely voluntary.

Informal resolutions are available only when a formal complaint has been filed and the parties agree to its use in writing. Informal resolutions may be used only with the approval of the Title IX coordinator, who may deem its use inappropriate based on the specific allegations involved or other factors. Informal resolutions are available to parties in both Title IX-covered cases and College-defined sexual misconduct cases. Informal resolutions are not available to resolve a student-complainant’s allegation that an employee has engaged in prohibited conduct.

Prior to initiating an informal resolution, the Title IX coordinator will provide the parties with written notice disclosing the allegations, the requirements of the process, the right to withdraw from the informal resolution to pursue the formal complaint process (or resume the formal complaint process), and any consequences of participation (e.g., as it relates to any subsequent formal resolution if informal resolution is not achieved). The outcome of the informal resolution will be documented in an agreement or other form that is signed by both the parties.

Informal resolutions may take many forms as agreed to between the parties and the Title IX coordinator, including, but not limited to, mediation, restorative justice conferences or circles, facilitated dialogue, voluntary non-participation in certain College programs or activities, or any other voluntarily-agreed to forms of resolution.

Notice of Allegations

In both Title IX-covered and College-defined sexual misconduct cases, the Title IX coordinator will send a notice of allegations to both the complainant and the respondent, providing the parties with written notification of the receipt of a formal complaint. Providing the notice of allegations and initiating an investigation does not necessarily mean that a student conduct adjudication is inevitable or that a complainant must pursue the student conduct process.

The notice of allegations will provide the parties with the following information:

- Copies of the Policy and relevant procedures, including information about the informal resolution option.

- Sufficient detail of the allegations presented in the formal complaint.
- Statement that an investigation is being initiated and the identity of the investigator.
- Statement that the respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that a determination of responsibility is made at the conclusion of the student conduct process.
- Statement that knowingly providing false statements during the formal complaint process may subject the parties to discipline per applicable College policies.
- Inform the parties that they may have an adviser of their choice.
- Identify the case managers that have been assigned to each party.
- Inform the parties that if the investigation reveals additional allegations that may constitute violations of the Policy, the parties will receive a revised notice of allegations.

The College will designate a trained investigator(s) to investigate these reports. All investigators will receive annual training with an emphasis on investigating these complex and sensitive cases.

Case Managers and Witness Coordinator

The complainant and respondent will each be assigned a separate College-appointed, trained case manager who can help a complainant/respondent navigate through the Policy and relevant procedures. Each party's respective case manager will be identified in the notice of allegations. The complainant/respondent case manager will receive access to case materials and may accompany the student to any meeting related to these procedures, including interviews with the investigator. Each party may request that their respective case manager not attend any meeting related to these procedures.

Witnesses will be assigned a witness coordinator who will offer them assistance in understanding their role as a witness within the Policy. At the discretion of the witness, the witness coordinator may accompany the student to any meeting related to these procedures, including interviews with the investigator. A witness may decline the services of the witness coordinator at any time.

The case manager/witness coordinator may communicate with the complainant/respondent/witness during proceedings in a non-disruptive manner and may ask for short breaks if the complainant/respondent/witness requires some time for composure or to collect thoughts. The case manager/witness coordinator may not delay, disrupt, or otherwise take action to interfere with the integrity of the meeting except as permitted within these procedures. The case manager/witness coordinator may be required to leave the meeting, if disruptive.

If the complainant/respondent/witness has any questions or concerns about the assignment of their case manager/witness coordinator, they may contact the Title IX coordinator for assistance.

Adviser of Choice

The complainant and respondent have the option to be assisted by an adviser of their choice. The adviser may be any person: friend, mental health professional, certified victim's advocate, attorney, an individual at the College, etc. The adviser cannot be an identified witness or have any conflicting role in the formal complaint process or with a party in the proceedings. The College's duty is to the complainant/respondent, not the adviser.

At the discretion of the complainant or respondent, their respective adviser may accompany the complainant or respondent to any meeting related to these procedures, including interviews with the investigator.

Other than during the cross-examination process in a Title IX case for student respondents, the adviser is expected to be a silent and non-participating observer, except to ask for a short break if the complainant/respondent requires some time for composure or to collect thoughts. The adviser may communicate with the complainant/respondent during proceedings in a non-disruptive manner. The adviser may be required to leave the meeting, if disruptive. The adviser may not delay, disrupt, or otherwise take action to interfere with the integrity of the process.

To serve as an adviser, the individual may be required to meet with the Title IX coordinator, student conduct administrator, the College's legal counsel, or designee in advance of any participation in the formal complaint process.

If the adviser is an attorney or other retained person, the adviser must be retained at the initiative and expense of the complainant/respondent. If the adviser is an attorney, the College's legal counsel may also attend any meeting. An attorney's participation in any meeting will be governed by these restrictions and parameters.

Investigation

The investigator will conduct a thorough, impartial, and unbiased investigation. All individuals will be treated with compassion and respect and in a manner considerate of individual privacy concerns. An investigation may include multiple meetings with the investigator. An investigation will typically include interviews of the complainant, respondent, witnesses provided by either party with relevant information about the reported incident or discovered during the investigation, and any other individuals who may have relevant information about the reported incident and/or the parties involved. Interviews will typically take no longer than two hours on one day. Should additional time be needed, the investigator and affected party will mutually agree on either rescheduling for another day or extending the length of the interview past two hours. During the investigation process, all those interviewed will have an opportunity to review their own interview summaries for accuracy.

During any interviews with the complainant, respondent, or witnesses, if any deviation from College policy or procedure is suspected, the respective case manager or witness coordinator will have the ability to call for a short break in the proceedings to convene with the investigator to ensure that the proceedings comply with College policy and procedure.

Any deviation from College policy or procedure or concerns with the investigation may be communicated directly to the Title IX coordinator by the complainant, respondent, witness, respective case manager, or witness coordinator.

If, during the course of the investigation, the investigator identifies conduct that may constitute an additional violation under the Policy that was not referenced in the provided notice of allegations, an amended notice of allegations will be issued to the parties.

The investigator may request any available physical or medical evidence and/or documentation from the parties. The investigator may only use medical or psychological records obtained by a party when such records are accompanied by that party's voluntary, written consent. The investigator will seek to obtain relevant communications between the parties, including electronic records, voicemail messages, and/or letters.

The complainant and respondent will have an equal opportunity to participate in the investigation with their case managers, and/or advisers of their choice, provide statements, submit additional information, and/or identify witnesses who may have relevant information. All information and/or materials the parties wish to include in the investigative report or have considered at the adjudication, must be provided to the investigator during the investigation. It is not the burden of the complainant, respondent, witnesses, or other community members to investigate these matters. The investigator is solely responsible for all aspects of the investigation.

The duration of the investigation is strongly influenced by the availability and/or responsiveness of all involved parties, the complexity of the circumstances of the complaint, and the College's academic calendar.

Applicability

The investigation will confirm whether the alleged conduct implicates possible Title IX-covered behavior, College-defined sexual misconduct, or neither. At the conclusion of the investigation, the investigator will provide the investigative material gathered during the investigation to the Title IX coordinator (or designee). The investigative material will include all information gathered during the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in the formal complaint. The Title IX coordinator (or designee) will provide access to the investigative material to the parties and their advisers and outline the available resolution options, including informal resolution or a student conduct adjudication.

Adjudication

If a student conduct adjudication is the selected resolution option for either Title IX-covered or College-defined sexual misconduct cases, the student conduct administrator will issue a notice of adjudication to both parties and their respective advisers indicating that a formal charge(s) has been issued by the College. This notice will provide a statement of the policy violation(s) that are alleged to have taken place, a brief description of the facts underlying the allegations, the name of the selected adjudicator and the date scheduled for the adjudication meeting.

The parties, and their advisers, will also receive access to the final investigative report and will both have ten (10) days to review the final investigative report. The final investigative report will include the interview summaries, written statements, and any other documentary information. The final investigative report will not make a finding of responsibility or credibility, though it may include facts bearing on credibility. Any written responses by the complainant or respondent to the final investigative report must be provided to the student conduct administrator and the Title IX coordinator for their consideration. The student conduct administrator and Title IX coordinator will have two (2) days to review the responses and determine if any additional investigation is required. The final investigative report and any responses provided by the parties, together, will be known as the case packet. The parties and the adjudicator will receive the case packet a minimum of four (4) days prior to the date of the adjudication. All information and/or materials the parties wish to include in the investigative report or have considered at the adjudication, must be provided to the investigator during the investigation.

The parties will also be provided the name of the selected adjudicator in the notice of adjudication. The parties may submit a written request to the student conduct administrator to contest the adjudicator. Such written requests must present reasonable, articulable grounds to suspect bias, conflict of interest, or an inability to be impartial on the part of the adjudicator. This challenge must be raised within four (4) business days of receipt of the notice of adjudication. All objections must be raised prior to the commencement of the adjudication. The student conduct administrator will make the determination within two (2) business days whether to seek an alternative adjudicator.

After reviewing the case packet, the external adjudicator will have an opportunity to meet with the investigator, complainant, and respondent. The adjudicator may also request to meet with identified witnesses, as described below. The meetings are not designed to reinvestigate the facts collected in the investigative report, but instead to assist the adjudicator in making a determination based on the evidence collected during the investigation. These meetings allow the adjudicator to ask questions they may have, to allow the complainant and respondent to make any statements they deem appropriate, and evaluate the credibility of the parties and witnesses. The adjudication meetings may be held in person or virtually using audio and audiovisual technology.

Should they choose to participate in the adjudication meeting, the complainant and respondent will meet separately with the adjudicator. A complainant or respondent may request to participate remotely in their own adjudication meeting. Any proposed alternative method of participation must be reviewed in advance by the student conduct administrator to ensure that it is consistent with the goals of an impartial and equitable process.

During all other meetings, the complainant and respondent will have the opportunity to listen remotely to the adjudication meetings of the other party, the investigator, and any witnesses. The student conduct administrator will work with each party's case manager to arrange the space and technological needs.

If a party misses the adjudication meeting for any non-emergency or non-compelling reason, the adjudication may proceed in the individual's absence at the discretion of the student conduct administrator. If a respondent chooses to withdraw from the College prior to the conclusion of an investigation or student conduct adjudication under the Policy, for non-medical or non-disability-related reasons, the student must go through the re-admission process coordinated by the division of student affairs and the case must typically be adjudicated prior to the student's re-admission to the College.

Adjudication meetings are closed and not open to the public. The adjudicator will meet with the complainant and respondent individually along with their respective adviser and/or case manager. The adjudicator may also choose to meet with witnesses individually with their witness coordinator. The student conduct administrator will attend all meetings, and the College's attorney may also be present.

Duration

Adjudication meetings will typically conclude within one (1) day. Throughout an adjudication meeting, either party may request short breaks. The case managers, witness coordinator, and/or adviser of choice may request a short break on behalf of the individuals involved, which must be directed to either the adjudicator and/or the student conduct administrator. Additionally, the student conduct administrator will call for short breaks at regular intervals throughout the student conduct process.

Parties and other individuals who offer information at adjudication meetings are expected to respond honestly and to the best of their knowledge. A complainant, respondent, or witness who intentionally provides false or misleading information may be subject to discipline under the student code of conduct.

At times, the adjudicator may need to ask difficult or sensitive questions in order to understand areas of factual dispute or gain a full understanding of the context.

Cross-Examination in Title IX Adjudication Meetings

At the adjudication meeting, each party's adviser will be permitted to ask the other party and any witnesses relevant questions and follow-up questions. Cross-examination properly conducted constitutes a procedure by which each party and witness answers questions posed from a party's unique perspective in an effort to advance the asking party's own interests. This cross-examination will be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by the party's adviser and never by the party personally. If a party or witness does not submit to cross-examination at the adjudication meeting, the adjudicator must not rely on any statement of that party or witness in reaching a determination of responsibility. However, the adjudicator cannot draw an inference about the determination of responsibility based solely from the party's or witness's absence from the adjudication meeting or refusal to answer cross-examination questions.

Limitations of Cross-Examination in Title IX Adjudication Meetings

Before a party or witness answers a question from an adviser, the adjudicator will first determine whether the question is relevant. If the adjudicator determines a question is not relevant, the adjudicator will explain their decision to exclude the question.

Questions and evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant other than in two limited situations:

- Such questions or evidence are permitted to provide that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant; or
- Such questions or evidence are permitted if they concern specific incidents of the complainant's prior sexual behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent.

A party or witness's medical or psychological records may be the basis of cross-examination questions only if the party/witness has provided voluntary, written consent to include such records in the formal Title IX complaint process.

Title IX Adjudication Meeting Agenda

- The student conduct administrator will begin the meeting and explain the process and introduce meeting attendees. Prior to beginning the adjudication, the student conduct administrator will offer to meet with all parties to answer any procedural questions.
- Generally, the investigator will provide a summary of the investigation. The adjudicator, and the complainant or respondent, through their advisers, may ask the investigator relevant questions at the conclusion of the investigator's summary.
- The complainant may meet with the adjudicator. The adjudicator may pose relevant questions to the complainant; the respondent, through their adviser, may engage in cross-examination of the complainant.
- The respondent may meet with the adjudicator. The adjudicator may pose relevant questions to the respondent; the complainant, through their adviser, may engage in cross-examination of the respondent.
- The adjudicator may meet with relevant witnesses. The adjudicator may pose relevant questions to the witness(es); the parties, through their advisers, may engage in cross-examination of the witness(es).
- The adjudicator may call back any participant for additional questions or clarifications.
- At the conclusion of the adjudication meeting, the complainant and respondent may address final remarks to the adjudicator if they choose to do so. The parties may submit a written impact statement to the student conduct administrator that will only be considered at the sanctioning phase should the respondent be found responsible for violating the Policy.

College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Adjudication Meeting Agenda

- The student conduct administrator will begin the meeting and explain the process and introduce meeting attendees. Prior to beginning the adjudication, the student conduct administrator will meet with all parties to answer any procedural questions.
- Generally, the investigator will provide a summary of the investigation. The adjudicator, and the complainant or respondent, through the adjudicator, may make brief inquiries of the investigator at the conclusion of the summary.
- The complainant may meet with the adjudicator. The adjudicator and the respondent, through the adjudicator, may pose questions to the complainant.
- The respondent may meet with the adjudicator. The adjudicator and the complainant, through the adjudicator, may pose questions to the respondent.
- The adjudicator may meet with relevant witnesses. The adjudicator will question the called witness and provide the complainant or respondent an opportunity to pose questions through the adjudicator.
- The adjudicator may call back any participant for additional questions or clarifications.
- At the conclusion of the adjudication meeting, the complainant and respondent may submit a written impact statement to the student conduct administrator that will only be considered at the sanctioning phase should the respondent be found responsible for violating the Policy.

Deliberation

After the adjudicator has met with all relevant parties, the adjudicator will conclude the adjudication and move to deliberation. The student conduct administrator will support deliberations by offering clarifications of the Policy or providing any other appropriate information requested by the adjudicator. The adjudicator will make a decision, using a preponderance of the evidence standard, to determine if there were any violations of the Policy.

The adjudicator will provide the student conduct administrator a written summary of the findings, which will be included in the outcome letter. The summary will detail the findings of facts and determination of responsibility.

The adjudicator will determine a respondent's responsibility by a preponderance of the evidence. This means that the adjudicator will decide whether it is "more likely than not," based upon the information provided in the case packet and through the adjudication meeting, that the respondent is responsible for the alleged violation(s). A not responsible finding means that the evidence presented did not meet the standard necessary to determine responsibility.

Sanctions

If the adjudicator finds a student, group, or organization responsible for a violation of the Policy, the adjudicator and the student conduct administrator (together, the sanctioning body) will determine the appropriate sanction(s). Sanctions can only be made against a respondent after a finding of responsibility is reached. The sanctioning body may issue a single sanction or a combination of sanctions.

In considering the appropriate sanction within the recommended outcomes, the sanctioning body will consider the following factors together with any impact statements provided from the complainant and/or respondent:

- The respondent's prior discipline history.
- How the College has sanctioned similar incidents in the past.
- The nature and violence of the conduct at issue.
- The impact of the conduct on the complainant, and their desired sanctions, if known.
- The impact of the conduct on the community, its members, or its property.
- Whether the respondent has accepted responsibility.
- Whether the respondent is reasonably likely to engage in the conduct in the future.
- Any other mitigating or aggravating circumstances, including the College's values.
- The respondent's optional good faith participation in adaptable remedies/informal resolutions during the report, complaint, and investigation portions of the resolution process.

The sanctioning body may consider remedial actions and/or additional steps that may be taken to address and resolve any incident of discrimination or harassment and to prevent the recurrence of any discrimination and/or retaliation, including strategies to protect participants from retaliation; provide counseling for the parties; other steps to address any impact on the community; and any other necessary steps reasonably calculated to prevent future occurrences of harassment.

If a sanction includes suspension, the respondent is subject to the readmission process as described in the student handbook. Prior to re-admission, the complainant will be notified by the student conduct administrator or their designee.

The College reserves the right to impose other reasonable sanctions or to combine sanctions as it deems appropriate. Sanctions include:

- Warning — A written notification that a violation of the Policy occurred and that any further responsible finding of misconduct may result in more severe disciplinary action. Warnings are typically recorded for internal purposes only and are not considered part of a student’s permanent student conduct record. Though disclosed with a student’s signed consent, a student who receives a warning is still considered in good standing at the College.
- Probation — A written notification that indicates a serious and active response to a violation of the Policy. Probation is for a designated period of time and includes the probability of more severe sanctions, if found responsible for additional violations of the student code of conduct or the Policy, including suspension or expulsion from the College. Notification of probation is considered a change in status and will normally be sent to parents or guardians. As a result of a change in status, a student who is placed on probation is not considered to be in good standing at the College during their period of probation.
- Suspension — The separation of a student from the College for a specified period of time, after which the student is eligible to return. Conditions for re-enrollment may be required and will be included in the notification of suspension. Suspended students are required to comply with the College’s re-admission process prior to being eligible for re-enrollment. During the period of suspension, the student may not participate in College academic or extracurricular activities; may be barred from all property owned or operated by the College; and depending on the severity of the charge, the student might not be allowed to progress toward completion of their Swarthmore degree by taking courses at other institutions while suspended. Students who are suspended may not be on campus without specific, written permission of the dean of students or designee. Suspension is for a designated period of time and includes the probability of more severe sanctions, including expulsion, if found responsible for additional violations of the student code of conduct or the Policy. Notification of suspension will normally be sent to guardians or parents, as it results in a change of status. As a result of a change in status, a student who is suspended is not considered to be in good standing at the College during their period of suspension.
- Expulsion — Expulsion is the permanent separation of the student from the College. Students who have been expelled may not be on campus without specific, written permission from the dean of students or designee. Notification of expulsion will normally be sent to guardians or parents, as it results in a change of status. Expulsion may be particularly appropriate if the College has determined that the respondent has engaged in the same or similar conduct and/or has been found in violation of the Policy in the past.
- Loss of Privileges — Denial of the use of certain College facilities or the right to participate in certain activities, events, programs or to exercise certain privileges for a designated period of time. This includes contact restrictions, denial of ability to represent the College in an official capacity, and/or organizational sanctions.

- Restitution — A student may be required to make payment to an individual or to the College related to the misconduct for damage, destruction, defacement, theft, or unauthorized use of property.
- Fines — Swarthmore reserves the right to impose fines, as appropriate, in addition to requiring payment for costs resulting from or associated with the offenses.
- Relocation or Removal from (College-Operated) Housing — Relocation is the reassignment of a student from one living space to another. Removal from housing is the removal of a student from all College-operated housing. Relocation and removal from housing are typically accompanied by the loss of privileges regarding the visitation to specific residential areas for a specified period of time.
- Educational Requirements/Referrals — The College reserves the right to impose counseling or substance assessments or other required educational sanctions.

Notice of Outcome

The student conduct administrator will communicate the outcome of the adjudication to the respondent and the complainant at the same time. The notice will be in writing and will include notification of appeal options. Generally, the outcome of the adjudication will be communicated to the parties within five (5) business days from the date of the conclusion of the adjudication meeting.

- If the respondent has been found responsible for a violation under the Policy, the respondent will be informed of any sanctions, the date by which the requirements must be satisfied (if applicable), and the consequences of failure to satisfy the requirements. The complainant will be informed of any sanctions that directly relate to the complainant.
- The imposition of sanctions will take effect immediately and will not be stayed pending the resolution of the appeal.

Appeals

Either party may appeal the determination of responsibility or sanction(s) in writing to the vice president for student affairs or designee. The appeal must be filed within five (5) business days of receiving the written notice of outcome. Dissatisfaction with the outcome of the adjudication is not grounds for appeal. The limited grounds for appeal are as follows:

- New evidence that would affect the finding of the adjudication and that was unavailable at the time of investigation.
- Procedural error(s) that had a material impact on the outcome.
- The sanctions imposed were grossly disproportionate to the violation committed.

The appeal shall consist of a plain, concise, and complete written statement outlining the grounds for the appeal. Upon receipt of an appeal, the vice president for student affairs will notify both parties. Each party has an opportunity to respond in writing to the appeal. Any response to the appeal must be submitted within two (2) business days from receipt of the appeal.

The appeal consideration will be conducted in an impartial manner by the vice president for student affairs (or designee). In any request for an appeal, the burden of proof lies with the party requesting the appeal, as the original determination and sanction are presumed to have been decided reasonably and appropriately. The appeal is not a new review of the underlying matter. The vice president for student affairs shall consider the merits of an appeal only on the basis of the three (3) grounds for appeal and supporting information provided in the written request for appeal and the record of the original adjudication. The vice president for student affairs can affirm the original findings, alter the findings, and/or alter the sanctions, depending on the basis of the requested appeal.

In the case of new and relevant information, the vice president for student affairs can recommend that the case be returned to the original adjudicator to assess the weight and effect of the new information and render a determination after considering the new facts.

If the appeal is granted based on procedural error(s) that materially affected the outcome of the adjudication, the vice president for student affairs may return the case to the adjudicator for additional review or forward the case for a new adjudication, which may be heard by an alternate adjudicator if the vice president for student affairs finds that to be appropriate.

Absent extenuating circumstances, the vice president for student affairs will simultaneously and in writing communicate the result of the appeal to the complainant and respondent within three (3) business days from the date of the submission of all appeal documents by both parties. Appeal decisions are final.

Procedures for Resolution of Complaints against Faculty and Staff

As outlined in the Reporting section of the Policy, any individual who wishes to make a report of prohibited conduct is encouraged to make a report directly to the Title IX coordinator. In every report of prohibited conduct, the Title IX coordinator, through the coordinated efforts of the Title IX team, will conduct an initial report assessment. At the conclusion of the report assessment, if appropriate, the report will be referred for either adaptable remedy or investigation. Adaptable remedy does not involve disciplinary action against a responding party. An investigation gathers the facts of the case and this information is used to determine whether a violation of the Policy is more likely than not to have occurred based on a preponderance of the evidence standard. A determination of a policy violation will result in College action leading to disciplinary measures up to and including dismissal.

Supportive measures will be offered and may be used to ensure the integrity of any stage of the process and to protect the safety of all parties and the College community. College employees can also seek confidential assistance, which does not constitute notice to the College, through Carebridge, the College's Employee Assistance Program. Carebridge is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week by calling 800-437-0911. For other supportive and confidential resources, please check the Policy.

Upon receipt of a report under the Policy, the Title IX coordinator, through the coordinated efforts of the Title IX team, will conduct a timely initial assessment. The Title IX team is flexible in composition based on the relationship of the parties to the College (student, staff, faculty), and the Title IX coordinator is responsible for assembling the Title IX team. All members of the Title IX team are trained in policy and procedure. When a member of the faculty is involved, the Title IX team will include the provost or designee. Depending on the relationship of the parties to the College (student, staff, faculty, or other) and the nature of the circumstances of the report, the Title IX coordinator will consult with others as appropriate, such as the director of equal opportunity (a deputy Title IX coordinator) when assessing a report that also involves an implication of harassment based upon other protected classes or has other employment implications. In all cases, the team will be limited in number and information will only be shared on a “need to know” basis.

The report assessment is designed to carry out the goals of Title VII (as it applies to discrimination based on sex), Title IX, the relevant portions of the Clery and the Violence Against Women Acts, and College policy. The first step of the assessment will usually be a preliminary meeting between the reporting party and the Title IX coordinator or another member of the Title IX team. The purpose of the preliminary meeting is to gain a basic understanding of the nature and circumstances of the report; it is not intended to be a full fact-gathering interview. At this meeting, the reporting party will be provided with information about resources, procedural options, and supportive measures. During this initial review, based on the information available at that time, the Title IX team member(s) will make an assessment of the safety of the individual and of the campus community.

The Title IX team will also consider the interest of the reporting party and their expressed preference for the manner of resolution. Where possible and as warranted by an assessment of the facts and circumstances, the College will seek to proceed in a manner consistent with the reporting party’s request.

As part of the initial assessment of the facts, the Title IX coordinator, in collaboration with the Title IX team, will:

- Assess the nature and circumstances of the allegation.
- Address immediate physical safety and emotional well-being of the reporting party.
- Provide the reporting party with a written explanation of their rights and options, including:
 - The right to report, or decline to report, the incident to law enforcement if the conduct is potentially criminal in nature. The College has personnel who are available to assist in this process.
 - The right to obtain a “no-contact directive” from the College.
 - The right to and importance of seeking medical treatment to address physical health and to preserve evidence.
 - The right to file a complaint through the applicable internal complaint resolution process, to receive an explanation of the process and of the obligation to provide a prompt, fair, and impartial investigation and resolution, and to receive an explanation of the potential remedies for victims, potential remedies for the College community, and possible sanctions against responding parties.
 - Notify the reporting party of the range of interim measures and remedies, including options for changes in living, academic, transportation, and working situations.
 - Provide the reporting party with information about on- and off-campus resources, including support options.
 - Obtain the reporting party’s expressed preference for the manner of resolution and assess any barriers to proceeding.
 - Share that each party is entitled to have an adviser of their own choosing, as desired.

- Determine if concerns exist for discrimination or harassment based on other protected classes.
- Explain the College's policies for confidentiality and prohibiting retaliation, as described in the Policy.
- Assess the reported conduct for the need for a timely warning under federal law.
- Determine whether pattern evidence or other similar conduct by responding party exists.
- Enter non-identifying information about the report into the College's daily crime log if the report includes a Clery-reportable crime.

In cases involving a faculty member, the Title IX coordinator will consult with the provost, who will determine if any issues of academic freedom are involved. In cases where academic freedom is at issue, the provost (or designee) will confer with the Committee on Faculty Procedures to determine how academic freedom should factor into a Title IX assessment, as described in the Special Provisions for Faculty section of the full procedures.

The Title IX team will take all reasonable steps to respond to a complaint consistent with a reporting party's requested outcome, but its ability to do so may be limited based on the nature of their request. Where a reporting party requests that a name or other identifiable information not be shared with the responding party or that no formal action be taken, the College will balance this request with its responsibility to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all College community members and to afford a responding party a balanced and impartial process.

In the event that a reporting party does not wish to proceed with formal action, the Title IX coordinator, in consultation with the Title IX team as necessary, will decide, based on the available information, whether additional steps are appropriate. In making this decision, the Title IX team will consider, among other factors, whether the reporting party has requested confidentiality; whether the reporting party wants to participate in additional steps; the severity and impact of the sexual misconduct; the respective ages of the parties, including whether the reporting party is a minor under the age of 18; whether the responding party has admitted to the prohibited conduct; whether the responding party has a pattern of committing such conduct; the existence of independent evidence; the extent of prior remedial methods taken with the responding party; and any legal obligation to proceed based on the nature of the conduct.

At the conclusion of the report assessment, the Title IX coordinator, in collaboration with the Title IX team, will determine whether or not to refer the report for adaptable remedy or for investigation to determine whether to pursue disciplinary action. This determination will be communicated to the reporting party in writing. The Title IX coordinator or a member of the Title IX team will discuss the determination with the reporting party and provide information to assist in understanding available resources and procedural options.

The responding party will be notified in writing when the College seeks action that would impact a responding party, such as protective measures that restrict the responding party's movement on campus, the initiation of an investigation or the decision to involve the responding party in an adaptable remedy.

The College will inform the reporting party and the responding party that retaliation is prohibited by law and College policy and that the College will take strong responsive action to protect the safety of any individual. Retaliation will not be tolerated and will result in disciplinary action.

Institutional Disciplinary Action in Cases of Employee Respondents

After a report assessment, the formal complaint process for either Title IX-covered or College-defined sexual misconduct can be initiated by the College. Please note that once a formal complaint process is initiated the terms “complainant” and “respondent” are used to refer to the “reporting party” and “responding party,” respectively.

Where the report assessment concludes that an investigation is appropriate, the College will initiate such an investigation. The College may designate an investigator of its choosing, provided that the investigator has specific training and experience investigating allegations of prohibited conduct. Any investigator chosen to conduct or assist with the investigation must be impartial and free of any conflict of interest. The complainant and respondent will receive a written notice of investigation, including a statement of the allegation, when the investigation is initiated.

The investigator(s) will conduct the investigation in a manner appropriate in light of the circumstances of the case. The first step of an investigation will usually be an interview of the complainant by the designated investigator(s). The investigator(s) will coordinate the gathering of information from the complainant, the respondent, and any other individuals who may have information relevant to the determination. As part of the investigation, the College will provide an opportunity for the parties to present statements, witnesses, and other evidence. The investigator(s) will also gather any available physical or medical evidence, including documents, communications between the parties, and other electronic records as appropriate. The complainant and respondent will have an equal opportunity to be heard, to present relevant information to the investigator(s), and to identify witnesses who may have relevant information.

The investigation is designed to provide a fair and reliable gathering of the facts. The investigation will be thorough, impartial, and fair, and all individuals will be treated with sensitivity and respect. As described in the Policy, the investigation will be conducted in a manner that is respectful of individual privacy concerns. For complaints against a faculty member that involve conduct in their instructional role, or educational content within a College program, issues of academic freedom will be fully considered and explored.

Duration

The investigation will usually be completed within 30 (thirty) business days of the notice of investigation, but this time frame may be extended for good cause depending on the complexity of the circumstances of each case. The duration of the investigation is strongly influenced by the availability and/or responsiveness of all involved parties, the complexity of the circumstances of the complaint, and the College’s academic calendar.

Applicability

The investigation will confirm whether the alleged conduct implicates possible Title IX-covered behavior, College-defined sexual misconduct, or neither.

Investigation

During the investigation, the complainant and respondent will be given the opportunity to review their own statement and interview summaries for accuracy. At the conclusion of the investigation, the investigator will provide the investigative material gathered during the investigation to the Title IX coordinator (or designee). The investigative material will include all information gathered during the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in the formal complaint. The Title IX coordinator (or designee) will provide access to the investigative material to the parties and their advisers and outline the available resolution options.

Written responses to the investigative materials may include clarifications to the party's own interview statements or requests for additional investigation. The written responses will be provided to the investigator for their consideration prior to their submission of the Final Investigative Report. The investigator will have three (3) days to review the responses and determine if additional investigation is necessary. If additional investigation is necessary, the Title IX coordinator will provide notice to the parties.

After assessing the written responses and making any necessary clarifications, the investigator will provide the final investigative report to the Title IX coordinator.

Adjudication and Disciplinary Action in Title IX Cases for Faculty

The adjudication process for prohibited conduct complaints is an administrative process and is not subject to the same standards as a court of law. Rules of evidence ordinarily found in legal proceedings will not apply.

If an adjudication is the selected resolution option, the Title IX coordinator will issue a Notice of Adjudication to both parties and their respective advisers. This Notice will provide a statement of the policy violation(s) that are alleged to have taken place, a brief description of the facts underlying the allegations, the name of the selected adjudicator(s), and the date scheduled for the adjudication meeting.

Advisers in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

The complainant and respondent have the option to be assisted by an adviser of their choice. The adviser may be any person: friend, mental health professional, certified victim's advocate, attorney, an individual at the College, etc. The College's duty is to the complainant/respondent, not the adviser.

Provided the selected adviser agrees to serve in this capacity, the individual may be required to meet with the Title IX coordinator, the College's legal counsel, or designee(s) in advance of any participation in the formal complaint process.

If the adviser is an attorney or other retained person, the adviser must be retained at the initiative and expense of the complainant/respondent. If the adviser is an attorney, the College's legal counsel may also attend any meeting. An attorney's participation in any meeting will be governed by these restrictions and parameters.

If a party has not identified an adviser of choice by the time that the Notice of Adjudication is provided to the parties, the College will provide an adviser to the party/parties for the purpose of cross-examination during the adjudication.

At the discretion of the complainant or respondent, their respective adviser may accompany the complainant or respondent to any meeting related to these procedures, including interviews with the investigator. The cross-examination of the parties and witnesses during the adjudication is conducted by the advisers. Other than during the cross-examination process, the adviser is expected to be a silent and non-participating observer, except to ask for a short break if the complainant/respondent requires some time for composure or to collect thoughts. The adviser may communicate with the complainant/respondent during proceedings in a non-disruptive manner. The adviser may be required to leave the meeting, if disruptive. The adviser may not delay, disrupt, or otherwise take action to interfere with the integrity of the process.

Title IX Investigations for Faculty

The parties, and their advisers, will also receive access to the final investigative report and they will both have ten (10) days to review the final investigative report. The final investigative report will include the interview summaries, written statements, and any other documentary information. The final investigative report will not make a finding of responsibility or credibility, though it may include facts bearing on credibility. Any written responses by the complainant or respondent to the final investigative report must be provided to the Title IX coordinator for their consideration. The Title IX coordinator will have two (2) days to review the responses and determine if any additional investigation is required. The final investigative report and any responses provided by the parties, together, will be known as the case packet. The parties and the adjudicator(s) will receive the case packet a minimum of ten (10) days prior to the date of the adjudication. All information and/or materials the parties wish to include in the investigative report or have considered at the adjudication, must be provided to the investigator during the investigation.

Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

The deputy Title IX coordinator for faculty facilitates the faculty adjudication process. A three-member faculty panel appointed from a standing body trained in sexual misconduct issues, policy, and procedure serves as the adjudicator. The Title IX Coordinator may also appoint a process expert to advise the panel on the issues involved and also make relevance determinations during the cross-examination portion of the adjudication meeting. The process expert will be tasked with supporting the faculty panel in their role as the adjudicators, but will not be a decision-maker of the responsibility determination.

After reviewing the case packet, the hearing panel and process expert will have an opportunity to meet with the investigator, complainant, respondent, and identified witnesses. The meetings are not designed to reinvestigate the facts collected in the investigative report, but instead to assist the hearing panel in making a determination based on the evidence collected during the investigation. These meetings allow the hearing panel to ask questions they may have, to allow the complainant and respondent to make any statements they deem appropriate, and evaluate the credibility of the parties and witnesses. The adjudication meetings may be held in person or virtually using audio and audiovisual technology. The College will create an audio recording of the adjudication meeting and make it available to the parties for their reasonable inspection and review.

Cross-Examination in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

At the adjudication meeting, each party's adviser will be permitted to ask the other party and any witnesses relevant questions and follow-up questions. Cross-examination properly conducted constitutes a procedure by which each party and witness answers questions posed from a party's unique perspective in an effort to advance the asking party's own interests.

This cross-examination will be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by the party's adviser and never by the party personally. If a party or witness does not submit to cross-examination at the adjudication meeting, the adjudicator must not rely on any statement of that party or witness in reaching a determination of responsibility. However, the hearing panel cannot draw an inference about the determination of responsibility based solely from the party's or witness's absence from the adjudication meeting or refusal to answer cross-examination questions.

Limitations of Cross-Examination in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

- Before a party or witness answers a question from an adviser, the process expert will first determine whether the question is relevant. If the process expert determines a question is not relevant, the process expert will explain their decision to exclude the question.
- Questions and evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant other than in two limited situations:
 - Such questions or evidence are permitted to provide that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant; or
 - Such questions or evidence are permitted if they concern specific incidents of the complainant's prior sexual behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent.

A party or witness's medical or psychological records may be the basis of cross-examination questions only if the party/witness has provided voluntary, written consent to include such records in the formal Title IX complaint process.

Determination in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

The hearing panel, in consultation with the process expert, will determine, by a preponderance of the evidence whether the Policy has been violated. The preponderance of the evidence standard means that it is "more likely than not" that the respondent violated this policy. The hearing panel will provide the Title IX coordinator and the provost (or designee) a written summary of the findings, which will be included in the outcome letter. The summary will detail the findings of facts and determination of responsibility.

Sanctions in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

If there is a finding of a policy violation, the provost (or designee) will act as the disciplinary authority. In all cases, the disciplinary authority will consult with the vice president of human resources or designee, the Title IX coordinator or designee, the director of equal opportunity, and/or other relevant administrator, as appropriate when determining the appropriate sanction. The disciplinary authority will impose a sanction designed to eliminate the harassment or hostile environment, prevent its recurrence, and remedy its effects, while supporting the College's educational mission and Title IX obligations and ensuring fundamental fairness. Sanctions or interventions may also serve to promote safety or deter individuals from similar future behavior.

When deciding upon the sanction, the disciplinary authority may request that the parties and other affected individuals, as appropriate, voluntarily provide a written impact statement for consideration. The disciplinary authority may impose any sanction deemed appropriate after a consideration of all of the relevant information. In considering the appropriate sanction, the disciplinary authority will consider the following factors: (1) the respondent's prior discipline history; (2) how the College has sanctioned similar incidents in the past; (3) the nature and violence of the conduct at issue; (4) the impact of the conduct on the complainant; (5) the impact of the conduct on the community, its members, or College property; (6) whether the respondent is reasonably likely to engage in the conduct in the future; (7) the need to deter similar conduct by others; (8) the College's values and community standards; and (9) any other mitigating or aggravating circumstances. Absent compelling justifications, if the respondent engages in a pattern of the same or similar conduct, the recommended sanction will be termination.

The sanction may include any form of responsive action or progressive discipline, including training, referral to counseling, any of the remedies described in these procedures as adaptable remedies, and/or disciplinary action such as warning, reprimand, withholding of a promotion or pay increase, reassignment, temporary suspension or termination.

Notice of Outcome in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

The disciplinary authority will give the parties a written Notice of Outcome at the same time, which will include a rationale of whether the respondent violated the College policy. The disciplinary authority will give the parties the Notice of Outcome within twenty (20) days of the beginning of the adjudication.

If a policy violation was found, the Notice of Outcome will also provide the respondent written notice of any sanctions and any other interventions, the date by which the requirements must be satisfied (if applicable), and the consequences of failure to satisfy the requirements. At the same time, the complainant will be notified in writing of any sanctions and any other interventions that directly relate to the complainant, including information about the respondent's presence on campus (or in a shared working environment) that may help a complainant make informed decisions.

The imposition of sanctions will take effect immediately and any disciplinary action against a respondent will be promptly initiated by the disciplinary authority.

Reconsideration in Title IX Adjudications for Faculty

Either party may request reconsideration of the determination of responsibility or sanction(s) in writing to the Title IX coordinator. The request must be filed within five (5) business days of receiving the Notice of Outcome.

The Title IX Coordinator will share the request for reconsideration with the Committee on Faculty Procedures (COFP). The complainant and/or respondent may only request reconsideration of the parts of the determination or sanctions directly relating to them. Dissatisfaction with the determination is not grounds for reconsideration. The limited grounds for reconsideration are as follows:

- new evidence that would affect the determination and that was unavailable at the time of investigation;
- procedural error(s) that had a material impact on the outcome; and
- the sanctions imposed were grossly disproportionate to the violation committed.

The request for reconsideration shall consist of a plain, concise, and complete written statement outlining the ground(s) for the reconsideration. Upon receipt of a request for reconsideration, the Title IX coordinator will notify both parties. Each party has an opportunity to respond in writing to the request for reconsideration. Any response to the request must be submitted within five (5) days from receipt of the request for reconsideration.

In any request for reconsideration, the burden of proof lies with the party requesting the reconsideration, as the original determination and sanction are presumed to have been decided reasonably and appropriately. The reconsideration is not a new review of the underlying matter. The president's staff member shall consider the merits of reconsideration only on the basis of the three (3) limited grounds for reconsideration.

Depending on the complexity of the circumstances or the need for additional expertise, the Title IX Coordinator may also provide the COFP with the process expert to advise on the issues involved. The COFP can require supplemental investigation of relevant new information, affirm or alter the original determination of responsibility, affirm or alter the sanction(s), or require re-adjudication of the allegation.

The COFP will communicate the result of the reconsideration to the complainant and respondent within fifteen (15) days from the last date of the submission of all reconsideration documents by the parties. Reconsideration decisions are final and are not subject to further review.

Adjudication and Disciplinary Action in Title IX Cases for Staff

The deputy Title IX coordinator for staff facilitates the staff adjudication process. An external adjudicator will be retained to act as the adjudicator during the adjudication meeting. After reviewing the case packet, the external adjudicator will have an opportunity to meet with the investigator, complainant, and respondent. The adjudicator may also request to meet with identified witnesses. The meetings are not designed to reinvestigate the facts collected in the investigative report, but instead to assist the adjudicator in making a determination based on the evidence collected during the investigation. These meetings allow the adjudicator to ask questions they may have, to allow the complainant and respondent to make any statements they deem appropriate, and evaluate the credibility of the parties and witnesses. The adjudication meetings may be held in person or virtually using audio and audiovisual technology. The College will create an audio recording of the adjudication meeting and make it available to the parties for their reasonable inspection and review.

Cross-Examination in Title IX Adjudications for Staff

At the adjudication meeting, each party's adviser will be permitted to ask the other party and any witnesses relevant questions and follow-up questions. Cross-examination properly conducted constitutes a procedure by which each party and witness answers questions posed from a party's unique perspective in an effort to advance the asking party's own interests. This cross-examination will be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by the party's adviser and never by the party personally. If a party or witness does not submit to cross-examination at the adjudication meeting, the adjudicator must not rely on any statement of that party or witness in reaching a determination of responsibility. However, the adjudicator cannot draw an inference about the determination of responsibility based solely from the party's or witness's absence from the adjudication meeting or refusal to answer cross-examination questions.

Limitations of Cross-Examination in Title IX Adjudications for Staff

- Before a party or witness answers a question from an adviser, the adjudicator will first determine whether the question is relevant. If the adjudicator determines a question is not relevant, the adjudicator will explain their decision to exclude the question.
- Questions and evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant other than in two limited situations:
 - Such questions or evidence are permitted to provide that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant; or
 - Such questions or evidence are permitted if they concern specific incidents of the complainant's prior sexual behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent.

A party or witness's medical or psychological records may be the basis of cross-examination questions only if the party/witness has provided voluntary, written consent to include such records in the formal Title IX complaint process.

Determination in Title IX Adjudications for Staff

The adjudicator shall determine, by a preponderance of the evidence whether the Policy has been violated. The preponderance of the evidence standard means that it is "more likely than not" that the respondent violated this policy. The adjudicator will provide the Title IX coordinator and the respondent's supervisor a written summary of the findings, which will be included in the outcome letter. The summary will detail the findings of facts and determination of responsibility.

Sanctions in Title IX Adjudications for Staff

If there is a finding of a policy violation, the respondent's supervisor will act as the disciplinary authority. In all cases, the disciplinary authority will consult with the vice president of human resources or designee, the Title IX coordinator or designee, the director of equal opportunity, and/or other relevant administrator, as appropriate when determining the appropriate sanction.

The disciplinary authority will impose a sanction designed to eliminate the harassment or hostile environment, prevent its recurrence, and remedy its effects, while supporting the College's educational mission and Title IX obligations and ensuring fundamental fairness. Sanctions or interventions may also serve to promote safety or deter individuals from similar future behavior.

When deciding upon the sanction, the disciplinary authority may request that the parties and other affected individuals, as appropriate, voluntarily provide a written impact statement for consideration.

The disciplinary authority may impose any sanction deemed appropriate after a consideration of all of the relevant information. In considering the appropriate sanction, the disciplinary authority will consider the following factors: (1) the respondent's prior discipline history; (2) how the College has sanctioned similar incidents in the past; (3) the nature and violence of the conduct at issue; (4) the impact of the conduct on the complainant; (5) the impact of the conduct on the community, its members, or College property; (6) whether the respondent is reasonably likely to engage in the conduct in the future; (7) the need to deter similar conduct by others; (8) the College's values and community standards; and (9) any other mitigating or aggravating circumstances. Absent compelling justifications, if the respondent engages in a pattern of the same or similar conduct, the recommended sanction will be termination.

The sanction may include any form of responsive action or progressive discipline, including training, referral to counseling, any of the remedies described in these procedures as adaptable remedies, and/or disciplinary action such as warning, reprimand, withholding of a promotion or pay increase, reassignment, temporary suspension or termination.

Notice of Outcome in Title IX Adjudications for Staff

The disciplinary authority will give the parties a written Notice of Outcome at the same time, which will include a rationale of whether the respondent violated the College policy. The disciplinary authority will give the parties the Notice of Outcome within fifteen (15) days of the beginning of the adjudication.

If a policy violation was found, the Notice of Outcome will also provide the respondent written notice of any sanctions and any other interventions, the date by which the requirements must be satisfied (if applicable), and the consequences of failure to satisfy the requirements. At the same time, the complainant will be notified in writing of any sanctions and any other interventions that directly relate to the complainant, including information about the respondent's presence on campus (or in a shared working environment) that may help a complainant make informed decisions.

The imposition of sanctions will take effect immediately and any disciplinary action against a respondent will be promptly initiated by the disciplinary authority.

Reconsideration for Title IX Adjudications for Staff

Either party may request reconsideration of the determination of responsibility or sanction(s) in writing to the Title IX coordinator. The request must be filed within five (5) business days of receiving the Notice of Outcome.

Prior to the reconsideration, the parties will have the opportunity to present any grounds to suspect that the relevant president's staff member has a bias, conflict of interest, or an inability to be fair and impartial.

The Title IX Coordinator will share the request for reconsideration with the relevant president's staff member or designee.

The complainant and/or respondent may only request reconsideration of the parts of the determination or sanctions directly relating to them. Dissatisfaction with the determination is not grounds for reconsideration. The limited grounds for reconsideration are as follows:

- new evidence that would affect the determination and that was unavailable at the time of investigation;
- procedural error(s) that had a material impact on the outcome; and
- the sanctions imposed were grossly disproportionate to the violation committed.

The request for reconsideration shall consist of a plain, concise, and complete written statement outlining the ground(s) for the reconsideration. Upon receipt of a request for reconsideration, the Title IX coordinator will notify both parties.

Each party has an opportunity to respond in writing to the request for reconsideration. Any response to the request must be submitted within five (5) days from receipt of the request for reconsideration.

In any request for reconsideration, the burden of proof lies with the party requesting the reconsideration, as the original determination and sanction are presumed to have been decided reasonably and appropriately. The reconsideration is not a new review of the underlying matter. The president's staff member shall consider the merits of reconsideration only on the basis of the three (3) limited grounds for reconsideration. Depending on the complexity of the circumstances or the need for additional expertise, the Title IX Coordinator may also appoint a resource expert to advise the president's staff member on the issues involved. The president's staff member can require supplemental investigation of relevant new information, affirm or alter the original determination of responsibility, affirm or alter the sanction(s), or require re-adjudication of the allegation.

The president's staff member will communicate the result of the reconsideration to the complainant and respondent within ten (10) days from the last date of the submission of all reconsideration documents by the parties. Reconsideration decisions are final and are not subject to further review.

Adjudication and Disciplinary Action in College-Defined Sexual Misconduct (CDSM) Cases for Faculty

For faculty members, a three-member faculty panel appointed from a standing body trained in sexual misconduct policy and procedure serves as the adjudicator, and the provost or designee serves as the disciplinary authority. The deputy Title IX coordinator for faculty facilitates the faculty adjudication process.

If the provost is the respondent, the president will serve as the disciplinary authority. If the president is the respondent, the Chair of the Board of Managers (or designee) will serve as the disciplinary authority.

Advisers in CDSM Adjudications for Faculty

The complainant and respondent have the option to be assisted by an adviser of one's choice, provided the person is available and willing to serve in this role. If the adviser is an attorney or other retained person, the adviser must be retained at the initiative and expense of the party. If the adviser is an attorney, the College's attorney may also attend any meeting. An attorney's participation in the meeting or proceeding will be governed by the same restrictions that apply to advisers.

The adviser cannot be an identified witness or have any conflicting role in the process or with a party in the proceedings. The College's duty is to the complainant and respondent, not the adviser. All communication is made directly with the complainant/respondent, who can share information with their adviser, at their discretion. At the discretion of the complainant or respondent, the adviser may accompany the complainant or respondent to any meeting related to these procedures. The adviser is expected to be a silent and non-participating observer, except to ask for a short break if the complainant/respondent requires some time for composure or to collect thoughts. The adviser may communicate with the complainant/respondent during proceedings in a non-disruptive manner. The adviser may not delay, disrupt, or otherwise take action to interfere with the integrity of the meeting. The adviser may be required to leave the meeting if disruptive.

To serve as an adviser, the individual will be required to meet with the Title IX coordinator, the College's legal counsel, or designee in advance of any participation in any meeting under this procedure.

Determination in CDSM Adjudications for Faculty

The deputy Title IX coordinator for faculty will convene the three-member faculty panel as soon as practicable, and will then deliver the investigator's report along with the written responses of the parties to the panel. Once the faculty panel is convened, they, in consultation with the Title IX coordinator or designee, the vice president of human resources or designee, the director of equal opportunity, and/or other relevant administrator, as appropriate, shall determine, by a preponderance of the evidence whether the Sexual Assault and Harassment Policy has been violated. The preponderance of the evidence standard means that it is "more likely than not" that the respondent violated this policy. This determination will be based solely on the evidence presented in the investigator's report and the responses submitted by the parties.

Within ten (10) days of receiving the investigator's report and written responses of the parties, the panel shall complete and give the parties and the disciplinary authority a written determination and rationale.

Sanctions in CDSM Adjudications for Faculty

If there is a finding of policy violation, the disciplinary authority will promptly initiate disciplinary action against a respondent. In all cases, the disciplinary authority will consult with the vice president of human resources or designee, the Title IX coordinator or designee, the director of equal opportunity, and/or other relevant administrator, as appropriate when determining the appropriate sanction.

The disciplinary authority will impose a sanction designed to eliminate the harassment or hostile environment, prevent its recurrence, and remedy its effects, while supporting the College's educational mission and Title IX obligations and ensuring fundamental fairness. Sanctions or interventions may also serve to promote safety or deter individuals from similar future behavior.

When deciding upon sanctions, the disciplinary authority may request that the parties and other affected individuals, as appropriate, voluntarily provide a written impact statement for consideration.

The disciplinary authority may impose any sanction deemed appropriate after a consideration of all of the relevant information. In considering the appropriate sanction, the disciplinary authority will consider the following factors: (1) the respondent's prior discipline history;(2) how the College has sanctioned similar incidents in the past; (3) the nature and violence of the conduct at issue; (4) the impact of the conduct on the complainant; (5) the impact of the conduct on the community, its members, or College property; (6) whether the respondent is reasonably likely to engage in the conduct in the future; (7) the need to deter similar conduct by others; (8) the College's values and community standards; and (9) any other mitigating or aggravating circumstances. Absent compelling justifications, if the respondent engages in a pattern of the same or similar conduct, the recommended sanction will be termination.

The sanction may include any form of responsive action or progressive discipline, including training, referral to counseling, any of the remedies described in these procedures in Remedy-based resolution, and/or disciplinary action such as warning, reprimand, withholding of a promotion or pay increase, reassignment, temporary suspension or termination.

Notice of Outcome in CDSM Adjudications for Faculty

The disciplinary authority will give the parties a written Notice of Outcome, which will include a rationale of whether the respondent violated the College policy. The disciplinary authority will give the parties the Notice of Outcome within fifteen (15) days of the beginning of the adjudication.

If a policy violation was found, the Notice of Outcome will also provide the respondent written notice of any sanctions and any other interventions, the date by which the requirements must be satisfied (if applicable), and the consequences of failure to satisfy the requirements. At the same time, the complainant will be notified in writing of any sanctions and any other interventions that directly relate to the complainant, including information about the respondent's presence on campus (or in a shared working environment) that may help a complainant make informed decisions.

The imposition of sanctions will take effect immediately and any disciplinary action against a respondent will be promptly initiated by the disciplinary authority.

Reconsideration in CDSM Adjudications for Faculty

Either party may request reconsideration of the determination of responsibility or sanction(s) in writing to the faculty deputy Title IX coordinator. Absent extraordinary circumstances, the request must be filed within five (5) business days of receiving the written determination of responsibility or sanction(s).

The complainant and/or respondent may only request reconsideration of the parts of the determination or sanctions directly relating to them. Dissatisfaction with the determination is not grounds for reconsideration. The limited grounds for reconsideration and the process for reconsideration are as follows:

- If the request for reconsideration is based on new evidence that could affect the determination and that was unavailable at the time of investigation, then the request for reconsideration and the new evidence shall be reviewed by the faculty panel;

- If the request for reconsideration is based on a claim of procedural error(s) that had a material impact on the fairness of the determination, then the request for reconsideration shall be reviewed by elected members of the Committee on Faculty Procedures (COFP).
- If the request for reconsideration is based on a claim that the sanctions imposed were grossly disproportionate to the violation committed, then the request for reconsideration shall be reviewed by the disciplinary authority.

The request for reconsideration shall consist of a plain, concise, and complete written statement outlining the grounds for the reconsideration. Upon receipt of a request for reconsideration, the reviewer (the faculty panel, the disciplinary authority or COFP) will notify both parties. Each party has an opportunity to respond in writing to the request for reconsideration. Any response to the request must be submitted within five (5) business days from receipt of the request for reconsideration.

In any request for reconsideration, the burden of proof lies with the party requesting the reconsideration, as the original determination and sanction are presumed to have been decided reasonably and appropriately. The reconsideration is not a new review of the underlying matter. The reviewer shall consider the merits of reconsideration only on the basis of the relevant ground for reconsideration. The reviewer can affirm the original findings, alter the findings, and/or alter the sanctions, depending on the basis of the requested reconsideration. A request for reconsideration based on a claim of procedural error(s) may be made in the absence of a request for reconsideration based on new evidence, at the same time as a request for reconsideration based on new evidence, or can be submitted within five (5) business days from receipt of the result of a request for reconsideration based on new evidence.

The reviewer will communicate the result of the reconsideration to the complainant and respondent within five (5) business days from the date of the submission of all reconsideration documents by both parties. With the exception of the procedures for termination of appointment of instructional staff outlined below, reconsideration decisions are not subject to further review.

The Title IX coordinator will review and retain copies of all reports generated as a result of investigations. These records will be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law.

Adjudication and Disciplinary Action in College-Defined Sexual Misconduct Cases for Staff

Determination in CDSM Adjudications for Staff

The staff disciplinary authority, in consultation with the Title IX coordinator or designee, the vice president of human resources or designee, the director of equal opportunity, and/or other relevant administrator, as appropriate, shall determine, by a preponderance of the evidence whether the Policy has been violated. The preponderance of the evidence standard means that it is “more likely than not” that the respondent violated this policy. This determination will be based solely on the evidence presented in the investigator’s report and the responses submitted by the parties.

Within ten (10) days of receiving the investigator’s report and written responses of the parties, the adjudicator shall complete and give the parties a written determination and rationale.

Sanctions in CDSM Adjudications for Staff

If there is a finding of a policy violation, the disciplinary authority will promptly initiate disciplinary action against a respondent.

In all cases, the disciplinary authority will consult with the Vice President for Human Resources or designee, the Title IX coordinator or designee, the director of equal opportunity, and/or other relevant administrator, as appropriate when determining the appropriate sanction.

The disciplinary authority will impose a sanction designed to eliminate the harassment or hostile environment, prevent its recurrence, and remedy its effects, while supporting the College’s educational mission and Title IX obligations and ensuring fundamental fairness. Notice of Outcome in CDSM Adjudications for Staff

The disciplinary authority will give the parties a written Notice of Outcome, which will include a rationale of whether the respondent violated the College policy. The disciplinary authority will give the parties the Notice of Outcome within fifteen (15) days of the beginning of the adjudication.

If a policy violation was found, the Notice of Outcome will also provide the respondent written notice of any sanctions and any other interventions, the date by which the requirements must be satisfied (if applicable), and the consequences of failure to satisfy the requirements. At the same time, the complainant will be notified in writing of any sanctions and any other interventions that directly relate to the complainant, including information about the respondent's presence on campus (or in a shared working environment) that may help a complainant make informed decisions.

The imposition of sanctions will take effect immediately and any disciplinary action against a respondent will be promptly initiated by the disciplinary authority.

Either party may request reconsideration of the determination of responsibility or sanction(s) in writing to the relevant president's staff member or designee. Absent extraordinary circumstances, the request must be filed within five (5) business days of receiving the written determination of responsibility or sanction(s).

The complainant and/or respondent may only request reconsideration of the parts of the determination or sanctions directly relating to them. Dissatisfaction with the determination is not grounds for reconsideration. The limited grounds for reconsideration are as follows:

- new evidence that could affect the determination and that was unavailable at the time of investigation;

The president's staff member can affirm the original findings, alter the findings, and/or alter the sanctions, depending on the basis of the requested reconsideration.

The president's staff member will communicate the result of the reconsideration to the complainant and respondent within five (5) business days from the date of the submission of all reconsideration documents by both parties. Reconsideration decisions are not subject to further review.

Sex Offender Registry and Access to Related Information

The Federal Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act requires institutions of higher education to issue a statement advising the campus community where law enforcement agency information provided by a state concerning registered sex offenders may be obtained. It also requires registered sex offenders to provide notice to the state as to whether the person is a student, or works at an institution of higher education, identify each institution of higher education in that state at which the person is employed, carries on a vocation, or is a student, and must also alert the state of any change in enrollment or employment status. Here in Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania State Police make this type of information available through their website at www.pameganslaw.state.pa.us. Please note that not all sex offenders are required to be included in this listing.

Unfounded Crimes

Swarthmore College Department of Public Safety is a non-sworn agency, and does not possess authority to “unfound” any crime. While the ability to work with local law enforcement enables crimes to be categorized as unfounded, that action can only be declared by the law enforcement agency. This practice has not been utilized in the years included in these crime statistics, therefore, there are no unfounded crimes for the calendar years 2018, 2019, and 2020.

* To promote transparency of crime statistics at Swarthmore College, the table above including the statistics on the criminal offense of Larceny is included in this report.

Hate Crimes

All crimes reported meeting the definitions listed in the tables above are evaluated to determine if the criminal act was motivated by a bias; if the victim/survivor was intentionally selected because of actual or perceived bias towards race, gender, gender identity, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

Crimes listed below depict incidents that occurred and manifested evidence that the victim was intentionally selected due to the perpetrator's bias.

2018: None reported.

2019: One (1) public-property incident of intimidation characterized by Racial Bias.

2020: None reported.

Calculating Crime Rates

Individual-category crime rates may be calculated by comparing the individual category to the combined full-time-equivalent undergraduate student population and the full-time-equivalent employees; dividing this population figure into 100,000 and multiplying the resultant figure by individual-category statistics will produce the crime rate per 100,000 per category.

The combined student and employee totals are as follows:

- 2018: 3,130
- 2019: 2,476
- 2020: 1,855¹

Monitoring/Recording Criminal Activity at Off-Campus Locations of Student Organizations

Swarthmore College non-campus locations are patrolled by, and crimes are reported to, the law enforcement agency of that jurisdiction. Swarthmore College Public Safety communicates with, and requests crime reports from, these other agencies. Swarthmore College relies on its close working relationships with local law enforcement to obtain information about incidents involving Swarthmore College students and recognized student organizations on and off campus. In coordination with local law enforcement, the Swarthmore College Department of Public Safety will actively investigate certain crimes occurring on or near campus. If Public Safety learns of criminal activity involving students or student organizations, it will coordinate with the appropriate external law enforcement agency to forward information about the situation to the Dean's Office, as appropriate.

Swarthmore College requires all recognized student organizations to abide by federal, state, and local laws, and Swarthmore College regulations. Swarthmore College may respond to off-campus misconduct of recognized student organizations when such conduct is in violation of the Swarthmore College Student Handbook, swarthmore.edu/student-handbook, and based on the guidance surrounding off-campus activity

Disciplinary Policy at Swarthmore College

Disciplinary policies for students at the College are covered under the Student Code of Conduct and overseen by the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life. The College places great value on freedom of expression, but it also recognizes the responsibility to protect the values and structures of an academic community. It is important, therefore, that students assume responsibility for helping to sustain an educational and social community where the rights of all are respected. This includes conforming to standards of conduct that protect the health, safety, dignity, and the rights of all. Community members also have a responsibility to protect the possessions, property, and integrity of the institution as well as of individuals. The aim of Swarthmore College’s Student Code of Conduct is to balance these rights, responsibilities, and community values fairly.

The Student Conduct process is an administrative educational process informed by legal and compliance requirements that guide academic institutions, together with the holistic mission of the College to help students realize their full potential. Students share responsibility for upholding community standards and are expected to participate in good faith with investigation and adjudication processes meant to resolve code allegations. Decisions about whether a student or group is responsible for a conduct violation are based on a “preponderance of the evidence” standard, meaning the allegation is supported by evidence that sufficiently demonstrates it is more likely than not that a violation occurred. Without sufficient evidence, a student or group will be found not responsible.

Complete policies for students are contained in the Student Handbook, found online at swarthmore.edu/student-handbook.

Jurisdiction

Swarthmore College’s policies normally apply to the conduct of matriculated students, exchange students, and any other defined student status. These policies apply to conduct occurring on Swarthmore College property or at College-sanctioned events or programs that take place off campus or in the Borough of Swarthmore. In situations in which the College becomes aware of possible violations of student code-of-conduct expectations by members of the Swarthmore College community, College policies may apply regardless of the location of the incident.

If a student organization violates a College regulation, the organization, as well as its individual members, may be held accountable for the violation and sanctioned by the College. Students should also realize that they are responsible for ensuring that their guests do not violate College policies, rules, and regulations, and that student hosts may be subject to disciplinary action for misbehavior of their guests.

Record Retention and Reporting

In all cases of adjudication covered by this Student Code of Conduct, the Student Conduct Office will keep records of proven allegations and of the sanctions imposed, if any. These records are private and sanctions are not disclosed on transcripts or shared without consent outside the scope of College staff with a demonstrated “need to know” in order to support and carry out sanctions or help adjudicate future allegations.

To verify compliance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, all student conduct records are retained for seven (7) years after a student’s last enrollment. These records are only released to the authorities to which information must be made available under federal and/or state law or as otherwise required or permitted by law.

Most graduate schools, some employers, and some governmental agencies may require a student to consent to disclosure by the College of a student’s disciplinary findings. Additionally, students who transfer to other colleges or participate in off-campus study programs may also be required to provide such consent for disclosure. In some circumstances, Swarthmore College may disclose disciplinary records or other information related to student conduct, when a student consents to such disclosure or when permitted or required by law. Further, if a student withdraws from the College with a pending allegation of misconduct, the College will, with consent, report that information. If a student withholds consent, that withholding may be reported to the school or agency or may have implications for the level of support Swarthmore is able to provide in the application process. Generally, warnings and findings of “not responsible” are not reported.

Student Conduct Sanctions

In determining appropriate sanctions when violations of the College’s Student Code of Conduct are addressed, the Student Conduct process attempts to balance student accountability with an educational response. Sanctions are determined by taking the interests of the complainant and respondent, and the overall well-being of the College community into consideration, as well as a respondent’s present and past disciplinary record if an allegation has been proven. The College will also consider the nature and severity of the offense, injury or harm resulting from the prohibited behavior, and any other relevant factors. The following list includes potential sanctions for violations of the College’s Student Code of Conduct. The College reserves the right to impose any, all, or any combination of these sanctions depending on the nature and circumstances of the violation.

Warning – A written notification that a violation of the Student Code of Conduct occurred and that any further responsible finding of misconduct may result in more severe disciplinary action. Warnings are recorded for internal purposes only and are not considered part of a student’s permanent student-conduct record, but would be taken into consideration by the College if a student were to be found responsible for additional violations of the Student Code of Conduct. A student who receives a warning is still considered in good standing at the College.

Reprimand – A written notification that a repeated or more significant violation of the Student Code of Conduct occurred. Contrary to a Warning, a reprimand is considered part of a student’s permanent record and may be disclosed with a student’s signed consent. A student who receives a reprimand is still considered in good standing at the College. Note: Reprimand was a new sanction for the 2020–2021 academic year.

Probation – A written notification that indicates a repeated or serious and active response to a violation of the Student Code of Conduct. Probation is for a designated period of time and includes the probability of more severe sanctions if the student is found responsible for additional violations of the Student Code of Conduct, including suspension or expulsion from the College. Notification of probation is considered a change in good standing status and will normally be sent to parents or guardians. A student who is on probation is not considered in good standing during their period of probation.

Loss of privileges – Denial of the use of certain College facilities or the right to participate in certain activities, events, programs, or to exercise certain privileges for a designated period of time.

Restitution – A student may be required to make payment to an individual or to the College related to the misconduct for damage, destruction, defacement, theft, or unauthorized use of property.

Fines – Swarthmore reserves the right to impose fines, as appropriate, in addition to requiring payment for costs resulting from or associated with the offenses.

Relocation or removal from College-operated housing – Relocation is the reassignment of a student from one living space to another. Removal from housing is the removal of a student from all College-operated housing. Relocation and removal from housing are typically accompanied by the loss of privileges regarding visiting specific residential areas for a specified period of time. The College may take such action for remedial rather than disciplinary purposes.

Revocation of affiliation – Revocation of affiliation is the permanent removal of a student as a member of a specific organization and/or the permanent removal of an organization's recognized affiliation with the College.

Contact restrictions – Contact restrictions are directives to students by the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life, Vice President for Student Affairs, Dean of Students, Director of Public Safety, or their designees that restrict contact and/or communication between or among designated parties. Contact restrictions may be the result of a Student Conduct process or remedies-based resolution, and may be put in place temporarily. For emergency situations involving personal safety, the Director of Public Safety or a designee may issue a temporary contact restriction, which will be confirmed, modified, or rescinded by the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life or a designee within 72 hours of its issuance.

Contact restrictions prohibit all forms of communication between designated parties, direct or indirect, including in-person, social media, text messaging, email, U.S. mail, and third-party communication. Third-party communication includes friends, family, or acquaintances making requests on the offender's behalf. Contact restrictions are not legal protective orders, as those are issued by a court of law. Depending on the circumstances, contact restrictions may or may not be reciprocal.

Educational requirements/referrals – The College reserves the right to impose counseling or substance assessments or other required educational sanctions.

Suspension – The separation of a student from the College for a specified period of time, after which the student is eligible to return. Conditions for re-enrollment may be required and will be included in the notification of suspension. A student who is placed on suspension is not considered in good standing during their period of suspension.

During the period of suspension, the student may not participate in College academic or extracurricular activities; may be barred from all property owned or operated by the College; and, depending on the severity of the charge, might not be allowed to progress toward completion of their Swarthmore degree by taking courses at other institutions while suspended. Students who are suspended may not be on campus without specific, written permission of the Vice President for Student Affairs or a designee.

Suspension is for a designated period of time and includes the probability of more severe sanctions, including expulsion, if the student is found responsible for additional violations of the Student Code of Conduct. Notification of suspension will normally be sent to parents, as it results in a change in good standing status.

Expulsion – Expulsion is the permanent separation of the student from the College. Students who have been expelled may not be on campus without specific written permission from the Vice President for Student Affairs or a designee. Notification of expulsion will normally be sent to parents, as it results in a change in good standing status.

Good standing – A student is not in good standing when the student has been found responsible for a Student Code of Conduct violation and as a result is serving a sanction of probation, suspension, or expulsion. Residential Peer Leader roles (Green Advisors, Resident Assistants, and Student Academic Mentors) require that students must be in and remain in good standing throughout their employment as an RPL.

Interim Temporary Suspension

If the President, the Vice President for Student Affairs, or a designee decides at any point that the safety of a student or of the College is at stake, interim temporary suspension may be imposed against a student who is suspected of violating the Student Code of Conduct or any other rules, regulations, or procedures of the College or otherwise poses a risk to the safety to the campus. This suspension will be in effect until Student Conduct resolution, disciplinary action, or a hearing can be completed. This action assumes no determination of guilt, and the hearing will be held as soon as possible.

Student Conduct Procedures

Minor Misconduct Process

Allegations in which possible sanctions do not include suspension or expulsion from the College are addressed through the Minor Misconduct Process. A Minor Misconduct Process is typically conducted by the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life or a professional staff member in the Office of Student Engagement (hereinafter referred to as the Student Conduct Administrator) and includes investigation and formal resolution. Prior to a meeting with a Student Conduct Administrator, the respondent is encouraged to meet with the Case Manager and Grievance Adviser made available by and through the College to review the Student Conduct system, student rights, and potential sanctions.

The Student Conduct Administrator will send the respondent written notification of the allegations of misconduct and the aspects of the Student Code of Conduct that allegedly have been violated, and the name, telephone number, and office location of the Student Conduct Administrator. In addition, the respondent will be given the date and time of the scheduled administrative review with the Student Conduct Administrator to adjudicate the matter. During the formal resolution, the respondent will have the opportunity to review and respond to all available information regarding the allegation(s). If, during the course of the administrative review with the respondent, the Student Conduct Administrator determines the incident is more serious than originally believed, the administrative review will be stopped immediately, and the incident will be referred to the College Judiciary Committee.

After the administrative review and a review of the information available, including an opportunity for the respondent to respond, the Student Conduct Administrator will make a determination about whether the respondent violated the Student Code of Conduct and will issue sanctions as appropriate. Should the respondent fail to attend the administrative review, the Student Conduct Administrator will consider the information available and render a decision regarding the respondent's responsibility and will issue sanctions, if any. The minor misconduct process is subject to appeal.

Major Misconduct Process

Allegations in which possible sanctions could result in suspension or expulsion from the College, including all academic misconduct cases, are addressed through the Major Misconduct Process.

Administrative adjudication – A complaint under the major misconduct process will generally involve an adjudication before the College Judiciary Committee. However, complainants or respondents may request resolution through an administrative adjudication, to be conducted by the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life (hereinafter referred to as the Student Conduct Administrator). The Student Conduct Administrator will meet with the complainant and respondent to determine responsibility and render a decision as to what sanctions may be implemented. Both parties must agree to resolution by administrative adjudication. The investigative report will serve as the primary evidence in making a determination of responsibility. In cases of major misconduct, an investigative report will be compiled of any information reports, interview summaries, written statements, and any other documentary information to be considered by the student conduct administrator.

Both parties must be given notice, the opportunity to review the investigative report in advance, and the opportunity to present relevant information to the Student Conduct Administrator. The option of an administrative adjudication is also applicable for cases involving academic misconduct, but must be requested by both the respondent and reporting faculty members. (See the Academic Misconduct Policy.)

An administrative adjudication is particularly appropriate when the respondent has admitted to the misconduct and there is no discernible dispute to the relevant facts of the investigation report; however, at the discretion of the student conduct administrator, it may also be used when the facts are in dispute.

In reaching a determination as to whether the policy has been violated, the Student Conduct Administrator will reach a determination by a preponderance of the evidence — that is, whether the conduct was more likely than not to have occurred as alleged. Depending upon the nature and severity of the allegations, the Student Conduct Administrator may decline to handle the matter administratively and refer the case to the College Judiciary Committee at any time.

College Judiciary Committee

A complaint under the Major Misconduct Process will be resolved by the College Judiciary Committee (CJC).

The CJC is a review board composed of faculty, administrators, and students. The CJC pool consists of five (5) or more faculty members (selected by the Committee on Faculty Procedures), three (3) or more senior administrators (selected by the President), and five (5) or more students (selected by the Student Council appointments process). All CJC members must participate in annual training, including training about non-discrimination, the factors relevant to a determination of credibility, the appropriate manner in which to receive and evaluate sensitive information, the manner of deliberation, the application of the “preponderance of the evidence standard,” sanctioning, and the College’s policies and procedures. CJC members who are no longer on the Committee but have been trained may be called to service if not enough current members are available for a particular adjudication.

Each CJC panel convened to adjudicate a case comprises five (5) voting panelists: two (2) faculty members, one (1) administrator, and two (2) students. The panel is supported by the Student Conduct Administrator (the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life or a designee), who will be present to facilitate the process but is not a voting member of the CJC.

The Student Conduct Administrator will be available to meet with all involved parties prior to the adjudication, be present during the adjudication to serve as a resource for the CJC on policy and procedure, and to see that policies and procedures are appropriately followed throughout the adjudication meeting.

Records

The Dean of Students Office will retain records of all reports, allegations, and complaints of student misconduct regardless of whether the matter is resolved through formal or informal resolution.

Students and student organizations found responsible for violations of College policy through an administrative or panel hearing will have the outcome recorded on the student’s or group’s disciplinary record. Such records shall be used in reviewing any further conduct or in developing sanctions and shall remain a part of the student’s or group’s conduct record.

Individual student conduct records are kept on file for no less than seven (7) years from the year in which the offense occurred, except in cases resulting in suspension or expulsion, in which disciplinary records are kept indefinitely. Students have an official College transcript maintained by the Registrar and a disciplinary student-conduct record maintained by the Senior Associate Dean of Student Life. Generally, all formal disciplinary violations (excluding Warnings and Alcohol and Other Drugs Amnesty) addressed through the student-conduct process are noted on a student’s disciplinary record. Disciplinary violations are externally reported for no less than seven (7) years from the year in which the offense occurred, except in cases resulting in suspension or expulsion, in which disciplinary records are kept and reported indefinitely. A student’s disciplinary records are not released externally without a student’s written permission or, absent that, under narrowly defined circumstances.

At the beginning of the academic year, a summary report is published of dispositions reviewing the outcome of all cases heard the previous academic year, without revealing the identity of any of the participants in the proceedings.

Annual Fire-Safety Report

This report is published annually in accordance with Section 488(g) of the Higher Education Opportunity Act, otherwise known as Campus Fire Safety Right-to-Know. It is made available on the College's Public Safety website by Oct. 1 of each year and includes statistics on fires in the college's on-campus housing facilities, a description of the college's fire-safety systems, and other related information.

All employees and currently registered students are notified by email of the report's availability, with a link to where the report is posted. This report is also available in paper form upon request. Prospective students and employees are informed of the report's availability as well.

General Statement of College-Owned Student Housing Fire-Safety Systems

Except as noted below, all on-campus residence halls at Swarthmore College are protected throughout by automatic sprinklers and fire-alarm systems that are continuously monitored by the College's Department of Public Safety. Fire-detection devices include smoke detectors throughout the residence halls, including in individual student rooms. Heat detectors are also provided in many student rooms as one integrated unit with the room's smoke detector. Future improvements in fire/life-safety equipment, if determined necessary by the College, will be implemented with all due diligence and speed. As College-owned buildings are renovated, plans exist to upgrade existing fire-alarm systems (that alert via audible siren/bell and visual strobe) to add vocal alarms that can be used for instructions and evacuations.

Emergency power is provided to the majority of the residence halls by generators that are designed to activate automatically whenever there is a power loss. These generators provide power to operate life-safety systems including all fire-safety equipment, sprinkler systems, hallway lighting, emergency-exit doors, and lighting in all emergency-exit stairwells. The individual fire-alarm system panels have standby batteries to power alarm-detection and evacuation signals in case of power failure in accordance with applicable codes and standards.

Kyle Hall and Woolman Hall, which house a total of 30 students, are not supplemented by emergency generators; emergency lighting and exit signs are powered by battery packs.

Fire-Event Log

The Department of Public Safety maintains a log of all fire events that occur in on-campus student housing. The log lists the date, time, location, and nature of fires. The fire log is integrated with the daily crime log, combining all incident information into one format.

Training

All Resident Assistants receive comprehensive fire-safety training at the beginning of the academic year, which includes lectures and demonstrations on the behavior of fires, automatic sprinklers, building evacuation, and proper use of fire-safety equipment. The Dean's Office as well as academic, facilities, and residential staff work with students with special needs to develop personalized emergency plans, procedures and audio/visual assistance as needed. During Fire Prevention Week, there are regular tabling and demonstrations by the local fire department about fire behavior and the value of sprinklers. Hands-on fire-extinguisher training is provided for students under the direction of the Swarthmore Fire Department.

Every student room has an emergency evacuation map posted inside the door. Fire drills are conducted in every residence hall each semester (twice per year), with the exception of the Strath Haven Condominiums, whose building is not owned by the College. Public Safety also provides guidance and information about evacuations and emergency procedures during new-employee and new-student orientation sessions.

Specific Fire Prevention-Related Policies

Swarthmore College provides faculty, staff, students, and visitors with the safest possible environment, free from potential fire hazards. The primary goal of the College's fire-prevention program is to recognize hazardous conditions and take appropriate action before a fire emergency arises.

If a fire occurs in a campus building, community members should immediately notify Public Safety at 610-328-8333. Public Safety officers are the first responders for all fire alarms and can summon the fire department quickly if a fire exists. If a community member finds evidence of a fire that has been extinguished, it is essential to immediately notify Public Safety so the incident can be investigated and documented.

When a fire alarm is activated, the elevators in most buildings will stop automatically. Occupants should use the stairs to evacuate the building. If caught in the elevator, occupants can push the emergency phone button. The emergency phones in all elevators on campus ring to the Public Safety Communication Center.

Fire Reporting, Drills, and Evacuation Response

All building fire alarms are monitored by the Public Safety Communications Center 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If there is a problem with the central monitoring system, the fire alarm panels will still work locally for each building. In the event of a fire, students, staff, and faculty are urged to activate the building fire alarm by pulling the handle on the red fire pull station and to call the Department of Public Safety emergency telephone line (ext. 8333) immediately and evacuate the building. Individuals in a building when the alarm goes off should get outside by the shortest possible route and wait for permission to re-enter. If a community member finds evidence of a fire that has been extinguished, it is still essential to immediately notify the Department of Public Safety to investigate the incident.

Fire drills are held twice a year (once a semester) in each residence hall, except as noted. The drills are conducted by Public Safety officers in conjunction with the Resident Assistants in each residence hall and the Residential Communities Coordinator. The Resident Assistants assist Public Safety in the evacuation process, both during fire drills and in actual alarms, guiding students to predetermined gathering places to aid in accounting for evacuees. Students should take the opportunity of a fire drill to learn the quickest and safest ways out of their residence halls. The exception is Strath Haven Condominiums, where no drills are held as the individual condominiums are treated as separate housing units.

Fire Prevention and Related Fire-Safety Policy Statements

- Tampering or interfering with, as well as destruction or misuse of, fire/life-safety and fire-prevention equipment is prohibited, and is a violation of state law. An automatic fine of $500 for each piece of equipment, plus the cost of replacement, will be charged to any student violating this policy, and further disciplinary action may be taken.
- Any student who causes an alarm to be set off for improper purposes is liable for the expenses incurred by the fire department(s) in responding to the alarm. If no individuals accept responsibility when a violation of this policy occurs in a residence hall, all residents of that hall are subject to fines and charges for costs incurred by the College and/or fire department(s).
- Open flames are not permitted in residence halls. Any student found with an open flame (e.g., candle, incense) will be subject to a $500 fine. Students are financially responsible for damage resulting from reckless conduct or violation of College rules regulating residence-hall safety.
- Fire drills are held on a regular basis with directions for fire drill and evacuation procedures posted in every building. Hallways and stairways may not be used for storage of any kind and must be kept clear of bicycles, trunks, furniture, and debris. Items impinging on free movement in public spaces (including halls and stairways) will be removed (including cutting locks if necessary) and their owners may be charged for the removal.
- At no time shall any community member be permitted to cover, hang items from, or otherwise disturb/impede sprinklers, smoke detectors, or any other fire/life-safety equipment. Damage or misuse of fire/life-safety equipment will result in replacement costs plus a minimum $500 fine being assessed to the responsible party. Continued violations of this policy will result in the loss of College housing privileges.

Prohibited Items and Activities

The following list outlines items and activities prohibited for fire/life-safety considerations as enacted by Swarthmore College. Of note, any student found with an open flame (e.g., candle, incense) will be subject to a $500 fine.

- Cooking appliances (including coffee makers, hot plates, toaster ovens, or any items with a heating element)
- Space heaters
- Candles, incense, and other items with open flames
- Halogen lamps
- Overloading electrical sockets
- Possessing/lighting fireworks/explosives
- Playing with fire
- Disposing of smoking materials negligently
- Electrical items using excessive wattage
- Gas-powered vehicles inside College buildings

Smoking is prohibited in all indoor spaces throughout the College, including meeting rooms, lounges, offices, and residence halls. A $25 fine in addition to other potential penalties, including exclusion from campus housing, will be charged for violating this policy. Altering smoke detectors creates danger for all building occupants and will be met with disciplinary action. Smoking is allowed outdoors at a minimum distance of 25 feet from all buildings.

Note: Cooking facilities in residence halls are designed only for occasional snack use and not for regular meal preparation. Students are not permitted to cook in dormitory rooms or have microwaves. Students may have small refrigerators that meet all College specifications (Energy Star rated; no larger than 24 x 18 x 18 inches). Wastebaskets must be constructed of metal. Extreme care must be taken with irons, clothes steamers, curling irons, and other electric personal-care devices. Extension cords must be Underwriters Lab approved, and outlet strips must have a built-in circuit breaker. Student-built lofts are prohibited. Infants, children, and guests may not reside in College housing without prior permission.
